RECEIVER ASKS FOR U. S. QUIZ OF MIDDLE WEST

Wants Cloud Cleared from His Title.

A complete investigation of the receivership of the Middle West Utilities company, biggest unit in the former Insull utility system, was requested yesterday of the federal District court by Charles A. McCulloch, the receiver. The request was contained in a petition filed before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, before whom the original receivership action was begun in April, 1932.

CHARLES A. McCULLOCH.

Mr. McCulloch declared that he wanted the receivership cleared of any suspicions growing out of the recent decision of Federal Judge Evan A. Evans, which upheld charges of collusion in the case of another Insull receivership and by implication in the case of Middle West. Judge Evans' decision was made as a result of charges brought by Attorney Samuel A. Ettelson, former corporation counsel.

Reorganization Is Planned.

The filing of the McCulloch petition brought to light the fact that negotiations are now under way for a reorganization of Middle West, whose properties at one time had an estimated value of 2½ billion dollars. Robert F. Golding, counsel for the noteholders' committee, issued a statement in connection with the action urging that no change be made in the present receivership. Attorney Golding declared that a change at this time would retard reorganization plans now in progress.

Mr. McCulloch, in his petition, asserted that the decision of Judge Evans had thrown a cloud over the Middle West receivership and that he desired that the name of the late Edward N. Hurley, who was co-receiver, and his own reputation be cleared by the court.

Ready to Give Up Job.

"Neither Mr. Hurley nor I sought the jobs as receivers and accepted them only after the earnest solicitation of the interested parties," Mr. McCulloch declared. "The remuneration involved meant nothing to either of us and I am prepared to give up the job on a minute's notice unless the receivership is removed from all suspicion."

"If there is a cloud on the petitioner's title as receiver he desires it removed," the bill recited. "The petitioner's duties as receiver are arduous; they have occupied his time to the practical exclusion of all other business since the day of his appointment. The petition submits that the language of the opinion handed down by Judge Evans might be construed by the public as a reflection on the petitioner."

Ettelson to File Objection.

Judge Lindley entered an order, following the filing of the petition, directing all interested parties to file any objections to the receivership within 15 days. Attorney Ettelson indicated last night that he would appear in court this morning to present his objections.

The petition quoted the decision of Judge Evans upholding charges of collusion in the naming of receivers for Insull Utility Investments, Inc.

"It is quite impossible to separate the application for the appointment of a receiver in the Insull Utility Investments from like applications in the Middle West and Corporation Securities companies," Judge Evans said. "Three companies were organized and promoted by the so-called Insull interests. They all revolved about the activities of one Samuel Insull Sr. One company, the Middle West, was a holding company and the other two investment trusts."

Difference in Applications.

The McCulloch petition sets forth that there were fundamental differences between the receivership application of Middle West and those of the other companies. It asserts that it is a customary practice for the management of embarrassed corporations to confer with the large bank creditors to determine available candidates for receivers as was done in the case of Middle West.

GOVERNOR AND MAYOR DECIDE ON COMMISSION

Shut 625 Saloons

City Collector Kaindl reports that 5,840 retail liquor dealers have applied for 1934 licenses while Police Comissioner Allman announces he has closed 625 unlicensed bars and will continue a drive to shut 2,051 outlaw saloons in the city. Page 4.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—A closer agreement between Mayor Kelly of Chicago and Gov. Horner on liquor control measures was confirmed tonight when the state senate approved an amendment to the proposed control bill. This amendment would change the form of the liquor commission, which the governor has demanded, to give Chicago a certain measure of home rule.

The change in the amendment, which was made after the governor and mayor had ironed out some differences in conference today, would set up a double barreled commission to pass on licenses of liquor sellers.

One commission of three persons, to be appointed by the governor, would be in charge of licenses downstate. The second part, to be composed of the chairman of the first commission, the secretary of state and a member to be chosen by the Chicago city council, would operate only in Cook county.

Doubtful of House Attitude.

Mayor Kelly, it is understood, believes this amendment would give Chicago sufficient home rule for some years, at least. However, many observers were doubtful that the house, in which the liquor control bill originated, would concur in the amendment. At any rate, they held, it will be subjected to severe opposition.

On a second point, that no liquor may be sold over a bar in the state, it was also indicated that the governor and the mayor were in agreement. An amendment to that effect was approved by the senate. In effect, it provides that only service bars may be installed in places selling liquor and that patrons must sit down at tables to drink.

The initiative in the creation of the two way control commission came from Mayor Kelly. The idea was first suggested by Senator Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet], and he introduced it in the senate.

Approve 200 Amendments.

While the negotiations looking toward more harmony were being held by the governor and mayor the senate was in recess. In the evening it went into session with the apparent intention of cleaning up its work. In a short time it approved some 200 amendments to the liquor measure, the meaning of which was not clear to the members of the body.

While the amendments were in process of passage Senator Louis O. Williams received from one of President Roosevelt's secretaries a message calling attention to the President's request that "no state, by law or otherwise, authorize the return of the saloon, either in its old form or some other guise."

Senator Williams had sent an inquiry to the President on this subject. There was some disappointment over the fact that the chief executive did not reply personally.

Opposed to Standup Bars.

In addressing the senate today, Mayor Kelly took a conciliatory attitude, although he insisted on home rule for Chicago. He also added that he was opposed to the old fashioned standup bars, but that the city council of Chicago did not agree with him.

"So far as I am concerned," he said, "the thing in which I am interested is the handling of saloons in order to be able to handle the hoodlums. I am not in favor of the bar and never was." He also spoke in favor of a referendum on major questions in connection with the liquor traffic.

Gov. Horner repeated today that he opposes bars, other than service bars, in any liquor store, and added that he believes the majority of Illinois citizens hold the same opinion. Mayor

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—A stupendous spending program requiring 16½ billion dollars to run the government, further the New Deal, and accomplish recovery by July 1, 1935, is proposed in the budget message President Roosevelt transmitted to congress today.

Of this huge sum almost 10 billion 300 million dollars is to be poured out through the Rooseveltian recovery agencies such as public and civil works, the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and the home and farm bank systems. Only 6 billion 200 million is for the routine government establishment.

Two Year Program.

Spending of the 16½ billions, the President said, is to be spread over the current fiscal year and the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1934. This year's expenditures will total 10 billion 500 million, of which 7 billion 500 million is for the New Deal agencies. Of the 6 billions to be spent in the next fiscal year 2 billion 700 million will be for the New Deal.

With its plan for the expenditure of two-thirds of the cost of the world war to the United States to revive business and establish the new economic order, the message, read in both houses shortly after they convened at noon, left many senators and representatives dazed and groping for their bearings on the scene of the "Roosevelt revolution."

Prospective treasury deficits aggregating not less than 9 billion 300 million dollars for the two fiscal years ending June 30, 1935, are revealed by the budget.

Would Borrow Billions.

To meet these deficits the President proposes to borrow on the credit of the government 10 billion dollars or more in addition to borrowing about 12 billions to refinance maturing government bonds and other obligations in the next year and a half.

Calculating that recovery will have been attained in the next year and a half, Mr. Roosevelt revealed in his message that he contemplates balancing the budget in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1935. From that date forward all expenditures would be met from current revenue, with provision made for gradual reduction of the public debt and with outlays on the New Deal limited to about half a billion dollars a year indefinitely.

Because his program calls for balancing the budget in the fiscal year 1936 and for retirement of the debt, the President is confident that the treasury will be able to borrow 22 billion dollars in the next year and a half without straining the credit of the government.

Looks Ahead Six Months.

On the question of financing the deficits, however, the President in his message looks no farther ahead than the next six months in which he informed congress "we shall have to borrow approximately 6 billion dollars of new money and in addition 4 billion dollars to meet maturities of a like amount." In addition to the 10 billions borrowed before July 1 next, however, there will be 4 billions to be borrowed next year to finance the recovery program and about 8 billions to refinance maturing obligations.

The budget proposes to bring the cost of the federal government for this fiscal year up to 10 billion 589 million dollars, which will leave the treasury in the red to the extent of 7 billion 309 million dollars and push the public debt up to 29 billion 847 million dollars. Some time between now and July 1 next the public debt

Survey Shows Chicago Lucky in Its Climate

Chicago's climate was described as its least advertised valuable asset yesterday by Frederick Rex, municipal librarian. Mr. Rex has prepared a comparative study of climate in 24 cities of more than 300,000 population in the United States.

The statistics used in the report are for 1933. Chicago ranked 19th among the 24 cities in average temperatures computed from the monthly mean. Its average was 50.6 degrees, as compared with 70.3 for New Orleans and 45 degrees for Minneapolis, the two extremes in the list. Detroit, Rochester, N. Y., Buffalo, and Milwaukee were chillier, while Cleveland, Boston, and Seattle were less than 2 degrees warmer.

Two Days of Zero or Lower.

Although tied for fourth place with Cincinnati and Indianapolis in the number of days with minimum temperatures of zero and below, this is not significant, since there were only two days of such severity. Thirteen of the 24 cities had no days with temperatures of zero and below. Milwaukee had 10 and Minneapolis 29.

Minneapolis had 20 and Milwaukee 13 days when the thermometer rose to 90 degrees or more, while Chicago's total was 16. Kansas City, Mo., with three days below zero, recorded 40 days above 90. This was exceeded only by New Orleans, with 60 days over 90, and Houston, with 70. Other cities with more than 16 such days were St. Louis, Baltimore, Louisville, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Washington, D. C. Chicago ranked 11th.

The year's maximum was at Houston—102 degrees. Minneapolis registered 101, as did St. Louis. Chicago was tied with Philadelphia, Cincinnati, and Louisville with 97 degrees for 11th place in the high readings. Buffalo and Seattle were low with maximum readings of 89. New York had 93.

Ties With Milwaukee.

Chicago and Milwaukee were tied for 10th place in the number of clear days. Each had 119. Los Angeles was the leader with 202. Seattle had the fewest, 63.

In sunshine Chicago was tied with Houston for 16th place with sun 56 per cent of the possible time. Los Angeles and San Francisco were at the top, having sun 74 and 72 per cent, respectively, of the possible time.

Chicago was 18th in total rainfall, with 31.86 inches. New Orleans had 72.12 inches, while Baltimore and Washington, D. C., each had nearly 50. San Francisco and Los Angeles had the least, less than 12 inches.

Accompanying Mr. Rex's study was a summary note from the local weather bureau. It described Chicago's climate as continental, but pointed out that Lake Michigan is an influence in averting extremes, either of heat or cold. It gives the average annual rainfall as 33 inches. The winter average temperature [December through February] is placed at 26 degrees, and the June-July-August average at 70 degrees, with an average of 49 for the year.

EVERYBODY IN COUNTY ASKS FOR CWA JOB

Maryville, Tenn., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Because there were only 800 jobs and everybody in the county wanted one of them, CWA work was suspended here today and State Administrator C. O. Menzler of Nashville was asked "to come and take charge."

W. D. Fouche, local CWA administrator, wired Menzler as follows:

"By action of the CWA advisory committee we are closing all CWA work effective tonight. This action is due to ill feeling existing among CWA workers and local citizens. Please come yourself to take charge. Majority of committee offering resignations."

"We had about 800 jobs in our quota," Fouche explained, but "the trouble arose because everybody in the county wanted a job. We couldn't oblige them and they got pretty angry."

Bomb Killed 7 in Airplane, U. S. Declares

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Willful or careless placing of a bomb sent the seven persons killed in the midair explosion of a Chicago bound plane to their death on Oct. 10, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings revealed today. He had received the official report of his agents who investigated that tragedy.

Although the final report established clearly that a bomb had been placed in the plane and exploded, according to the attorney general, the federal government is not yet doing anything to solve the mystery of that death dealing detonation.

Having received the report through his division of investigation, Attorney General Cummings transmitted it to the aeronautics division of the department of commerce.

Indiana Scene of Crime.

Some lawyers in the department openly cast doubt on the federal government's power to intervene in the case beyond the investigating stage, inferring that the crime was one of sevenfold murder punishable by the Indiana authorities. The tragedy occurred near Chesterton.

At the aeronautics division of the department of commerce officials declared that their power over air lines is merely civil and that any action of the federal government in a criminal case would have to be through the department of justice. They declared that the report from the attorney general had not been examined by them.

Story of the Blast.

On the night of Oct. 10 a Chicago bound passenger plane of the United Air lines was flying in the vicinity of Chesterton when it suddenly exploded, killing all seven of its passengers. Officials of the line said a bomb had been placed in the plane. The department of commerce began an investigation to determine whether the accident was due to any structural or operating flaw.

That report never has been concluded. It probably will be dropped in view of the department of justice report declaring that a bomb placed in the ship caused the accident. The theory has been that a passenger of the plane who carried a bomb on a previous flight hid the bomb in a blanket closet, fearing detection with incriminating evidence upon landing and that it was exploded either by an air bump or by some one opening the closet.

GIRL SHOT DEAD IN STRUGGLE FOR COLLECTOR'S GUN

Minnie Hardt, 14 year old orphan, was shot and killed yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Joseph Marshak, 4907 North Springfield avenue, with a pistol held by Harry Kaplan, 19 years old, a brother of Mrs. Marshak. The girl was employed in the home as a maid.

Following the shooting Kaplan, after shouting to his sister that he had shot the girl accidentally, fled on a bicycle. Late last night he was captured by a squad commanded by Capt. Joseph Goldberg of the Albany Park station in the home of a friend, Paul Ginsburg, 4926 Balmoral avenue.

"I was showing Minnie a pistol," Kaplan said, "and she tried to get hold of it herself. It was all in play, and when it went off accidentally and shot her I was scared. That's why I ran. I didn't mean to do it."

Mrs. Marshak told the police her brother, who had ambitions to become a prize fighter, collected weapons. Searching his home at 4016 Ainslie street, police found several swords and a pistol.

ROB 25 PATRONS IN ROADHOUSE OF JEWELS AND CASH

Four bandits raided the Piccadilly Gardens, a roadhouse at 106th street and Ridgeland avenue, Chicago Ridge, shortly before midnight last night and got away with an undetermined amount of loot.

Among the victims was Justice of the Peace Ernest Klee of Chicago Ridge, who entered the place while the gunmen were at work, and lost $8. Some 25 guests, including a few Chicagoans, were robbed of money and jewelry, but county highway police at Willow Springs, who investigated the crime, could not determine how much.

The bandits herded the customers into one corner of the roadhouse, then searched them all and the place as well. They took $200 from the till, then got four cases of whisky, an automatic pistol, cartridges, and some wearing apparel belonging to Albert Olson, the bartender, and other employés.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS ON BUDGET

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's message transmitting the budget to congress today follows:

"To the congress of the United States:

"I transmit herewith the budget for the year ending June 30, 1935. It contains also estimates of receipts and expenditures for the current year ending June 30, 1934, and includes statements of the financial operations or status of all governmental agencies, including the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

"The estimates herein given and included in the budget have to do with general and special funds—the government's moneys. They do not relate to trust and contributed funds, which are not government moneys, except where expressly referred to as such.

Mentions Wednesday's Message.

"In my annual message to congress I have already summarized the problems presented by the deflationary forces of the depression, the paralyzed condition which affected the banking system, business, agriculture, transportation, and, indeed, the whole orderly continuation of the nation's social and economics system.

"I have outlined the steps taken since last March for the resumption of normal activities and the restoration of the credit of the government.

"Of necessity these many measures have caused spending by the government far in excess of the income of the government.

"The results of expenditures already made show themselves in concrete form in better prices for farm commodities, in renewed business activity, in increased employment, in reopening of and restored confidence in banks, and in well organized relief.

THE CURRENT FISCAL YEAR (Ending June 30, 1934)

"Exclusive of debt retirement of $483,171,500 for this year, budget estimates of expenditures, including operating expenses of the regular government establishments and also all expenditures which may be broadly classed as caused by the necessity for recovery from the depression will amount this year (ending June 30, 1934) to $9,408,006,967.

"This total falls in broad terms into the following classifications:

"Expenditures for fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, are:

General:
Departmental	$2,396,115,800
Legislative	17,715,500
Independent establishments	616,837,067
	$3,533,021,767
Less Public debt retirements	$ 488,171,500
Total, general	2,045,850,267
Emergency:
Public works administration	1,677,190,800
Agricultural adjust. admstrn.	103,250,000
Farm credit administration	40,000,000
Emergency conservation work	341,705,500
Reconstruction finance corp.	3,969,740,300
Tennessee valley authority	19,000,000
Federal land banks	52,350,000
Federal deposit insurance corp	150,000,000
Nat. indust. recov. admnistrn	4,250,000
Total emergency	6,357,486,700
Total general and emergency,
less public debt retirements	8,403,006,967

Expect Three Billion.

"As against these expenditures, which have either been appropriated for or for which appropriations are asked, the estimated receipts for this fiscal year (ending June 30, 1934) are $3,259,938,756.

"On this basis, including, however, certain additional expenditures for 1934 which are not included in the budget estimates but which I believe to be necessary and amounting to $1,166,000,000, as shown in a subsequent table herein, the excess of expenditures over receipts will be $7,309,068,211.

"Interest charges on the borrowings in excess of budget estimates will slightly increase this figure.

7 Billion Debt Increase.

"On the basis of these estimates, the public debt, in the strict sense of the term, at the expiration of this fiscal year, will therefore amount to approximately $29,847,000,000, or an increase, as shown above, of $7,309,068,211.

"However, as against this increase in the total debt figure, it is right to point out that the various governmental agencies have loans outstanding with a book value of $3,858,516,189, against which collateral or assets have been pledged.

"In order to make clear to the congress what our borrowings problem is for the next six months, permit me to remind you that we shall have to borrow approximately 6 billion dollars of new money and, in addition, 4 billion dollars to meet maturities of a like amount.

THE FISCAL YEAR 1935 (Ending June 30, 1935)

"The budget estimates of expenditures, exclusive of debt retirement of $525,763,800 and exclusive also of such sum as may be necessary for new and extraordinary recovery purposes, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935 amount to $3,960,798,700.

"Again summarizing the main headings of these expenditures, they fall into the following items:

"Expenditures for fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, are:

GENERAL.
Departmental	$3,202,074,900
Legislative	18,734,500
Independent establishments	542,466,600
	$3,763,276,000
Less public debt retirements	525,763,800
Total, general	$3,237,512,200
EMERGENCY.
Public works administration	$1,089,883,100
Agricult. adjustment admin.	5,000,000
Emergency conservation work	53,190,000
Reconstruction Finance corp.	*480,436,000
Tennessee valley authority	21,000,000
Federal land banks	13,680,000
Total, emergency	$ 733,286,800
Total, general and emergency, less public debt retirements	$3,960,798,700

*Excess of credits—deduct.

Public Works in 1935 Less.

"It will be noted that many of these items such as public works fall under appropriations made in 1933, the actual expenditures not taking place until after June 30, 1934.

"The above figures do not include additional loans by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. If its loaning authority is extended beyond June 30, 1934, it is contemplated that any additional loans by it would thereafter be taken from the new and additional recovery fund hereinafter referred to.

"The estimates of receipts for the next fiscal year [ending June 30, 1935] exclusive of foreign debt payments, of increased liquor taxes and of increased revenue flowing from amendments to the existing revenue law, amount to $3,974,665,479.

Show Small Surplus.

"Therefore, exclusive of debt retirement, these budget estimates for the next fiscal year show a small surplus of $13,866,779. But it must be borne in mind that this surplus does not include any additional expenditures for extraordinary recovery purposes.

"It is clear that the necessity for relief and recovery will still be with us during the year 1934-'35. Additional relief funds will be necessary. Further needs of the country prohibit the abrupt termination of the recovery program. No person can on this date definitely predict the total amount that will be needed, nor the itemizing of such an amount. It is my best judgment at this time that a total appropriation of not to exceed 2 billion dollars will, with the expenditures still to be made next year out of existing appropriations, be sufficient.

"I shall therefore ask the congress for appropriations approximating that amount.

"This amount is not included in the budget estimates. If appropriated and expended, therefore, it will change the small estimated surplus of 13 million dollars into a debt increase of nearly 2 billion dollars. It is only fair, of course, to say that such a debt increase would be partially offset by loans made against collateral and assets pledged.

"Therefore, the total debt, if increased by the sum of 2 billion dollars during the fiscal year 1935, would amount to approximately $31,834,000,000 on June 30, 1935. It is my belief that so far as we can make estimates with our present knowledge, the government should seek to hold the total debt within this amount. Furthermore, the government during the balance of this calendar year should plan to bring its 1936 expenditures, including recovery and relief, within the revenues expected in the fiscal year 1936.

"Plan for Balanced Budget."

"Let me put it another way: The excess of expenditures over receipts during the fiscal year amounts to over 7 billion dollars. My estimates for the coming fiscal year show an excess of expenditures over receipts of 2 billion dollars. We should plan to have a definitely balanced budget for the third year of recovery and from that time on seek a continuing reduction of the national debt.

"This excess of expenditures over revenues amounting to over nine billion dollars during two fiscal years has been rendered necessary to bring the country to a sound condition after the unexampled crisis which we encountered last spring. It is a large amount, but the immeasurable benefits justify the cost.

"The following table shows expenditures and receipts for the fiscal years 1934 and 1935 as contained in the budget, plus the additional expenditures which will be made out of additional authorizations and appropriations here recommended. It shows, also, the estimated increase in the public debt and the book value of assets held as security against loans:

	1933-'34	1934-'35
Income tax	$ 864,000,000	$1,285,000,000

Other miscellaneous	76,327,017	69,952,063
Totals	$3,259,938,756	$3,974,665,479

Additional expenditures from additional appropriations—1934, $1,166,000,000; 1935, $2,000,000,000; 1934-'35, $3,166,000,000.

Total expenditures—1934, $10,569,006,967; 1935, $5,960,798,700; 1934-'35, $16,529,805,667.

‡Increase in debt—1934, $7,309,068,211; 1935, $1,988,133,291; 1934-'35, $9,295,201,422.

Estimated book value of assets held as security for loans—1934-'35, $5,491,969,273.

*These estimates of receipts are predicated on federal reserve board average index of industrial production of 81 for fiscal year 1934 and of 98 for the fiscal year 1935.

†These include net expenditures after deducting Reconstruction Finance corporation repayments in 1935 of $480,436,600.

APPROPRIATIONS

"The budget estimates of appropriations for 1935, exclusive of agricultural adjustment administration benefit payments and refunds of processing taxes, but inclusive of all other appropriations for regular departments and independent establishments, including interest on the debt and debt retirement, are $2,980,293,333.60. When compared with budget estimates of appropriations transmitted in the budget for 1934 they show a reduction of $684,913,167.

TAXES

"The estimates of receipts take no account of the additional revenue which may be obtained from an increase in liquor taxes and from the proposed changes in the income tax law. Since neither of these tax measures has come before congress as yet, no accurate estimate can be made of their yield.

"However, if as proposed by the committee of ways and means, the tax on distilled spirits is increased from $1.10 a gallon to $2 a gallon, and the rates of tax on wines are also increased, the estimated revenue would be increased by approximately $50,000,000, assuming that consumption is not affected by additional gallonage taxes imposed by the states.

"Considerable additional revenue can also be secured from administrative changes in the income tax law, which may amount to as much as $150,000,000 for a full year.

"The estimates for the postoffice department are predicated upon a continuation of the 3 cent postal rate for nonlocal mail. It is highly important that this rate be continued. I recommend its continuance.

ECONOMY LEGISLATION

"The estimates of appropriations submitted in the budget are predicated on the continuation of certain economy legislative provisions which I ask to be enacted and which are appended hereto. The most important is that having to do with reduction of compensation of federal employes.

"It is eminently fair that, the cost of living having fallen as compared with 1929, the employes of the government sustain some reduction in compensation. This is not inconsistent with our policy of advocating an increase in wages in industry.

"For wages there had fallen far beyond any reduction contemplated for federal employes and in most grades are even now substantially below compensation paid federal employes under the maximum reduction of 15 per cent.

"Among the legislative provisions appended hereto is one prohibiting automatic increases in compensation except in the army, navy, and marine corps. The personnel of these three services are engaged in a life service to their country. Some, by reason of the pay freeze, have sustained reduction in compensation of more than 25 per cent. They are, therefore, in a different category from those in other governmental agencies. They should, in 1935, be released from the restrictions on automatic increases in compensation.

CONTROL

"Up to now there has been no coordinated control over emergency expenditures. Today, by executive order, I have imposed that necessary control in the bureau of the budget.

"Heretofore, emergency expenditures have not been subject to audit by the controller general of the general accounting office. Today I am, by executive order, reposing in him the authority to conduct such an audit and to continue to audit each such expenditure. Hereafter, therefore, just as in the departmental expenditures, there will be, in emergency expenditures, a pre-budget and a post audit.

Task Is Difficult.

"By reason of the fact that the bureau of the budget has had no control in the past over the various expenditures, obligations, and allotments made by the emergency organizations, the task of preparing the present budget has been the most difficult one since the budget and accounting act went into effect in 1921. These difficulties, in future years, will be substantially minimized by the control which I have established.

"It is evident to me, as I am sure it is evident to you, that powerful forces for recovery exist. It is by laying a foundation of confidence in the present and faith in the future that the upturn which we have so far seen will become cumulative. The cornerstone of this foundation is the good credit of the government.

Credit Breeds Confidence.

"It is, therefore, not strange nor is it academic that this credit has a profound effect upon the confidence so necessary to permit the new recovery to develop into maturity.

"If we maintain the course I have outlined, we can confidently look forward to cumulative beneficial forces represented by increased volume of business, more general profit, greater employment, a diminution of relief expenditures, large governmental receipts and repayments, and greater human happiness.

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

ESTIMATED U. S. REVENUES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Revenues estimated in the President's budgets for current and coming fiscal years are:

Plans for Spending.

How the President proposes to spend his new emergency appropriations in the present and coming fiscal years may be summarized as follows:

1934.
Civil works [Feb. 1-May 1]..*	$ 400,000,000
RFC, farm credit, home loan banks	766,000,000
Total	$1,166,000,000
1934-1935.
*Direct relief	$ 550,000,000
Public works	800,000,000
Citizens conservation corps	300,000,000
Reconstruction Finance corp.	500,000,000
Farm credit and home loan banks	150,000,000
Total	$2,000,000,000

*This is an average sum; the President believes relief expenditures may run as high as 800 millions or as low as 300 millions, depending on recovery.

No increase of income tax rates is proposed in the budget. The President, however, estimates that 150 millions additional revenue can be obtained from income taxes by administrative changes which will plug up the loopholes in the present law affording legal tax avoidance. He looks for an additional 50 millions from the proposed increase in liquor taxes. He recommends continuance of 3 cent letter postage.

Plans United States Pay Increase.

After July 1 next the pay cut of government employes is to be 10 per cent instead of the present 15 per cent.

Although spending altogether more than in any other peace-time year, the President claimed to have reduced the cost of the regular government establishment 685 million dollars under the last Republican budget.

SENATE DEMANDS ALL DATA ABOUT THE WAR DEBTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—The senate today called on the treasury to furnish a statement showing the war debts due from foreign nations to the United States.

In its first action of the session on a public measure the senate adopted a resolution offered by Senator Borah, Idaho, Republican.

The resolution called for a statement of the debts due from foreign governments and the amounts in default.

It was the first manifestation of the expected congressional reaction to war debt defaults. The senate adopted the resolution unanimously without debate.

In his message yesterday President Roosevelt promised an early report to congress on the war debt situation.

BOY KILLED BY TRAIN.

West Frankfort, Ill., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—David Wasson, 15, was killed here late yesterday when he fell beneath a coal train. Both legs were cut off.

FRENCH SEAPLANE REACHES BRAZIL ON ATLANTIC HOP

NATAL, Brazil, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The huge French seaplane, Southern Cross, on the basis of whose performance France hopes to perfect the first trans-Atlantic mail service, landed here this morning after completing a 1,970 mile flight from St. Louis, Senegal, in 18 hours 27 minutes.

This was the first experimental flight of the craft, an 11 ton ship capable of carrying nearly 11 tons of fuel. Naval Commander Bonnot and the three members of his crew expected to fly back to Senegal tomorrow. The French government hopes to initiate a daily service between Paris and Rio de Janeiro soon.

SEIZED AFTER SHOOTING.

Protasio Brico, 27 years old, 3814 East 58th street, was arrested yesterday shortly after he had shot and seriously wounded Andrew Banda, 29 years old, 8561 Burley avenue, in a dispute at 88th street and Burley avenue.

HERE IS LOOK AT PUBLIC DEBT OF UNITED STATES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Here is a look at the public debt:

Aug. 31, 1919, the war peak—$26,596,701,648.

The 1930 post-war low—$16,185,309,831.

Today's public debt—$28,317,088,025.

Estimated for June 30—$29,847,000,000.

Estimated for June 30, 1935—$31,884,000,000.

DAY IN WASHINGTON

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The President's budget message, calling for government borrowing of $10,000,000,000 in six months and an $11,129,000,000 expenditure and $9,000,000,000 deficit for the next two years, went to congress.

Senate finance committee approved the nomination of Henry Morgenthau Jr. as secretary of the treasury.

Public works administration allotted $28,294,237 for 157 nonfederal projects.

Senate asked the treasury for full information on war debts.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, said he looked for no legislative action on silver, that the St. Lawrence waterways treaty probably would be taken up this session and the world court protocol probably would not.

House took up the liquor tax bill calling for a $2 a gallon tax on spirits.

The President sent more than 100 recess nominations to the senate for confirmation.

Police Recover $2,000 of Bank Robbery Loot

As a result of the arrest Wednesday in Springfield of six men and two women, suspected of being members of a gang of central west bank robbers, Detectives Charles Moore and Charles McMullen went yesterday to a room in the Englewood Arms hotel, 824 West 62d street, and recovered $2,000. The money, police said, was part of $15,000 taken on Dec. 12 in a bank holdup at Bay City, Mich. The room had been occupied by John Enos, alias Evans, one of the men arrested in Springfield.

MIXED COMMENT GREETS BUDGET OF ROOSEVELT

Report Pleases Most, but Staggers Others.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The President's 16½ billion dollar budget for this and the next fiscal year pleased most of the Democrats, but staggered most of the Republicans and some Democrats.

"The budget message is a confession of broken promises and a signal of despair," said Senator L. J. Dickinson [Rep., Ia.]. "When all of the facts were known to the country, on Oct. 21, 1932, I find the following promise by President Roosevelt to the people of this country:

"'It is my pledge and promise that this dangerous kind of financing shall be stopped and that rigid governmental economy shall be forced by a stern and unremitting administration policy of living within our income.'

Peace Time Record.

"The present budget calls for seven and one-third billion dollars, raising the public debt to approximately 30 billion dollars, with a supplemental suggestion that two billion dollars in addition will be required for public works, raising the public debt to approximately 32 billion—an unknown peace time record of extravagant expenditures and willful waste.

"This fiscal program will impose a tax burden on this generation and on many generations to follow. It is the most gigantic gamble with the hands of fate ever attempted. The stakes are large and the results are uncertain.

"This country cannot continue to exist half subsidized and half victimized. To borrow ten billion dollars between now and July 1 may be but the beginning of the end so far as stable federal finances are concerned."

Harrison Confident.

Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] said the President had taken the people into his confidence in a very frank statement.

"I am more optimistic with reference to the return of a surplus to the federal treasury than is the budget statement," he added. "I feel that with a general improvement in business, growing receipts to the treasury, and the liquor taxes and other income that will come in by plugging up the tax laws, we'll be in the black by a much larger figure in 1936 than the budget reveals. The large deficit was expected by the American people because of the extraordinary expenditures for the recovery program. Except for these emergency expenditures the budget is now in balance."

Other comments follow:

SENATOR DAVID A. REED [Rep., Pa.]—I think the country is perfectly able to endure a debt as large as 31 billions if we can depend on the President's assurances that when the debt reaches that point the budget will be balanced, and there is nothing about it to be worried about. Unfortunately, the President has not maintained his assurances on financial matters, such as maintenance of a sound currency, honoring the gold clause, and so forth. Either from necessity or choice they have been forgotten. That is the danger.

SENATOR JAMES F. BYRNES [Dem., S. C.]—The message fairly and frankly presents the financial condition of the treasury to the country. Much of the money expended is in the form of loans which I believe are certain to be repaid. I do not think there will be any difficulty on the part of the treasury in carrying out the necessary financing. The message will serve to reassure the country as to the treasury's ability to finance.

SENATOR SIMEON D. FESS [Rep., O.]—It points directly to national bankruptcy and is a change of policy to be met by some form of repudiation in the shape of inflation. It means a public debt which is five billion dollars greater than the peak of the world war debt.

SENATOR J. HAMILTON LEWIS [Dem., Ill.]—I have felt all along that there has not been complete comprehension of the amount of expenditures the government has undertaken. I fear that what the President thinks can be reduced he will not succeed in reducing. I also fear least the income for which he hopes, and which he is assured by officials can be relied on, will not develop, much as I would like to see him vindicated.

SENATOR CHARLES L. McNARY [Rep., Ore.], senate leader—The budget contemplates a stupendous sum—I think, the largest in peace time. We will have to slow down in this process of spending if we are ever to come back in earnings. I hope the administration and congress will make a better record this year.

Is Frank Report.

SENATOR JOE T. ROBINSON [Dem., Ark.], majority leader of senate—My interpretation of the President's message is that he counts the maximum expenditures possible and the minimum of revenue to be received. This in order frankly to inform the country. The prospect of completely balancing the budget both with respect to ordinary and extraordinary expenditures at the end of three years is reassuring.

SPEAKER HENRY T. RAINEY [Dem., Ill.]—The ordinary budget is practically balanced and the deficit is apparently due to the extraordinary budget. This, however, is mostly self-liquidating. Three-quarters of it probably will be repaid to the federal treasury. Jesse H. Jones, the RFC chairman, thinks the loans will be repaid 95 per cent.

REPRESENTATIVE JOSEPH W. BYRNS [Dem., Tenn.], majority leader—While it is very high, the American people must regard it as an investment that will pay dividends in returned prosperity.

REPRESENTATIVE FRED A. BRITTEN [Rep., Ill.], saw in the proposed borrowings a menace to the credit of the government and a danger to the value of government bonds now outstanding.

REPRESENTATIVE JAMES WADSWORTH [Rep., N. Y.], described the budget as "simply appalling," adding that when government credit is exhausted, "we're lost."

$245,000,000 DEFICIT SHOWN BY ITALIAN BUDGET FOR 1934-35

ROME, Jan. 4.—(AP)—A national budget deficit of almost 3,000,000,000 lire [currently about $245,000,000] for 1934-'35 was shown in the budget report of the ministry of finance distributed today in the chamber of deputies.

The report estimates revenues at 17,862,000,000 lire [$1,450,000,000], which is 500,000,000 lire under the current year. Estimated expenditures for the new budget are 20,636,000,000 lire [$1,692,000,000], 22,000,000 lire over the 1933-'34 budget.

The budget of the finance ministry itself occupied over one-half of the estimated expenditures with a total of 10,187,000,000 lire. The ministry said that the increase of 1,300,000,000 lire over the current year's expenses was attributed largely to the necessity of meeting public debt interest payments, and also the fact that maintenance of the Fascist militia was estimated to have increased about 2,000,000 lire.

WARDEN URGES STATE TO BUILD A NEW PRISON

Warden Frank D. Whipp of Joliet penitentiary said yesterday that the two prisons under his supervision have become so overcrowded that they soon will be able to accommodate no more prisoners. He urged that the state start construction of a new prison.

The old Joliet prison, the new institution at Stateville, and the honor farm nearby had a total of 5,405 prisoners yesterday. Their rated capacity is from 3,000 to 3,200 men and prisoners are being received faster than they are being discharged.

When the Stateville prison was built state authorities hoped that they would thereafter be able to assign each convict to a separate cell. At present there are two or three men in single cells, while double cells house six, seven, or eight men. There is work for only 450 men at the old prison and for 800 at Stateville, and the thousands of idle convicts make administration of the prisons increasingly difficult, Warden Whipp said.

He suggested that if a new prison for 1,000 or 1,500 men is built it be placed close to Chicago. That, he pointed out, would save the state considerable money in the transportation of Cook county prisoners.

Pair of Tornadoes Strike Pensacola; 8 Persons Hurt

Pensacola, Fla., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Two tornadoes, which first appeared as huge waterspouts in Pensacola bay, swept into the city today, seriously injuring eight persons and wrecking about 35 residences.

One of the injured, 3 year old Marion Kenneth Rigby, probably will die. Many other persons were treated for minor injuries.

Others seriously hurt were:

J. A. Crane and two members of his family, names not immediately ascertainable; another white person, not identified, and three Negroes, Betty Baldwin, Elizabeth Morris, and James Dexter.

More than 100 buildings, including two at the naval air station, were damaged.

Aviation Field Suffers.

The storm that wreaked most damage struck in the vicinity of the old Corry aviation field after dipping over the business section without material harm. It passed into the northeast, but there were no reports of its effect in the countryside.

The other tornado passed along the waterfront and bumped over the naval station. It uncroofed the station's foundry and partly ripped off the roof of a hangar.

Several persons saw the storms approaching from the bay as lofty waterspouts. Almost in a twinkling the storms roared inland.

One of the tornadoes passed within three blocks of the main business section.

Roof Flies Into Air.

One witness said he was standing by a window and observed the approach of the waterspouts. He saw the roof of a house fly 250 feet into the air soon after the tornadoes struck land.

Other witnesses, observing the first storm appear in the bay, telephoned the weather bureau, but before the conversation could be completed the second storm had appeared and passed inland.

The storm which came nearest the business district dipped over the San Carlos hotel and nearby buildings and hit in the northeast section of the city.

There were no estimates of the damage, except at the naval station, where it was counted at $2,000. No one was injured at the station.

JUDGE REDUCES HUSBAND'S BOND IN ALIMONY CASE

Judge Herbert S. Anderson of Charleston, sitting in the Circuit court, yesterday reduced the ne exeat bond of Maj. William Ogden Johnson, 1027 Central avenue, Wilmette, a retired army officer, from $2,000 to $250. Maj. Johnson was unable to post the lower bond immediately, however, and was taken back to alimony row in the county jail.

He was committed to jail last week by Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude because he was unable to post the $2,000 bond. He had appeared on the complaint of his estranged wife, Mrs. Lee Cable Johnson of San Diego, Cal., that he was $160 in arrears on temporary alimony payments.

He told Judge Trude that he had stopped paying alimony because Mrs. Johnson had taken their children to California, making it impossible for him to visit them, as the alimony order specified he could. He is suing her for divorce on a charge of desertion and she has a cross-bill pending on the same charge.

BILLION MORE FOR FARM, BANK RELIEF SOUGHT

Amount Tucked Into RFC's Special Account.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—A new billion dollar farm and bank relief program was tucked into the Reconstruction Finance corporation's special account without any explanation today when President Roosevelt sent his annual budget message to congress.

Swelling the RFC item to the largest included in the 10½ billion dollar spending program which President Roosevelt has mapped out for the current fiscal year, the new relief appropriations would provide millions of easy money for new price pegging for farm loans, farm exports, farm production, bank loans and railroad financing.

Items Total 888 Million.

The items included in the new RFC relief funds aggregating 888 million dollars are:

Purchases of preferred stock in banks, 350 million; financing of the orderly marketing of farm products [price pegging loans, like those now made on corn], 250 million; direct bank loans, 180 million; financing of farm exports, $55,000,000; farm production credit through regional agricultural credit corporation, $55,000,000; railroad loans, $53,000,000; mortgage company loans, $50,000,000; and miscellaneous items, $17,000,000.

The tables in the President's budget made it clear that these sums were additional helpings of easy money which farmers, banks and railroads would get if congress continues the RFC's lending power, now scheduled to expire Jan. 22. The additional sums would make a total of 1 billion 700 million available for preferred stock purchases in this fiscal year, 800 million available for farm marketing, 780 million for bank loans, 180 million for regional agricultural credit corporations, 120 million for railroad loans, and 100 million for farm exporting.

Only Part of Program.

Pouring out of this extra easy money aggregating almost a billion dollars is only a part of the ambitious spending schedule set for the RFC during the next six months. The President's budget estimates call for the RFC to spend a total of 3 billion 970 millions in this fiscal year of which less than 600 millions have thus far been put out.

Most of the remaining 3 billion 382 millions which the President is calling on the RFC to spend will go on existing commitments, but the 888 millions has been definitely earmarked for new loans.

No official explanation as to specific uses for the additional funds was made. Both the White House and the RFC maintained silence on the items, most officials expressing ignorance of their inclusion in the budget.

PLEADS GUN WAS EMPTY.

When Charles Babosky, 41 years old, 1017 West Cullerton street, pleaded that a gun which he displayed on New Year's eve in a tavern was unloaded, Municipal Judge J. William Brooks yesterday continued a charge of carrying concealed weapons against him for ten days, to permit the police ballistics bureau to learn whether the gun had been used in any crimes.

LIQUOR REQUEST OF CONDEMNED MAN IS DENIED

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Sing Sing prison is as dry as it ever was, despite liquor repeal.

Joseph Willis, 24, who is to be put to death a week from tonight, asked Warden Lawes if he could "have a few drinks of repeal liquor" next Thursday. He explained that he had read of a governor in a western state who had granted such permission to a condemned prisoner.

Warden Lawes announced today that Willis' request would not be granted, whereas Willis told guards at the prison that he would seek the intercession of Gov. Lehman.

Two other men, Herman Cunningham and Winston Owens, are scheduled to die with Willis. They were convicted of a Manhattan holdup in which Patrick Baston was slain.

MODIFIED BILL ON FOOD, DRUGS GOES TO SENATE

Tugwell and Copeland Are Its Sponsors.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—A rewritten food and drug bill, drastically changed by its authors in the hope that it will compose the objections raised to the original Tugwell bill, was presented in the senate today by Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.].

Conceding that there was much cause for criticizing the old bill, Senator Copeland declared today that the new measure is "fair to all concerned."

"It should receive the support of all consumers," that senator said. "It should likewise receive the indorsement of that great reputable majority of the industries affected."

Tugwell Also Satisfied.

Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture and one of the authors of the original measure, also declared that the new bill "should meet every reasonable objection which has been raised."

The pending bill would repeal the present food and drugs act and set up new machinery to prevent the manufacture, shipment and sale of adulterated or misrepresented drugs, foods or cosmetics, and to prevent false advertisements.

One of the principal objections to the first Tugwell bill was that it gave the secretary of agriculture sole and dictatorial powers in the laying down of any sort of regulations he chose in a drastic control over manufacturing, selling and advertising foods, drugs and cosmetics.

The new bill provides for the appointment by the President of advisory committees of experts to aid the secretary in promulgating regulations and it also specifically provides for a court review whereby persons feeling themselves injured by any regulations may obtain court injunctions restraining the secretary from carrying out any regulation which may be found to be "unreasonable, arbitrary or capricious, or not in accordance with law."

Provides Scientific Board.

With respect to such regulations as may effect the protection of the public health, chiefly those concerning drugs and cosmetics, the new bill provides for the appointment of a committee on public health "which shall consist of five members designated by the President with a view to their distinguished scientific attainment and interest in public health and without regard to their political affiliations."

The committee on food "shall consist of five members designated by the President with a view to their scientific and technical knowledge of food and without regard to political affiliation."

The bill provides that when the secretary of agriculture contemplates the adoption of a regulation, he should advise the appropriate committee, and that no regulation shall be adopted without the consent of at least three members of the committee, and after the holding of a public hearing.

Members for 5 Years.

The term of committee members is fixed at five years and the bill provides no member shall be connected with the department of agriculture nor shall he have any financial interest in any of the articles regulated.

Other important changes include the following:

The old bill held a food to be adulterated "if it is or may be dangerous to health." The new bill reads: "If it bears or contains any poisonous or deleterious substance which may render it dangerous to health."

The old bill held a drug to be adulterated "if it is or may be dangerous to health under the conditions of use prescribed in labeling thereof." The new bill strikes out the words "or may be."

The old bill held a cosmetic to be adulterated "if it is or may be injurious to the user under the conditions of use prescribed in the labeling thereof, or under such conditions of use as are customary or usual." The new bill reads: "If it bears or contains any poisonous or deleterious substance which may render it injurious," etc.

When It's Misbranded.

The old bill held a food, drug, or cosmetic to be misbranded "if its labeling is in any particular false, or by ambiguity or inference creates a misleading impression regarding any food, drug or cosmetic." This clause, which was attacked as impossible of enforcement, now reads: "If its labeling is false or misleading in any particular: provided that no drug shall be deemed to be misbranded under this paragraph by reason of any representation concerning any effect of such drug which is supported by substantial medical opinion or by demonstrable scientific facts."

Exactly the same changes are made in the sections regulating the advertising of foods, drugs, and cosmetics.

Definition of a "Cure."

In the old bill it was specified that the labels or advertisements would be false if they bore the name of any disease for which the drug is not a specific cure, but is a palliative, unless the label or advertisement bore a statement that the drug was "not a cure" for such disease. The amended bill requires the statement to be made that the drug "is a palliative and how the palliation is effected."

In every case wherein the old bill used the words "or by ambiguity or inference creates a misleading impression," those words, which aroused opposition as incomprehensible, have been struck out of the new bill.

The new bill also omits the provision requiring full formula disclosure on all proprietary drugs, which Senator Copeland conceded was a requirement of doubtful advantage to consumers.

Would Amend Present Bill.

Simultaneously with the introduction of the revised Tugwell bill, a bill was introduced in the house by Representative Loring Black Jr. [Dem., N. Y.] which would amend the present food and drugs act.

The Black bill is sponsored by the National Drug Trade conference, composed of representative associations of drug manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers. The sponsors say the Black bill will meet all the reasonable aims of the Tugwell bill, but retain the old act in its essential form.

$2 a Gallon Liquor Tax Bill Expected to Pass House Today

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The passage tomorrow by the house of the new liquor tax bill, carrying a basic levy of $2 a gallon on distilled spirits, was expected tonight by leaders who steered the measure through four hours of debate this afternoon. With disposition of the bill the house probably will adjourn over the week-end, having completed its first legislative task within two days after congress convened.

Chairman Doughton of the ways and means committee was confident of keeping the bill substantially in the form introduced despite the efforts of Representative O'Connor of New York to write in a higher tax as a thrust at the "distillers' trust" and attempts of a beer bloc to reduce the levy on malt liquors from $5 to $2 or $3 a barrel.

Executive Session Today.

If the measure is changed in any substance it will be according to amendments recommended by the ways and means committee, Mr. Doughton predicted. The committee is to meet in executive session tomorrow morning to consider certain proposals of the treasury which are understood to have largely to do with proper labeling of blended products and the placing of stamps on containers as evidence of the tax being paid.

Mr. Doughton promised that the committee also would consider a proposal made on the floor by Representative Crowther of New York and joined in by Representatives Treadway of Massachusetts and Goss of Massachusetts for a lower spirits tax on undenatured distillates used in the manufacture of perfumes, flavoring extracts, mincemeat, and similar products.

The principal opposition of the ways and means committee tax plan came today from the wettest of the wets. The bill had hardly been called up before Representative Fitzpatrick of New York began hurling charges of "racketeering" in legal liquor, stating that the question of high or low taxes virtually had nothing to do with the retail price of whisky.

Seeks to Fight Bootleg Evil.

Representative O'Connor took sharp issue with the controlling theme of the ways and means committee bill—namely: that a lower tax was necessary to fight the bootlegging evil. It would be better, he said, to wipe out the "whisky trust" with a high levy even if it did play into the hands of the bootlegger. He repeated his assertion, made before the committee during hearings on the bill, that the era of bootlegging was more to be desired than the present era of runaway prices.

Representative Dirksen of Illinois, on the other hand, opposed the tax as too high, while admitting much of what Mr. O'Connor said about the inferior quality of the present legal product. Mr. Dirksen recommended a tax of $1.50 a gallon.

The old line drys fell in line for the low tax. Such of them as Mr. Crowther, Representative Gifford of Massachusetts, and others said the government's duty in maintaining a condition where low prices would drive out bootlegging should have prior consideration to revenue.

"We don't want the government dependent for revenue upon a product we regard as evil to society," said Mr. Gifford.

625 UNLICENSED SALOONS CLOSED SINCE JANUARY 1

Police Captains Submit Report to Allman.

Police Commissioner Allman announced yesterday that 625 unlicensed saloons have been closed since Jan. 1 in the police drive to rid the city of outlaw liquor dispensaries. The commissioner was informed by City Collector Edward J. Kaindl that 5,840 retail liquor dealers have applied for 1934 licenses as compared with 8,329 licenses granted in 1933 for the sale of 3.2 beer.

A report made to the commissioner by supervising police captains, preparatory to a concerted drive to remove the unlicensed establishments, revealed that 2,051 outlaw saloons are still operating in Chicago. The police will take immediate action to close the remaining unlicensed places.

Summons 22 Saloon Owners.

Twenty-two saloon owners in the Hyde Park police district were served with summonses by Capt. John L. Hogan last night, ordering them to appear before Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the license court this morning for operating in a "dry area" which was established by action of the city council on Dec. 20. The summonses were issued on orders by Police Commissioner Allman. It is understood that the city will seek to have Judge Hartigan close all saloons in the dry zone.

The area, bounded generally by 43d street, Drexel boulevard, 53d street, and Lake Park avenue, coincides with a dry area which existed in the village of Hyde Park, and was continued as one of the conditions of the annexation of the village to Chicago in 1889.

Figures on Liquor Licenses.

The report of the supervising captains listed the number of places that possessed the 3.2 beer licenses, dealers who have made application for 1934 liquor licenses, and the number of places which may remain open all night, but must stop the sale of liquor at 1 o'clock. Cabarets and restaurants make up the last classification. The report shows that the Chicago avenue district is the night life center of the city, with 134 such places.

The Town Hall police district, which includes the Uptown territory, is shown to lead the city in outlaw establishments with 221 unlicensed saloons still operating. The district had 335 licensed 3.2 beer dispensaries, as compared to 110 places that have applied for 1934 liquor licenses.

179 Outlaw Saloons Shown.

The Fillmore district followed in the number of unlicensed and unclosed saloons, with 179 outlaw places, the Racine district had 158, Brighton Park 150, and the loop 120.

The loop area, which led the list in the number of 1933 beer licenses, dropped to third in the number of 1934 liquor applications, with a total of 194. Ninety places have been closed in the loop since the first of the year. The district is said to have 120 outlaw saloons.

The New City police district led the list for the highest number of 1934 applications with a total of 263, while the Shakespeare avenue district was second in this classification, with 224.

The All-Chicago Civic and Protective Federation, Inc., made up of north, west and south town federations, yesterday went on record as favoring home rule for Chicago in liquor control.

"If this great cosmopolitan city of ours, the second largest in population in the United States, were given a square deal [and more men to fight for it like Mayor Kelly] in the number of representatives in the senate and house at Springfield we would not have to argue, harangue and prolong a matter of liquor control with a citizen of Chicago who occupies a seat of government 200 miles away," the resolution said.

"We believe that the city council and its chairman, our present mayor, are very capable of making laws sufficient and intelligent enough to guide and control liquor in this city, and we protest any outside interference in the management, control or operation of our business men in this regard."

KILLS HIMSELF IN HOTEL ROOM.

John Myhre, 63 years old, shot and killed himself early yesterday in his room in the Adlir hotel, 37 East Harrison street. Police were told that he had been despondent over ill health.

MINNESOTA SENATE PASSES RUM CONTROL MEASURE, 49 TO 16

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 4.—(AP)—The Minnesota senate today passed a bill to provide for controlling liquor sales in the state. The vote was 49 to 16.

Under the measure, liquor may be sold by the bottle or by the drink. Sales by bottles would be permitted in drug stores, general food stores and special liquor stores in the larger cities, while municipal stores may be established in the small towns. A commissioner appointed by the governor would regulate licenses and all bottled sales.

Sales by the drink would be permitted in restaurants, hotels and clubs in all cities, except in restaurants in towns under 5,000 population.

SENATORS READY TO CONFIRM JOB OF MORGENTHAU

Huey Long Withdraws His Opposition.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Confirmation of the nomination of Henry Morgenthau Jr. to be secretary of the treasury was virtually assured today. The senate finance committee favorably reported his name to the senate. The name was placed on the executive calendar, from which it is expected it will be taken Monday and approved.

Little or no objection is anticipated to the Morgenthau confirmation. Senator Long of Louisiana questioned Mr. Morgenthau this morning in an executive session of the committee just after the President sent the secretary's name to the senate together with a large number of other nominations.

Long Drops Objections.

A little later on the floor the Louisiana senator withdrew any objection he may have had.

The Morgenthau confirmation was discussed on the floor when Chairman Harrison of the finance committee announced that the committee had unanimously vised the name.

"All of us young men live to learn," Senator Long said, "and I think the secretary of the treasury will profit by his experience in taking income matters up publicly. He probably will not do so again, and I shall not object to his appointment.

"There were handed me newspaper reports of statements Mr. Morgenthau had made with regard to settlements pending in the internal revenue bureau which, as I understand the law, were irregular and, I think, more or less unwise."

"I cannot permit the statement that Mr. Morgenthau violated any law in making certain statements to pass unnoticed," Senator Harrison [Dem., Miss.] interjected, "because I do not think there was much difference of opinion among the members of the committee with reference to that point. I believe that I have never seen any man appear before a committee who made a finer impression on the members than did Mr. Morgenthau. The vote was unanimous in favor of his confirmation."

New Silver Bill Is Based on Bryan's 16 to 1 Ratio

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Unsatisfied with President Roosevelt's silver purchase program, western free silverites in both houses of congress today began a concerted drive for bimetallism. They want coinage of silver at the Bryan ratio of 16 to 1.

Senate leaders of the movement, Senators Burton K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.] and William H. King [Dem., Utah], called on President Roosevelt early in the day with a new plea that he restore silver to a full status as currency basis. Emerging from the White House, both senators said they were "well pleased" with the interview. Mr. Wheeler declared he did not think the President has said his last word on silver.

Sends Bill to Senate.

Senator King, it was learned, hastened from the White House conference to the capitol. There he promptly introduced a bill in the senate calling for the free coinage of silver at a 16 to 1 ratio and the repeal of that section of the Thomas amendment giving the President power to coin silver at a ratio of his own choosing.

Meanwhile, in the house of representatives, a self-styled western silver bloc, consisting of congressmen from eight Rocky mountain silver producing states, adopted a resolution calling for substantially the same legislation as that proposed by Senator King.

In addition, the house group decided on a definite campaign of log rolling to get votes behind their program.

Names Committee of 5.

The "silver bloc" named a committee of five, headed by Representative John Martin [Dem., Colo.], to work on the congressional delegations from nonsilver producing states in an effort to line up their votes for free silver legislation. The method of procedure, it was indicated, will be to approach the steering committees of each district delegation, such as that for the cotton states, that for the oil states, and so on, with an offer of silver state support for the respective areas' pet legislation in return for support in the silver drive.

Despite the renewed activity by the house and senate western silverites, Senate Leader Joseph Robinson [Dem., Ark.] declared after a White House conference he anticipated no silver legislation in the near future. Nor were a number of eastern silver advocates in the house, including Chairman Andrew Somers [Dem., N. Y.] of the coinage committe, in sympathy with the new drive.

Bonus Question Up Again.

The Democratic leadership in the lower body, however, began today an effort that probably will result shortly in the abrogation of the present discharge rule, under which the names of 145 representatives on a petition may force bills from committee to the floor of the house. Such a petition already has been started by soldiers' bonus advocates in behalf of legislation to pay the bonus now in full. House leaders are understood to fear that the silver advocates may find sufficient support to force consideration of a silver bill against the administration's wishes. A caucus of the Democratic party is to be held within a few days, it was indicated, to test sentiment regarding the discharge rule.

KELLY, GOVERNOR AGREE ON LIQUOR; NO BAR DRINKING

Double Board to Pass on Appeals.

Kelly also expressed opposition to bars, but pointed out that the Chicago city council is not with him in his stand.

Kelly Gives Ideas of Saloon.

Both the governor and mayor defined the difference between the "old saloon" and the present tavern as "the way they are run."

"Saloon to me means that drunks are sold more drinks, bartenders are told to write charges on ice, drunks are kicked out into the snow, and everything is hidden from view of the street," Mayor Kelly asserted. "Speakeasies, beer flats and such things will return as under prohibtion unless a liberal construction is placed on interpretation of the law. The final analysis of enforcement will rest on who heads the government."

REPORT CHIEFS O. K. $8 CUT FOR MILK DRIVERS

A meeting between Chicago dairy distributors and representatives of the milk wagon drivers' union in Hotel La Salle ended late last night with unconfirmed reports that the union chiefs had agreed to recommend to the drivers that they accept a weekly pay cut of $8.

If this is true the men will vote on the proposition next week, probably Monday night. The drivers are now getting $40 a week. It was proposed last week that they take a $10 slash, but this suggestion was vetoed. The $8 cut was next advanced. It is said that if the drivers accept any sort of substantial cut they will insist on a reduction in their union dues.

Spokesmen for the drivers last night were Leslie G. Goudie, Fred Croth, and John Smith, who compose a special joint committee of the teamsters' brotherhood with which the drivers' union is affiliated.

Earlier in the day the distributors and negotiators from the Pure Milk association, composed of 18,000 farmers who provide most of the city's fluid milk supplies, met in the Great Northern hotel and talked over the possibilities of the farm producers taking a cut in their compensation.

It is understood that the large dairies wish to slash the delivered retail price of milk to 9 cents, from the present 11 cents a quart, but are willing to do so only if both labor and farmers share in the reduced returns. The dairies' theory is that a 9 cent price would aid in eliminating competition by independent milk stores, which now sell at 9 or even 8 cents a quart.

STATE GAS TAX COLLECTIONS IN YEAR 29 MILLION

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Gasoline tax collections, for the calendar year of 1933, announced today by J. M. Braude, assistant to Director Joseph J. Rice of the department of finance, were $29,162,345.61, as compared with $28,785,852.51, an increase of $376,493.10.

December collections for the seventh consecutive month of the year showed an increase over the corresponding months of 1932. Last month the revenue obtained from the gas tax was $2,349,557.41, as against $2,202,174.82 for December, 1932.

During the first five months of the year, collections showed a substantial decrease as compared with 1932, but at the end of the five months there was a pickup in revenue which, during the following seven months, was more than sufficient to overcome the decreased revenue of the five months period.

Music Store Owner Fires on Robbers; Saves Radio

One of three window smashers was believed to have been wounded last night when Joseph Mermel fired on them as they broke a window in his music store at 1800 West 18th street. As two of the men carried a radio, which they had just stolen from the store, to their waiting car, Mermel fired. One of the men fell and was dragged to the car by his companion. All got away.

MR. BORCIA SEEKS TO APOLOGIZE; LANDS IN CELL

The 1 o'clock curfew for saloons was clamped on tightly in the Sheffield avenue police district this morning, with sad results for John Borcia, said to have a police record.

Acting on orders of Capt. William J. O'Brien, Lieut. Steve Barry and a squad made the rounds, warning saloon owners that any infraction of the closing law would mean a recommendation for the revocation of licenses. At 2827 North Clark street Lieut. Barry found a saloon operating after 1 o'clock. This place is said to be frequented by politicians.

Inside Barry came upon Borcia. Lieut. Barry said later he suspected Borcia of being the real owner of the saloon. He ordered the place closed. Later Borcia appeared at the Sheffield avenue station, seeking, he said, to "apologize" to Barry. The lieutenant wasn't in, and Borcia left. But he was picked up on the street nearby by a cruising detective bureau squad headed by Sergt. Andy Kiernan, and locked up at the station.

BEGIN CHOOSING JURY TO HEAR RACKET TRIAL

18 Defendants Charged with Conspiracy.

Eighteen defendants, eleven defence attorneys, and a battery of assistant state's attorneys crowded into the Criminal court of Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan yesterday to start the long awaited racket conspiracy trial. The defendants are charged with cospiracy to stifle trade by bombings, strikes, intimidation, slugging, and acid throwing.

The trial is the first in which the state has attempted to show the combination of politics, racketeering labor leaders, and gangland to prey upon legitimate business. Successful prosecution of the case, the state holds, would result in a death blow to the gangster, who, with his liquor profits gone, has made a last stand in the racket field.

Ald. Nelson a Defendant.

Principal among the defendants in the case, which is aimed at racketeering in the cleaning and dyeing, carbonated beverage, and linen supply industries, are Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th]; Benjamin M. Squires, economist and once czar of the Chicago cleaning and dyeing industry; Aaron Sapiro, New York attorney and trade organizer, and Morris I. Kaplan, counsel for several Chicago trade organizations.

When preliminary motions were disposed of, a special venire was called and the selection of a jury began. With each side entitled to 180 peremptory challenges and each of the defense attorneys insistent on a part in questioning prospective jurors, the completion of the jury is expected to consume many days.

In his questioning of veniremen Special Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber indicated that labor union affiliations of any kind would be sufficient cause to bring a challenge from the state. Arthur Raaf, 1307 West 81st street, the second venireman questioned, was excused when he told the prosecutor that he is a member of the Bricklayers' union and knows Ald. Nelson by reputation.

Free Use of Challenges.

Free use of peremptory challenges was indicated when the state excused two of the first men to enter the jury box. When the court adjourned late in the afternoon not a juryman had been accepted by either side.

Attorney Floyd Thompson, representing Ald. Nelson, opened the day's hearing with a demand that his client be allowed to stand trial without a jury. Mr. Raber objected and the motion was overruled as were other preliminary motions of the defense. Among them was the familiar plaint that the names making up the venire had been illegally drawn.

Judge Finnegan, after disposing of these motions, discovered that the seating arrangement for defendants and attorneys was far too meager to accommodate the defense battalion in the present case. He called a recess while court attaches brought extra tables and chairs.

Attorneys in Huddle.

The defense attorneys huddled together at the tables in the center of the room with the array of prosecution talent. The defendants, with the exception of Dr. Squires, took their places in chairs lined against the east wall of the courtroom.

Dr. Squires, a professor at the University of Chicago, chose to sit on the first row of the benches reserved for spectators. Ald. Nelson, who is a lawyer, took a chair at the attorneys' table, but made no effort to join in the defense.

On the defense staff were some of the leading attorneys of the city, including Floyd Thompson, who is a former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme court; Benedict J. Short, Joseph Harrington, James McShane, and William R. Fetzer, former Municipal judge.

Four of the defendants named in the original indictment were dismissed from the trial with the mark "not apprehended" on the court record. They are Al Capone, gangster; Murray Humphries, fugitive public enemy, and Sam Ginsberg and Dave Ostran, minor figures in the labor field.

The government refused to return Capone from Atlanta penitentiary, where he is serving a ten year term for income tax evasion, and the other three have not been arrested since their indictment.

One Is Seriously Ill.

Another defendant, Mortimer Cook, business agent of the Laundry Drivers' union, dropped out of the trial when physicians' reports showed that he is seriously ill with heart disease.

The other defendants in the case who appeared in court ready for trial are:

AL BORIS, secretary and business agent of the Retail Cleaners' union.

JAMES P. GORMAN, president of the Retail Cleaners and Dyers' union and former labor commissioner of the Cleaners and Dyers' institute under Dr. Squires.

JOSEPH BUSH IWANIEC, president of the Laundry and Dye House Drivers' union, local 712.

GEORGE BENDELL, secretary and treasurer of the same union.

GEORGE KNOTT, vice president of the union.

ROGERT RADO, business agent of the union.

CHARLES GOLDSTEIN, another business agent of the union.

WALTER CROWLEY, president of the City Dye works, a private concern.

T. HENRY KLEIN, president of the Chicago Laundry Owners' association.

A. L. CANFIELD, president of the Canfield Beverage company.

JERRY DONOVAN, head of the Beverage Drivers' union.

JEAN FRANKS, business agent for the Retail Cleaners and Dyers' union.

BEN ABRAMS, business agent for the Inside Dye House Workers' union.

MICHAEL ROSE, field secretary of the Cook County Hand Laundry association.

The hearing will be resumed this morning.

Duke Sues His Niece for Libel

Article in Magazine

LONDON, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The duke of Westminster, who owns 600 acres of land in the heart of London, besides 30,000 elsewhere, gave society and the public something to talk about today by bringing suit for libel against his 28 year old niece, Lady Sibell Lygon.

The duke complains of an article written by Lady Sibell in a recent issue of the Oxford and Cambridge magazine, to which she is a contributor. W. G. A. Wayte, the magazine's editor, also was named as defendant, as well as the proprietors. Lady Sibell is the second daughter of the earl of Beauchamp.

A breezy time may be expected at the trial, for it was announced that the defendants have decided to obtain the services of Norman Birkett, K. C., one of the most searching examiners and cross-examiners of the English bar, to represent them. The date for the trial is uncertain.

BRITISH GASP AT SPENDING SPREE PLANNED FOR U. S.

Press Lauds Courage of Roosevelt.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 4.—President Roosevelt's vast financial program to restore prosperity to the United States as outlined in his budget message to congress today continues to stagger the London press.

The majority of commentators in tomorrow's papers, while greatly impressed by the President's bold proposals, express a pious hope that his beliefs will be justified.

The conservative Daily Telegraph suggests that providing "the whole recovery policy is a success," there is no reason why the President's expectations should be disappointed.

Refers to Deficit.

Referring to the formidable deficit estimates, the Telegraph adds:

"Obviously the position is one of immense gravity but there is nothing new in that. Mr. Roosevelt is leading the nation in a desperate fight for economic self-preservation and this is merely the translation into terms of government finance of the emergency of which all are conscious and which all are facing with unshaken courage."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express applauds the program.

"Mr. Roosevelt goes to war against the slump with warlike daring and wartime finance," an editorial asserts.

It compares the President's program with Russia's five year plan, adding: "If Mr. Roosevelt can harness the individual initiative and the organizing genius lacking in Russia to that Slav conception, he may get a long way forward."

Lauds Roosevelt Courage.

"If there is anything more impressive than this colossal deficit it is the equanimity and courage with which the President is facing it," declares Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail.

The liberal News-Chronicle points out that "in Great Britain we tried to end the crisis by balancing the budget. The President is trying to do the same thing by deliberately unbalancing it."

The conservative Morning Post regards Mr. Roosevelt's proposals to cover the two year deficit as "frankly inflationary," and "devotedly" hopes "for America's sake and our own that the history the President is so boldly making will be fraught with no untoward circumstances."

Judge Continues Hearing on Assessment Cut Plea

Judge Jarecki's hearing of the Chicago Real Estate board's petition asking that he order a 15 per cent cut in 1931 building valuations for homes and small flat buildings, concerning which Assessor J. L. Jacobs has been cross-examined by real estate board attorneys, was continued yesterday until this morning. Assessor Jacobs told Judge Jarecki that his staff had not completed preparing the answers to a four page list of questions concerning technical assessment procedure which was submitted to him by the attorneys for the board.

GERMANY ROUNDS UP THE UNFIT FOR OPERATING TABLE

Criminals Will Come First in Sterilization Drive.

BERLIN, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The vigilant eye of authorities charged with carrying out provisions of a national sterilization law turned today on criminals as a mammoth drive was started to round up the nation's hereditary incurables.

Upon the request of the interior ministry, the federal department of justice instructed all state departments of justice to report all hereditary defectives appearing in criminal courts to the proper authorities so that sterilization proceedings against them could be started without delay.

The creation of new eugenics courts, which will consider the cases of thousands of persons possibly subject to operations depriving them of reproductive powers, was left entirely to state governments.

Children Within Program's Range.

Only hereditary defectives among the criminals are subject to sterilization.

Dr. Arthur Guett, eugenics expert in the ministry of the interior, said that children as young as 10 years, women up to the age of 50, and men in even more advanced years are within the range of the program which is designed to increase the health of the German people.

He added that the work of the eugenics courts, set up under the law which became effective Jan. 1, would be confined mostly to children finishing school after the present "waiting list" is disposed of.

The 280,000 incurable inmates of Germany's public institutions will not be operated on, he said; only those "at large."

"In cases permanently committed to institutions," he continued, "there is no danger of propagation. We consider such cases as demanding urgent attention where propagation is likely to be imminent."

Bishop Fights to Retain Post.

HALLE, Germany, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Meeting here instead of at Berlin, Germany's Protestant state bishops waited hour after hour today upon Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller's telephone plea to delay action against him.

Charging that Mueller had shown unfitness for leadership, the bishops decided to convene for a "showdown" in the bitter church war.

Three times Bishop Mueller telephoned the meeting today via long distance, once at 11 a. m., again at 1 p. m., and the last time at 5 p. m. He pleaded with them to delay action until he had opportunity to reconstruct the recently resigned church cabinet in accordance with the wishes of the opposition.

When at last Bishop Mueller stated as one of his conditions that one Nazi German Christian leader must at all costs be included in the cabinet, the bishops adjourned until Friday.

When they meet again a complete schism in the church is freely predicted.

U. S. HALTS FLIGHT TO ROME; BALKS AT PROPELLER

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—A projected nonstop flight to Rome by Capt. George R. Pond and Cesare Sabelli was halted this afternoon by the department of commerce. Objection was made to the type of propeller with which their Bellanca monoplane is equipped.

Pond and Sabelli were warming up the motor at Floyd Bennett field when a representative of the department arrived. He announced the start would have to be postponed until the flyers installed a different type of propeller.

When the order came the flyers had donned the woollined leather flying suits, ready for flight in the plane that carried 727 gallons of gasoline for a flight of 4,700 miles. They also had 25 gallons of oil, as well as their own food—sandwiches, coffee, water, and orange and tomato juice.

Sabelli owns the plane, a Bellanca J-5 monoplane powered with a 350 horse power Wright motor and equipped with skyrocket wings with a total spread of 48 feet.

Lindbergh Intermediary Indicted on Gun Charge

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Irving Bitz, who, with Salvatore Spitale, was chosen by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to act as intermediary in the search for his kidnaped son, was indicted today on a charge of having jumped $25,000 bail last October when he was awaiting trial for carrying a pistol.

REGAN'S WIDOW NAMES SLAYERS OF HER HUSBAND

Killer's Kick Makes Her Talkative.

Mary Regan, young widow who saw her gambler husband, Michael Regan, alias Walsh, shot and killed in cold blood in her mother's home at 9223 Houston avenue on New Year's day, named his alleged slayers to police last night.

Regan was the first gang victim of the new year, and police saw a good augury for the rest of the year in the fact that a witness and injured party, in addition, was willing to talk. However, besides losing her mate, the 23 year old widow had another grievance. One of the killers had kicked her while busy sending slugs at her husband.

Picks Three as Slayers.

Those named by Mrs. Regan as the murderers, and who are now sought, were Matthew Breen and Albert Ciha, both with police records, and a young fellow known only as Pete. Their names were given to Capt. Michael Lee of the South Chicago station. However, no motive for killing Regan was offered by the widow. Contrarily—on the surface at least—there were reasons why they wouldn't. They were regarded as friends.

"Breen, my husband and I on several occasions went out to cabarets drinking," Mrs. Regan told Capt. Lee. "Moreover, Breen often came to our house. We thought he was a good friend. The two other fellows we knew, too. We had been out drinking with them before."

Stops Firing to Kick Her.

On the day of the killing the three men, Breen, Ciha, and Pete, according to Mrs. Regan, pushed their way into the Regan house, met Regan as he stood at his bedroom door clad in pajamas, his wife beside him, and opened fire. Ciha fired first, Mrs. Regan said, then Breen and Pete joined in. When she tried to stop them, she said, Breen, supposedly the family friend, interrupted his gun play for a moment to kick her in the stomach.

The alleged identifications complicate matters for police. Previously it had been thought Regan was affiliated with the Dillinger gang. Police no longer consider this a possibility.

USED CAR DEALER FIRST SENTENCED IN AUTO COURT

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Stolen, 48; recovered, 63; stripped, 14. [From police records for twenty-four hours ending at midnight Wednesday].

Ray Wittl, 37 years old, 2240 Clybourn avenue, the first defendant to be punished in the new Automobile court, was sentenced to ninety days in the Bridewell and fined $100 yesterday by Judge Joseph A. Graber. Wittl was sentenced for violation of the new state law which requires a second hand automobile dealer to have a license and to keep an accurate record of used parts bought and sold.

Wittl pleaded ignorance of the law, but he was sentenced after Policeman William Taub testified that the defendant had been placed on probation after selling stolen automobile tires.

CUBAN PRESIDENT TOLD TO GET OUT; TROOPS ON GUARD

Ultimatum Demands Reply Within 72 Hours.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Jan. 4.—A committee representing all counter-revolutionary organizations in Cuba today presented President Ramon Grau San Martin with an ultimatum. It demanded the government's resignation not later than Feb. 24, the anniversary of the beginning of the war of independence in 1895. The ultimatum demands an answer within 72 hours. It is reported President Grau is greatly disturbed.

Identities of members of the committee and the contents of the ultimatum were not divulged, but "grave consequences" were mentioned in the message.

"Rejection would be interpreted by the opposition as leaving a revolution as the only means of ousting the régime," the ultimatum is quoted as saying.

Leaders Are in United States.

Mario G. Menocal, Miguel Mariano Gomez, and Martinez Saenz, heads of the counter-revolutionary organizations, are in the United States.

As a result of the ultimatum, Col. Fulgencio Batista, chief of staff, ordered the army and navy mobilized to full strength. One thousand troops were sent to Santa Clara province, another 1,000 to Camaguey and Oriente provinces, and 1,500 to Matanzas. More soldiers will be dispatched tomorrow to strategic places where revolutionary expeditions are likely to land. Twenty-three planes are being prepared for military service and artillery pieces have been overhauled.

Dissension in the army was revealed when Batista announced 400 soldiers were discharged last week and 200 more today "because of underground work." However, he declared, he believed the majority would remain loyal to the government. Batista denied reports of serious mutinies and also that revolutionary expeditions had landed in Camaguey and Oriente provinces.

Five bombs exploded in Havana today. Seven persons were injured. Twelve other bombs exploded in cities and towns throughout the island.

To Return Confiscated Mills.

HAVANA, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The Ramon Grau San Martin government tonight prepared to return to the Cuban-American Sugar company, an American corporation, the Chaparra and Delicas sugar mill properties in Oriente province it confiscated two weeks ago.

A decree providing for turning back the mills, and certain affiliated properties, was being drafted. Secretary of Agriculture Carlos Hevia said he expected the president would sign it before the end of the week.

Meanwhile, public auction of the properties of the Cuban Cane corporation, including several large mills in Camaguey and Santa Clara province, to satisfy first mortgages in the amount of some $4,500,000 by American banks was tentatively scheduled for late this month.

VALERIE FRENCH AMONG TITLED BRITONS WHO ARE SEEKING DIVORCES

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The names of several titled persons appear in the list of divorce suits being brought next week.

Lady Brougham and Vaux, one of the most beautiful women in British society, formerly Valerie French, granddaughter of the Earl of Ypres, is bringing action against her husband, Lord Brougham and Vaux, who is defending.

Mrs. M. W. Ruthland, daughter of Lord Ashfield, head of London's transport system, is suing her husband, J. H. Rutland.

Charles Rhys, Conservative member of parliament and former secretary to Stanley Baldwin, and the son and heir of Lord Dynevor, is cited as corespondent in the suit Capt. Arthur Granville Soames is bringing against his wife, Mrs. Hope Mary Soames.

Lady Doverdale seeks a divorce from her husband, Lord Doverdale, and Lady Allerton wants her marriage to Lord Allerton dissolved. Miss Adrienne Brune, musical comedy actress, seeks a divorce from her actor husband, Arthur Pusey.

FEDERAL LYNCH LAW PROPOSED BY DEMOCRATS

Wagner and Costigan Offer Measure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—A Democratic anti-lynching bill seeking to give force to the denunciation of lynching contained in President Roosevelt's message to congress was introduced in the senate today by Senators Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.] and Edward P. Costigan [Dem., Colo.].

The measure intends that the federal government shall invade state jurisdictions whenever state and local officials fail or refuse to prevent a lynching or assault or to punish for the commission of such an offense. As the legal avenue for such an invasion of the states, the bill seeks to invoke the 14th amendments guarantee of protection of life and of equal protection of the laws.

That the senators attempt to use federal force to curb the recent wave of lynchings did not have full administration support was indicated when Attorney General Cummings explained that it was difficult to show wherein a lynching was other than a state offense. He pointed to the large body of legal opinion which holds that federal agencies of enforcement may not assume jurisdiction in cases of intrastate offenses or violence except when called upon to do so by state officials.

The measure provides a federal penalty of five years' imprisonment, or $5,000 fine or both for any officer failing to exercise diligence in preventing or punishing mob violence, and imprisonment of from five years to life for any state officer who affirmatively abets such mob violence. Federal courts are given jurisdiction where state instrumentalities give evidence of failure, and any county in which a lynching occurs is to be liable for a $10,000 fine, to be devoted to the victim's family.

MUSSOLINI, SIMON AGREE TO LIMIT DISARM PARLEY

Put Ban on Discussions of Impractical Proposals.

ROME, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini and Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, reached full agreement tonight on a policy of abandoning disarmament proposals incapable of being put into effect now.

An official communique said the two statesmen favored abandonment of such measures and adoption of others that offered practical fulfillment.

The communique was issued after a banquet and reception given for Il Duce and Sir John by Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Italy.

"Complete Accord."

"Il Duce and Sir John Simon are in complete accord," said the statement, "in recognizing that it is absolutely indispensable that disarmament discussions come to a conclusion quickly.

"All ideals and proposals that do not embody elements that are practical and capable of prompt realization should be abandoned.

"The discussions should be guided toward those objectives that can be considered as mature in international public opinion and which would be likely to meet the approval of interested states."

On League Reform.

On the subject of reforming the league of nations, which the Italian Fascist viewpoint holds necessary, the Communique merely said that Il Duce outlined to Simon his ideas to assure "better efficiency" at Geneva and to enable the league to "fulfill its purposes."

There was no mention of any definite plan for either league reform or disarmament having been discussed by the two. The meetings were described as more in the nature of exchanges of opinion.

The premier and the British visitor, in continued efforts to find a solution to the Franco-German disarmament impasse, talked alone for an hour and a quarter this afternoon, carrying further the conversations on international problems begun yesterday.

In talks with Sir John, Mussolini's attitude was described as being that without German participation further sessions of the disarmament conference at Geneva would not only be useless but dangerous.

In connection with the Mussolini-Simon talks, semi-official circles heartily welcomed news that President Roosevelt expressed willingness in his congressional speech to coöperate in any practical disarmament plans.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The forum of the Cook County League of Women Voters at the Palmer house will be held Jan. 13, and not tomorrow, as stated yesterday.

FRENCH WORRIED

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 4.—The French government is awaiting uneasily the outcome of the conversations in Rome between Premier Mussolini and Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, dealing with proposed reform of the league of nations and the Franco-German disarmament deadlock.

Sir John's visit to Italy has been represented as merely for the purpose of gathering information, but there is plenty of evidence that Paris fears that Mussolini will persuade the British minister to favor granting concessions on armaments to the Germans, which would be antagonistic to the recent French reply to Chancellor Hitler's proposal for direct Franco-German negotiations.

Simon Not to Stop at Paris.

Whatever is the fact, it was announced tonight that Sir John will not stop in Paris on his way back to London tomorrow. At the same time Sir R. H. Campbell, representing the British embassy in Paris, called at the Quai d'Orsay and had a long talk with M. Leger, general secretary of the foreign ministry. It was presumably to acquaint the French with what took place at Rome yesterday, and today French political circles are reserved about the Rome conversations.

It is suggested in one section of the press here, however, that the British are outlining a plan to the French whereby all powers interested in disarmament would meet at Rome Jan. 15, and it is hinted this was the purpose of Campbell's visit.

This plan is interpreted here as meaning the Germans and French are not expected to get together on any direct negotiations on disarmament in spite of what is said to be the conciliating tone of the French reply to Hitler's arms demands. The Rome meeting would apparently also be a substitute for the league disarmament council at Geneva on the same date.

WAITS REPORT ON COPS IN SALOON SHOOTING CASE

Commissioner of Police Allman was waiting yesterday for a report from Capt. Martin O'Malley of Hudson avenue station before taking any action against Sergts. Thomas J. Kelly and James J. Penny, who were in a saloon, the Two Bit club, on the second floor at 1219 North Clark street, when a shooting occurred outside early Wednesday.

The wounded man, Eugene Trupp, 31 years old, 4435 Malden avenue, was shot by Jerry Quinn, alias Healey, ex-convict and confessed mail thief. At the Alexian Brothers' hospital, where Trupp was taken, it was said yesterday that he had a 50-50 chance for recovery. Quinn is being held at Hudson avenue station pending the outcome of Trupp's wound.

Capt. O'Malley said yesterday that the two sergeants were sent to the saloon on his orders to see if the place was obeying the 1 a. m. closing law and had a license. They did not witness the shooting, being inside talking to the proprietor at the time. Capt. O'Malley said that he would not file charges against the two. Supervising Captain Thomas Condon of the north side demanded that charges be filed, but unless Capt. O'Malley files them it is believed the case will be droppgd.

The saloon did not have a license and has been closed.

SANITARY BOARD JOINS PROTEST ON SEAWAY PACT

Unanimous Resolution Hits Treaty.

The board of trustees of the sanitary district yesterday joined in the sentiment that is growing in the middle west against ratification by the United States senate of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty. A formal resolution of protest against the treaty, introduced by Trustee Ross A. Woodhull, was adopted unanimously.

The sanitary district's protest is based upon the clause in the treaty with Canada which limits diversion of water from Lake Michigan at 1,500 cubic second feet, the ultimate flow fixed by the decree of the United States Supreme court. Opponents of the treaty consider this clause objectionable for these two reasons:

[1] Lake Michigan is a wholly domestic body of water over which Canada should have no jurisdiction.

[2] A diversion of 1,500 cubic second feet at Chicago would not insure a sufficient flow for navigation in the Illinois waterway.

Text of Protest.

The resolution of the sanitary district reads:

"Resolved, that the board of trustees of the sanitary district of Chicago in regular meeting assembled, do hereby protest against Lake Michigan being considered as international waters and against any phase of any treaty which may take away from the congress of the United States and the secretary of war the right as a nation to determine diversion from Lake Michigan, which lake can in no way be considered as international water and which we as trustees believe and hope will never be so determined through treaty or otherwise."

In view of the position of two former chiefs of army engineers, Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin and Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, that a minimum of 5,000 feet of diversion would be required for navigation in the Illinois waterway, opponents of the treaty yesterday produced figures on the 1933 tonnage in this connecting link between the great lakes and the Gulf of Mexico.

Tonnage 111,285 to 4,714.

Total tonnage in the Illinois waterway, the link from Lockport to Utica which was not opened until the middle of last June, was 111,285 up to Jan. 1, as against 4,714 during 1932. Total tonnage for the entire Illinois river was 293,472, as compared with 189,176 during 1932. The increase in the Illinois river was thus 104,296 tons, or almost 60 per cent over 1932.

This increase was in spite of the fact that the Illinois waterway was open only half of the year and there was trouble with some of the bridges for several weeks after the official opening. The increase also was made despite a loss of 60,000 tons of cement over previous years, because of decrease in building. Present diversion at Chicago averages around 6,400 feet, and opponents of the Canadian seaway treaty do not believe a maximum of 1,500 feet will permit sufficient navigation to justify the expenditure of $100,000,000 which the Illinois waterway has already cost.

ILLINOIS MEDICS MAP RELIEF FOR NEEDY DOCTORS

Federal relief for destitute physicians, and at the same time medical care for persons on the relief rolls, has been planned by a committee of the Illinois Medical society, headed by Dr. Philip H. Kreuscher, and officials of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, it was learned yesterday. The plan is ready to be placed in operation as soon as approval is received from Washington.

The plan is to have the relief committee in each county register the names of all needy physicians. Persons on the relief rolls in need of medical care will apply to this committee, which will call one of the registered physicians.

The physician will receive a percentage of normal fees for his work, between one-third and one-half. He will be paid by the federal relief administrator.

Cafe Owner Shot in Gun Duel with Bandits

Charles Dvorak, proprietor of a restaurant at 4279 West 26th street, was shot in the shoulder late yesterday when he resisted the attempt of two gunmen to rob him. When the two entered the restaurant and ordered Dvorak to hold up his hands he took a revolver from beneath the counter and opened fire. The bandits fled, after exchanging shots. At St. Anthony's hospital Dvorak told police that he was certain he had hit one.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The duke and duchess of Brabant, heirs to the Belgian throne, expect the birth of a third child this spring. The duke, Prince Leopold, and his wife, the former Princess Astrid of Sweden, were married in 1926. Their children at present are the 4 year old Princess Josephine and the 3 year old Prince Baudouin.

CANAL BOARD'S COSTS $835,000 LESS THAN 1933

Pass 1934 Budget of $101,993,697.

The sanitary district trustees at a meeting yesterday unanimously adopted the 1934 budget totalling $101,993,697. The major portion of the appropriations are for carrying out the sewage disposal program with federal public works funds. The corporate, or operating fund of the district shows a reduction of $835,355 from the 1933 total of $3,273,389.

During the year the district intends to spend, according to the budget plan, $61,638,397. The remaining $40,357,300 in appropriations is for work after 1934.

The total estimated revenues of $124,664,002 from back taxes and other available assets exceed the proposed expenditures by $22,670,305. Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the finance committee, who made up the budget, pointed out that the employes are paid up to date.

Corporate Appropriations.

The corporate fund appropriations were listed as follows:

Department of engineering—
Engineering divisions	$ 195,710
Electrical division	1,521,405
Maintenance and operation	1,053,022
Department of law—
Law division	285,272
Real estate division	10,693
Department of the clerk—
Clerical division	161,754
Purchasing division	6,372
Department of the treasury	9,480
Board of trustees	77,050
General and fixed charges	3,817,245
Total	$7,738,063

The reduction in the corporate fund was brought about through economies adopted by the board in 1933. The measures included salary cuts, reduction in the number on the pay roll and staggering of the time of employes.

$42,000,000 for Construction.

Appropriations for the government construction bond fund totaled $42,252,643 while the item for the bond and interest fund on obligations already incurred amounted to $48,811,098. Other items included: residue construction bond fund, $1,748,921; land sales fund, $60,787; land damage fund, $465,557, and annuity and benefit fund, $916,625.

The budget in its final form is $2,388,096 higher in total appropriations than the tentative draft completed by the finance committee three weeks ago. Trustee Woodhull explained that, at the time of the tentative budget, unpaid bills and other items such as supervision over CWA workers and the residue bond fund total could not be estimated.

4 ROBBERS WITH BUSHEL BASKET ROB GEM STORE

Four robbers equipped with a bushel basket as well as shotguns and pistols raided the City Radio and Jewelry store at 6403 South Halsted street last night and after terrorizing four men in the place fled with diamonds, watches, and other jewelry valued at $5,000.

One of the bandits, entering the store, fired once into the ceiling to show he was in earnest and then kept the owners, Samuel Schrager and Charles Silverman, and two clerks covered while the other robbers broke windows and show cases, dumping the contents into the bushel basket. The four men escaped in an automobile.

SMASH WINDOW, STEAL COATS.

Two burglars smashed the show window of the Quality dress shop, 1109 East 63d street, early yesterday and escaped with a dozen coats.

RESTORE HARVEY CWA PROJECT TO CITY OFFICIALS

Chase Investigation Fails to Show Graft.

Officialdom at Washington was revealed yesterday as the prime mover in an investigation of the new sewer project in the city of Harvey, which is being financed largely by CWA funds. Frank D. Chase, director of the CWA for Illinois, who announced Wednesday that he had taken the project entirely out of the hands of Harvey Republican officials, yesterday changed his plan and prepared to write a letter of apology to the officials.

Mr. Chase said he had completed a personal investigation of the management of the project and had decided to take over only one phase of the work, the operation of a cement tile plant. The rest of the work will remain in charge of the Harvey officials as before.

Learn of Washington Influence.

Washington's influence on the investigation of the $730,000 project—$533,982 of which is to be paid from federal funds—was learned from Mr. Chase. He said that complaints against the way the project was being run were received simultaneously from the office of Harry L. Hopkins, federal administrator of the CWA in Washington, and from his own inspectors. He said he did not know where Mr. Hopkins had received his information.

From other sources it was learned that material dealers, who had been unsuccessful in bidding on the project, had written to influential friends in Washington, suggesting that graft abounded in the Harvey project. After receiving the complaint from Washington, and his inspectors' reports, Mr. Chase announced he was taking the project away from Harvey officials.

Mr. Chase said that he planned to investigate reports that Arthur Haines, president of the Calumet union drainage district No. 1, his two brothers and a son are employed on the project in violation of the local CWA policy. They will be discharged if their employment is found to violate such policy, Mr. Chase said.

Covers Three Points.

"My investigation of the Harvey sewer project covered three points," Mr. Chase said. "First, we were not satisfied that the purchase of materials was done in compliance with CWA rules. We shall review past purchases and watch future purchases closely. The methods of buying on this project have been extremely informal.

"Second, the manufacture of cement tile for the sewer was totally inadequate. I have placed a competent superintendent in charge of the plant to provide enough tile to finish the job in the time allowed. Third, we found the engineering of the project, the handling of the men, the pay roll and timekeeping work, and the distribution of materials and equipment entirely satisfactory.

Shows No Misconduct.

"I am writing to Mayor Bruggeman of the results of my investigation, which does not show any misconduct on his part, or on the part of City Engineer Paul G. Robinson. For that reason I am leaving them in charge of the work, except for the cement tile plant, where I feel that my superintendent will do a better job than William Voss, city commissioner of public works. We intend to review all material purchases and to cancel any orders that are out of line. I am expressing my appreciation to Mayor Bruggeman for the efforts he and his subordinates have made on the job.

"One of my inspectors and an assistant will help City Engineer Robinson complete the work."

50 CWA WORKERS STORM BERWYN RELIEF OFFICE

Fifty CWA workers in Berwyn, who had been taken off of the relief rolls but had not received any pay for several weeks yesterday afternoon stormed the office of the Berwyn welfare association at Windsor and Oak Park avenues demanding food. They were told their relief had been terminated, but their checks would be mailed this week.

Chief Auditor Peters, who is in charge of distributing pay to the CWA workers, said yesterday that pay would be distributed this week, bringing all pay rolls up to date. Only a few, if any, projects will have their back pay delayed beyond this weekend, he said. When that occurs it will be due to the inability of the employer to do his bookkeeping, Peters said.

Another check on pay rolls was instituted yesterday by the CWA. Hereafter the timekeeper on each project will have to make out a report on the number of men at work, and how recently they have been paid, and mail it to the CWA headquarters at 10 South La Salle street not later than one hour after work is started. These reports will reach headquarters the same day, and permit quick remedial measures to be put into effect.

CWA APPROVES AIRPORT JOBS IN THREE CITIES

Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois civil works administration, announced yesterday the approval of airport projects in Danville, Dixon and Galesburg. Work will be given to 337 men on these projects, which were developed with the assistance of L. P. Bonfoey of Quincy, chairman of the Illinois Aeronautics commission.

The Danville municipal airport will be refinished, a fence built and an automobile parking space provided by 120 men in a period of seven weeks. Wages will amount to $14,800 and materials, $2,315. The municipal airport at Dixon will be refinished and flying hazards removed by 142 men working seven weeks. Wages will amount to $20,736 and materials $5,179. The town has provided an additional $10,000 for the repairs of hangars and the administration building.

The Galesburg airport will be refinished by 75 men working two months. Wages will amount to $12,730 and materials, $2,122.

Wife Doubts 4 a.m. Baseball Story; Husband Hits Her

Judge Rudolph F. Desort yesterday granted an uncontested divorce in the Superior court to Mrs. Blanche Lenza, 3733 West 60th street. Questioned by her attorney, Norman Becker, Mrs. Lenza testified that her husband, Fred, a salesman, returned home at 4 a. m., told her he had been playing baseball and that when she expressed doubt of his story he struck her.

URGE EMPLOYERS TO RETURN THEIR RELIEF PLEDGES

Employers were asked yesterday by Charles W. Bergquist, chairman of the trades and industries division of the community fund campaign, to complete the canvass of their establishments and turn in the pledges of employes as soon as possible. More than 1,100 concerns that have taken pledge cards for their workers have not yet reported, Mr. Bergquist said. These represent at least half the employed persons who may be expected to contribute.

"We want to bring the fund to a close as soon as possible," Mr. Bergquist said. "I am sure the concerns which have not reported realize the urgency of the situation."

Subscriptions received in the campaign total 4,521. Many represent the pledges of thousands of employes in the larger industries. Contributions may be sent to the community fund at 111 West Washington street. The $4,000,000 fund is needed to aid 102 private welfare organizations in the city.

FINED $200 ON FRAUD CHARGE.

Andrew Wolek, 20 years old, 631 North Paulina street, was fined $200 yesterday on a charge of defrauding the Blackstone women's wear shop, 609 North Michigan avenue, $165. Wolek is a former employe of the shop.

Rock Island Tax Values $1,467,588 Below 1932

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 4.—(Special.)—Assessed valuation of real estate and personal property, exclusive of capital stock and railway and telegraph property, decreased $1,467,588 in Rock Island county for 1933 as compared to 1932. Total assessed valuation of real estate and personal property for 1933 was $61,980,381.

ICE PACK CLOSES IN ON BYRD'S SHIP IN POLAR WATERS

Admiral Sees No Land on 150 Mile Flight.

ABOARD ADMIRAL BYRD'S FLAGSHIP IN THE ANTARCTIC, Jan. 4.—(AP)—(Via Mackay Radio.)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd held his flagship hove to in the ice pack today, debating his next move after a dramatic 150 mile flight through snow squalls, fog, and low hanging clouds to latitude 72.30 south.

A fresh snow squall assailed the vessel. The pack appeared to be pressing in, and the engine room gang had steam up in two boilers, so that the ship was prepared to move if conditions changed much for the worse.

The flagship still lay in the same lake of open water from which the twin engined seaplane took off yesterday. Her position was approximately latitude 69.57 south and longitude 116.33 west.

Finds No Land on Flight.

In Admiral Byrd's opinion yesterday's flight may have the effect of clearing up the mystery of the Pacific quadrant and extinguishing the conception of the Ross sea as a sea enclosed on three sides by continental Antarctica.

It would appear now, Admiral Byrd said, that the bulge of unknown white space on the map which seemingly encloses the Ross sea is just water borne ice and that no land exists hereabouts.

The experiences of the flight together with events that followed showed that any further aerial enterprises in this area, at least at this time of the year, will be attended with great risks.

Two hours after the plane landed the entire horizon was blotted out by a snowstorm. The open water in the ice pack, in which the plane made a landing, uncannily and suddenly filled with loose pack ice and drifting growlers.

Plane Hits Snow Squalls.

Any attempt at landing at this later period would have been dangerous. By midnight a white, luminous fog had swallowed up even the huge ice outcroppings 300 yards distant.

Chief Pilot Harold June said that yesterday's flight was "tough all the way."

"When we turned north," June said, "a whopping snowstorm was coming up due south of us and we didn't turn any too soon. More storms had closed in behind us, and we hit one snow squall after another for an hour on the homeward stretch.

"We couldn't fly higher than 200 feet because of snow and fog and the danger of ice forming on the wings. Low as we were there were periods when we lost sight of the water and pack below. The stuff was so thick we never saw the bergs until we were over them. If they had been in front of us we would never have seen them at all."

CITY AND SCHOOL BOND REFUNDING PLAN IN JEOPARDY

City Controller Upham yesterday said that the plan to refinance city and school board debt obligations that matured on Jan. 1 will fail unless more of the bondholders agree to exchange their bonds for refunding bonds. The plan contemplates the exchange of $15,000,000 refunding bonds for those that have matured, but so far only $12,000,000 of the matured bonds have been offered.

"If this refunding operation fails," said the controller, "the holders of these bonds will undoubtedly find their market value seriously affected, for the reason that they will not be considered legal investments for trust funds and savings banks and will not be eligible to secure postal savings deposits.

"In order to make the plan effective, it is suggested that the small percentage of bondholders who have not deposited their bonds should do so at once, either with the Harris Trust and Savings bank of Chicago or the Chase National bank of New York."

BRITISH TEACHERS LAUNCH WAR TO GET PAY REDUCTIONS BACK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 4.—A mass attack on members of parliament will be launched by women school teachers in an effort to secure a restoration of salary cuts imposed by the national government as an economy measure.

At a conference of the National Union of Women Teachers at Blackpool today the militant school marms supported a resolution urging an intensive campaign of lobbying in the house of commons and approaching members of parliament in their constituencies in an endeavor to obtain pledges to support restoration of the 10 per cent reduction of pay.

The government was severely reprimanded for increasing the expenditure in the fighting services and contributing $250,000 toward purchase of the 4th century code Sinaiticus, while teachers' cuts were not restored. All members of the union living in London and suburbs were urged to spend at least one evening weekly lobbying in parliament.

ASKS U. S. COURT TO ORDER QUIZ OF MIDDLE WEST

Receiver Seeks to Justify Rule.

the various receiverships, the petition said: "In Middle West there were no convenants assuring the holders of its long term indebtedness of any protection with regard to collateral; and second, Middle West was actively supervising the operation of many companies as above set forth, whereas the other two corporations were substantially investment trusts."

Satisfies All Parties.

Mr. McCulloch further stated that he has discharged his duties with impartiality and as far as he was informed to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, including both the creditors and the stockholders.

The statement issued by Attorney Golding on behalf of the noteholders said that the decision to begin work on reorganization of the company was reached several weeks ago. Proposals for reorganization and the lifting of the receivership were submitted by the committee to the large bank creditors and that an agreement was reached to begin immediately after the first of the year.

Attorney Golding declared that any change in the administration of the receivership would prevent such a move.

"It is unfortunate that charges of collusion and fraud should come at a time when a serious effort is being made to find a basis for reorganization," Golding said.

McCulloch Cites Progress.

Progress made in setting the finances of Middle West in order since the appointment of the receivers was cited by both Mr. McCulloch and Attorney Golding. They revealed the following facts on the company's financial position:

1. The company now has cash on hand of approximately $900,000, exclusive of $360,000 of United States government bonds, as compared with only $28,000 on the day the receivers were appointed.

2. The cash position of the subsidary companies improved to $15,676,000 on Dec. 23, 1933, a gain of over $9,000,000 since April, 1932.

3. Notes and accounts payable to banks and others have been reduced to $27,678,000 at the end of November, a reduction of over $16,000,000 in the last 18 months.

Mr. McCulloch said that it was essential to the welfare of the company and its 9,000 employés that the propriety of the receivership be confirmed by the court. The morale of the organization has been disturbed by the Evans' decision and the issue should be thrashed out to prevent further injury to the company, he said.

Man Who Swallowed His False Teeth Recovering

McLeansboro, Ill., Jan. 4.—(AP)—James Elben of McLeansboro was reported recovering in an Evansville, Ind., hospital today following the removal from the esophagus of his plate of artificial teeth, which he swallowed while sleeping.

FEDERAL CASH IN CORN BELT CALMS FARMERS

Holiday Strike Ends in Iowa and Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The farm holiday movement, which three months ago was sweeping over the agricultural states, threatening to become a national menace, is "busted," according to Judge L. B. Day of the Nebraska Supreme court. He has 1,000 acres of land in Boone county. He has just returned from inspecting that land.

"When I was out there in October," the judge said, "the county was ablaze with the farm holiday sentiment. But today when farm holiday meetings are held they don't amount to anything. You couldn't get a crowd if you offered a reward for every farmer who attended."

Similar Changes Elsewhere.

From northwest Iowa, the very hotbed of the movement, where Judge Bradley was dragged from the bench and threatened with lynching, and where 500 soldiers were necessary to keep order, comes the same sort of report. Out in Cheyenne county, Nebraska, where three months ago 2,500 farmers drove 300 miles to Lincoln to hear Milo Reno, instigator and national president of the holiday movement, make an address, the sentiment has so changed that when, just before Christmas, it was announced Reno would come from Des Moines, Ia., to speak at a meeting of the farmers, the response was so poor the meeting was canceled. Reno did not make the trip.

The downfall of the farm holiday movement is due to the "corn" money which the government is simply shoveling into Iowa and Nebraska. With cash money in their hands, the farmers forgot about the holiday movement.

Corn Money Brings Peace.

One of the best organized counties in Iowa, from the farm holiday point of view, was Sioux county. When the farmers' strike was in progress, all highway traffic in the county ceased. So did practically all business. Under the government corn loan plan more than $1,000,000 is being poured into that county, an average of over $40 for ever man, woman and child in the county.

Plymouth county, Iowa, was the scene of the attack on Judge Bradley, but $1,003,000 is being advanced to the corn producers of that county, $43 for every man, woman and child in the county, an average of more than $250 for every family, whether living in town or country.

In twelve counties in northeastern Nebraska, where the holiday movement was very strong, the government is advancing over $7,000,000 to the farmers on their corn.

A total of $20,000,000 has already been advanced by the government to the Iowa farmers on their corn and approximately $50,000,000 more will go into that state under the corn plan.

BRIDGES LINKING WISCONSIN TO IOWA ARE SOLD

Marquette, Ia., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The highway suspension bridges between here and Prairie du Chien, Wis., were sold at auction today at Prairie du Chien to W. H. Jackson of Pittsburgh for $170,000. Personal property was sold for $700 to Mr. Jackson. Both are subject to confirmation by the federal court at Madison Jan. 11. The bridges were built at a cost of nearly a million dollars and were opened to traffic in March, 1932. The bridge organization went into voluntary bankruptcy last January.

REVEAL THREATS TO KIDNAP THE CHILDREN OF SOCIETY COUPLE

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Threats have been made to kidnap the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Payson Viles. The Viles are socially prominent here, in Boston and in Augusta, Me.

The threats were made recently while Mrs. Viles was confined in a New York maternity hospital.

Payment of $20,000 was demanded. The Viles defied the threats and immediately communicated with members of the department of justice bureau of criminal investigation.

Mr. Viles is treasurer of the C. M. Rice Paper company of Portland and a director of the Augusta Trust company. He is associated in the timberland business with his father.

SPAIN MOVES TO MEND RELATIONS WITH VATICAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Jan. 4.—The first concrete step to patch up relations between the Spanish republic and the Vatican has been taken, it was learned today. Premier Alejandro Lerroux's government is reported to have asked Pope Pius to sanction the appointment of Leandro Pita Romero, present minister of foreign affairs, as ambassador to the Holy See.

Spain has been without a diplomatic representative at the Vatican since the fall of the monarchy. Early in the new regime Luiz de Zulueta, present ambassador to Berlin, was proposed by the republican government, but the nomination was rejected.

Pita Romero, who is likely to meet Vatican approval and who will have the task of initiating negotiations for a concordat, is a Galician politician who was formerly a monarchist.

PWAP ADVISORY COMMITTEE IS NAMED IN FULL

A complete list of the general advisory committee working with Walter Brewster, chairman of the public works art project in the Chicago region, was announced yesterday. They are Thomas E. Tallmadge, vice chairman; Jean Crawford Adams, Carl Buehr, William N. Eisendrath Jr., Frances Foy, Edmund Giesbert, Carter H. Harrison, John A. Holabird, Rudolph Ingerle, Chester Johnson, Edgar Miller, Paul Schulze, John Storrs, L. L. Valentine, Charles H. Worcester, and Emil Zettler.

Mrs. Increase Robinson is serving as clerk of the committee and receives applications by needy artists for employment. The headquarters of the PWAP is at 135 South La Salle street.

The general advisory committee is divided into several working committees, the most active at present being the technical committee, which comes in actual contact with the artists and passes on the merit of their work. The members of this group are Edgar Miller, chairman; Chester Johnson, Frances Foy, Jean Crawford Adams, Edmund Giesbert, Carl Buehr, John Storrs, Rudolph Ingerle, and Emil Zettler.

James Finds His Fatigue an Asset in This Case

After James Bexes, 18 years old, 1102 North Damen avenue, explained that he was tired from seeking work all day when he leaned against a plate glass window at 321 Madison street and broke the glass, Municipal Judge J. William Brooks yesterday dismissed a charge of malicious mischief against him.

Congress Blows Off Steam at Costly Rate to Taxpayer

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—It cost Uncle Sam and his taxpayers $3,899 a day to record the words of oratory uttered in congress during the fiscal year 1933. The annual report of the public printer, made public today, shows a total cost of $803,236 for printing the Congressional Record during the year, which covered 206 days of legislative activity.

And from the sale of the documents during the year the government got back $9,000, or less than two days' expenditure for printing. Most of the Records were distributed free by the congressmen whose words they contain, 35,000 copies being printed daily for gratuitous distribution to constituents.

Printed Large Volume.

Printing of the Record, however, was just a portion of the work done in recording the activities of the congress last year. In all, printing for the legislative establishment cost a total of $2,700,000, or $13,106 a day. This total, according to the report, was made up as follows:

Congressional Record, $803,236; publications for folding rooms, $479,831; publications for international exchange, $13,601; franked envelopes and document franks, $40,336; bills, resolutions, and amendments, $398,261; committee reports, $66,493; documents, $130,828; hearings, $378,467; miscellaneous, $390,492.

The total cost of all printing done by the federal printing office during the year was reported at $12,941,095. Among the largest items in the list were $1,357,038 for department of commerce printing and $1,607,460 for printing for the postoffice department.

In the five and a half months of the New Deal, the emergency agencies created by President Roosevelt have required the printing of 502,369,916 copies of various kinds of matter, the report stated. Of this total 11,059,388 items were colored posters, charts, tags, circulars, and similar material for propagandizing the recovery programs.

NRA Leads Long List.

Leading the list in its requirements was the National Recovery administration, which called for the printing of more than a hundred million pieces, including copies of the President's reëmployment agreement, consumers' cards, and blank code letters. The cost of NRA printing was estimated at above $200,000 for the five and a half month period.

The AAA had 109,239,900 pieces of matter printed during the period at a cost of $158,460, the report stated, including production control contracts mailed out to wheat, cotton, tobacco and corn-hog farmers throughout the country.

Mailing of printed matter relating to the various emergency agencies totaled as follows: NRA, 79,175,825 copies; AAA, 61,181,005 copies; NRS, 15,378,990 copies; CWA, 15,600,000 copies; FERA, 12,988,325 copies; RFC, 8,085,500 copies; FCA, 750,720 copies; HOLC, 501,000 copies, and others ranging from 49,000 to 449,000 copies each.

P.-T. A. NATIONAL PRESIDENT URGES U. S. AID SCHOOLS

Mrs. Hugh Bradford of Sacramento, Cal., president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, was the guest of the Chicago P.-T. A. and the save our schools committee in the Medical and Dental Arts building at 185 North Wabash avenue last night.

In a talk on school finances Mrs. Bradford said that if the schools fail, business will also fail. In voicing pleas for more adequate education, Mrs. Bradford declared that some school districts are already ten years in debt to the future. She urged federal aid for schools.

Other speakers were Mrs. Holland Flagler, head of the Illinois congress of Parent-Teachers, who presided; Mrs. C. H. Thorpe of Little Rock, Ark., national secretary; Mrs. B. I. Elliott, Portland, Ore., national treasurer; Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, Winnetka, first national vice president, and Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde, Chicago.

The executive committee of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, meeting yesterday at the Edgewater Beach hotel, issued a formal denial that its organization had any intention of censoring motion picture films.

PAY $300,000 IN TAX WARRANTS TO SCHOOL WORKERS

More than $300,000 worth of 1933 tax anticipation warrants was distributed yesterday to teachers and other school employés as payment of their salaries for the last half of April, 1933. Arthur Schweitzer, in charge of the warrant headquarters at 128 North Wells street, estimated that 3,000 persons had been given the warrants during the day. The total pay day amounts to $1,950,000. The warrants are in denominations of $25 and $50 and bear 6 per cent interest.

JAPAN TO SEEK TRADE TREATY WITH ROOSEVELT

Reciprocal Tariff Pact Is Aim of Mission.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 4. — Japan today swooped on President Roosevelt's statement that he probably would ask congress for authority to negotiate reciprocal tariff agreements with other nations like a hungry seagull swooping on a morsel.

Japanese leaders see in such agreements a way for the world to emerge from the prevailing depression. Highly lauding the statement, heads of the most important business organizations blame world-wide economic nationalism for much of the world's ills and are confident that the spirit of reciprocity, such as now shown by Mr. Roosevelt, will bring improvement.

Sends Trade Mission.

Japan has just been waiting for an overture along such lines. The government today immediately authorized Mitsui and Mitsubishi, Japan's two greatest business establishments, and the Yokohama Specie Bank, Ltd., to send six representatives to the United States for the purpose of conducting preliminary talks with Chargé d'Affaires Toshihiko Tuketomi at Washington and Consul General Kensuke Horinouchi at New York.

After that they will cooperate through United States official and commercial organizations and leading business men to investigate the possibilities of developing trade, especially through a reciprocal tariff agreement.

Leaders here contend that Japan's foreign trade this year depends more than ever upon the United States, especially since concerted campaigns to injure Japanese trade are being directed against Nippon. Consequently, observers declare that Japan will gladly meet the United States half way on any proposal.

Assails Economic Nationalism.

Commenting on the situation, Yunosuke Yasukawa, managing director of Mitsui, said:

"The present world-wide nationalism cannot continue permanently. World trade must inevitably return to a normal course and be based on reciprocity and the principle of give and take. Accordingly Mr. Roosevelt's idea to negotiate reciprocal tariffs is laudable and likely to help greatly world trade recovery. In fact, therein lies the way for the world to emerge from the prevailing economic depression."

Manzo Kushida, president of the board of directors of Mitsubishi, said:

"The future of silk, the backbone of Japanese business, depends entirely upon conditions in the Untied States. It must be pointed out that it may not be possible to stabilize prices in the immediate future. Accordingly, a careful study should be conducted to discover feasible fundamental measures to cope with the prevailing situation. It is to be hoped the government as well as traders will bend all efforts in this direction, as present indications are that many difficulties will be encountered. Japan must attempt to negotiate sincerely and in a spirit of reciprocity."

U. S. Cotton Exports Hit.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Jan. 4.—A new Indo-Japanese trade agreement has been reached which it is expected will mean an end to the recent boom in American cotton purchases resulting from Japan's boycott of Indian cotton, but which will still probably leave the demand for the American product higher than it was prior to the Indian boycott.

Japanese buyers are already in Bombay awaiting the lifting of the boycott and the purchases of American cotton will drop as buying in India is resumed.

But the larger importation of American cotton, though stimulated by low prices in 1932 and then by the boycott in 1933, was substantially a result of Japan's increasing output of better fabrics, for which American cotton is suitable.

Trade Figures Revealed.

The trade figures for the last four years reflect the progress. Japan's importation of raw cotton in 1930 in piculs [a picul equals 133 pounds] were: From India, 4,725,000; from the United States, 3,883,000.

In 1931 the United States took the lead with 5,231,000 piculs, while India rose to 4,808,000. In 1932 low prices accelerated the process and American cotton exports to Japan jumped to 9,101,000. India's dropped to 2,739,000. In the first eleven months of 1933 Japan bought 6,483,000 piculs from America and 3,976,000 from India.

The new Delhi agreement contemplates restoration of Japan's purchases from India to the average of the last five years. At the commencement of that period Japan used Indian and American cotton in the proportions of about five to four. Japan's new business, amounting to an increase of 500,000,000 yards between 1931 and 1933, largely consists in qualities for which American cotton is indispensable.

Still Need U. S. Cotton.

While Japanese producers continue to extend their sales of the better qualities they will still require large quantities of American cotton.

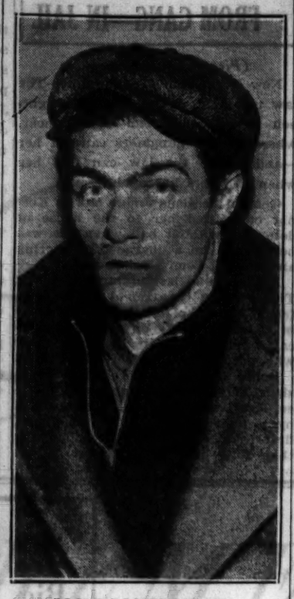
The Tokio council of the cotton federation has decided to accept the Delhi agreement and will terminate the boycott as soon as the Indian textile tariff is reduced from 75 to 50 per cent. Since September, when the boycott became really effective as previous contracts expired, Japanese purchases of Indian cotton have fallen steeply.

In August Japan imported 391,000 piculs from India and 315,000 from America. In November the Indian sales had fallen to 3,871 and the American had risen to 816,839.

Tsuda, chairman of the Kanegafuchi Spinning company, today published a tirade against the government for interfering in a purely economic dispute. By this he means the industrialists, by boycott, could have forced better terms than the government obtained diplomatically.

He said the Japanese traders had hoped to export to India 1,200,000,000 yards of cloth in 1933, but the abrogation of the commercial treaty and imposition of the 75 per cent tariff had reduced actual sales to 740,000,000 yards. Tsuda asserts the conditions governing the quota are so tricky that Japan will be able to sell only 200,000,000 in 1934.

ADMITS SLAYINGS



JOHN PIOTROWSKI.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The police yesterday expressed doubt that John Panfield, 19 years old, whose murder was confessed by John Piotrowski of 5019 North Melvina avenue, is dead. Piotrowski's story was that on Wednesday he had beaten his wife and Panfield and then killed his two small children all in a fit of rage because he had caught Panfield, a boarder in the home, making love to Mrs. Piotrowski.

Mrs. Piotrowski was in a critical condition at the Belmont hospital last evening and unable to make a statement. A blood transfusion will be performed if physicians can find some one who will donate a pint of blood. Although the husband declared he had struck Panfield repeatedly with a gun barrel and left him for dead on a prairie near the house, no trace of the youth's body has been found. The police believe he revived and fled.

After viewing the bodies of the children, Betty Ann, 3 years old, and John Jr., 10 months old, in an undertaking establishment at 5776 Lawrence avenue, Piotrowski took the stand at a coroner's inquest and repeated his confession. He was a CWA laborer employed on the sanitary canal improvement at Kedzie avenue and left his work between 10:30 a. m. and 3 p. m. Wednesday to go home. It was during this period that the killings took place. The coroner's inquest was continued to Jan. 18.

FIGHT FOR LIFE OF MAN SHOT IN DEFENSE OF GIRL

The condition of Charles Hausman, 24 years old, 3511 North Crawford avenue, who was shot in the abdomen Wednesday evening in protecting his girl companion from rape by two Negro bandits, was pronounced critical yesterday at St. Luke's hospital.

Surgeons worked over him more than four hours Wednesday evening. Miss Evelyn Christensen, 1521 South Kildare avenue, the girl for whom he risked his life, remained at his bedside all day yesterday. She had known Hausman for a year, but they were not engaged, she said.

The bandits took $2 from Hausman and a wrist watch from Miss Christensen, then tried to attack her. Hausman jumped from the car and started to fight. Miss Christensen escaped during the mêlée and returned with a policeman to find Hausman shot and the bandits gone.

136 INDUSTRIAL PLANTS OPENED IN CANADA IN 1933

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 4.—New industrial plants opened in Canada during 1933 totaled 136. Of this number, 50 were either direct subsidiaries of American concerns or were established to manufacture a product of an American company, formerly imported into Canada.

Only six plants, mainly engaged in the textile trade, were directly connected with British firms, and four with companies in other countries. Seventy-six plants were organized solely in Canada.

The figure is far below the 1932 total. In 1932 a total of 206 new plants was established, of which 106 were controlled by American interests. American activity in this regard, it will be noted, have been cut in half during the last year.

Kills His Companion for Reciting Prayers Falsely

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Jan. 4.—(AP)—A lumberjack named Wroblewski was accused by police today of killing a companion who, Wroblewski thought, did not say his prayers properly. Both men were said to have knelt before going to bed when Wroblewski claimed his comrade recited the prayers falsely and, according to the police version, slew him with a hammer and nailed the victim's hands and feet to the floor.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

SHOWDOWN DUE IN COURT TODAY ON TRANSIT PLAN

Report Some Points Are Still in Dispute.

A showdown on the financial plan for consolidation of the surface and elevated lines under the city's transit reorganization ordinance is expected this morning in the federal court of Judge James H. Wilkerson. On Wednesday representatives of the companies' financial interests were given 48 hours to settle a number of important details after Attorney Walter L. Fisher presented to the court the plan to which all sides have agreed in general.

Yesterday, however, it was learned that the conferees had reached no agreement on some of the points in dispute. These, it was said, include the problem of who will provide the money for clearing present liens on the elevated properties, how the $15,000,000 for improvements called for by the ordinance shall be raised, and on what basis the sinking fund to amortize the unified mortgage bonds of the consolidated company shall be established.

Fisher Predicts Showdown.

Attorney Fisher, who has been conducting the financial negotiations as coördinator for Judge Wilkerson, said last night he was not sure that these points would be settled by this morning, but he declared there would be a court hearing nevertheless because the judge would not permit any further delay in arriving at a settlement. Judge Wilkerson has supervision over all the transit companies involved because of receiverships.

At the Wednesday hearing Attorney Francis X. Busch, counsel for the first mortgage bond committee of the elevated lines, said his group was willing to submit all undecided controversial points to arbitration either by Mr. Fisher or Judge Wilkerson. D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair store, is chairman of the elevated committee.

The first mortgage bondholders of the surface lines are represented by Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, and A. W. Harris, chairman of the Harris Trust and Savings bank.

Halsey-Stuart Still on Job.

It was indicated that Halsey, Stuart & Co., La Salle street investment house which was appointed manager of transit reorganization under the Insull plan of 1930, would be retained in the same capacity under the new program. The Insull plan resulted in the adoption of the city transit ordinance, but it was never carried through because of economic conditions. The new merger plan is a radical modification of that of 1930.

Attorney Fisher said that Halsey, Stuart & Co., which prepared the Insull plan, is still reorganization manager and that there has been no disposition to make a change. The duties of the investment company will be to work out the multitude of details necessary to carry out of the transit merger program.

Point New Advantages.

Financial experts said yesterday that the new transit financial plan is superior in several respects to the Insull plan. They declared that the riding public now has a better chance of receiving the service extensions and improvements provided for in the city ordinance.

The present plan, it was pointed out, provides for the raising of new money by the sale of bonds which would constitute a first lien on the transit properties. Under the Insull setup there was no such provision; any new bonds issued would have had ahead of them $89,112,575 worth of bonds which would have constituted the first lien. For this reason the sale of additional bonds to raise cash for improvements would not have been so easy, it was declared.

Second Improvement Told.

A second improvement of the new plan over the Insull program, the experts said, is that the city stands a better chance of getting its 3 per cent of the revenues of the unified transit system. This 3 per cent is to be paid after all bond interest charges are met. Under the present plan rates of interest on new bonds to be issued in exchange for the old securities are set at 5 and 4½ per cent.

Under the Insull plan the rates of interest were to be as high as 7 per cent, and net earnings of the combined transit systems would have had to reach $11,063,918 before a start could be made on paying the city's 3 per cent. Under the new plan the 3 per cent payment could begin after net earnings reached a total of $9,629,357. Of this amount $8,629,357 would be for bond interest and $1,000,000 for sinking fund requirements.

FINLAND SPURNS RUSSIAN-POLISH 'SECURITY' OFFER

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 4.—Finland has rejected a joint secret proposal by Russia and Poland, submitted on Dec. 23, that these powers should together guarantee Finland's independence because the political integrity of Finland and the Baltic border states is a matter of importance to Moscow and Warsaw.

As soviet-Polish diplomacy desired, the proposal was not made public and the Finnish cabinet still maintains silence, but it is learned from informed quarters that Finland gave as the reason for its refusal that the existing nonaggression treaty must be regarded as sufficient to prevent war and, therefore, further pacts are not required.

Finland's answer was given to the soviet and Polish governments on Dec. 27 and no further discussions, it is believed, were held.

Mrs. Floyd Mundy, Wife of Broker, Sues for Divorce

Reno, Nev., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—In an order made Jan. 2 at Elka, District Judge E. P. Carville granted an $8,000 preliminary attorney fee and a $2,250 per month temporary allowance to Mrs. Harriett Bryant Mundy in her divorce suit against Floyd Mundy, head of the brokerage firm of Oliphant & Co. of New York and Chicago. Her attorney asked for a $25,000 preliminary fee.

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 4.—IKKI—the executive committee of the communist internationale—held its 13th plenary session in its headquarters at the Kremlin in Moscow last night. The Comintern (communist international) broadcasting station this morning gave a brief account of the meeting.

The broadcast mentioned IKKI's approval of the decision of the New York Daily Worker, official newspaper of the American communist party, to publish a special edition of 1,000,000 copies on the tenth anniversary of its existence, Jan. 6. That date incidentally coincides with the arrival at New York of William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to Moscow, and Alexander Troyanovsky, soviet Russian ambassador to the United States, from Moscow.

Editorial Staff Blamed.

The radio announcer said IKKI is pleased with the crisis affecting capitalistic countries. This statement was followed by speeches and a general discussion of the best methods of promoting world revolution.

The Daily Worker, according to IKKI's official publication, the Kommunistichesky Internationale, has a circulation of 150,000, which is less than last year. The Internationale blames the editorial staff for "failing to make the Daily Worker a revolutionary paper for the masses and the organizer for activities of the communist party."

The Internationale's article is 5,000 words long. It contains detailed instructions for future activities of communists in America and sharply reprimands the present staff for failing to fulfill directions sent from Moscow and for losing valuable time through delaying attacks against President Roosevelt.

Chief Tasks Listed.

According to the periodical "the chief tasks of the Daily Worker are fourfold:

"FIRST, to unmask Roosevelt's policies towards trade unions.

"SECOND, to unmask the parts being played by the American Federation of Labor leaders and also Socialist leaders in realizing Roosevelt's decrees.

"THIRD, to explain to workers the meaning of revolutionary trade unions, the importance of underground opposition work within the ranks of A. F. of L. unions, and to mobilize them to combat Roosevelt's policies and the labor leaders who support him.

"FOURTH, to reveal how revolutionary elements should act in carrying out their duties."

Calls Paper "Weak."

The Internationale charges the Daily Worker has failed to fulfill these tasks satisfactorily. It adds the American publication was weak as an organizer and leader of the masses.

The Internationale ends the review of the Daily Worker's activities by enumerating ten detailed instructions governing future policies of the American communist party's official publication. It ends with the sentence:

"Workers must be acquainted with their duties in the fight for establishing proletarian dictatorship!"

Judge to Deny Motion of City in Ouster Case

Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude indicated yesterday that he would refuse the motion of the city to set aside his order quashing the ouster of Dr. Gottfried Koehler, former assistant health commissioner, by the city civil service commission. The judge's order was entered last July 5. The commission found Dr. Koehler guilty of neglect of duty in permitting health department publications to be used for political purposes of a former mayor and dismissed him in September, 1931.

Pick Jury to Try Youth Charged with Girl's Death

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—After practically two days' efforts a jury of twelve men was finally obtained late this afternoon for the trial of Syril Staab, age 22, son of a traffic officer, George Staab, charged with murdering his sweetheart, Mary Elizabeth Robb, 20, Schererville, at the Brown Derby tavern, early today on the morning of Oct. 15, following a party. The jury was obtained only after 65 men had been questioned and 51 excused for various reasons.

WYNEKOOP TRIAL MAY RE-ENACT RHETA'S KILLING

Defense Loses Move to Suppress Evidence.

A hint that the state may offer to reënact the killing of Rheta Wynekoop in open court at the forthcoming trial of her mother-in-law, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, for her murder, was given yesterday before Judge Joseph B. David. Dr. Wynekoop's trial is scheduled to start next Thursday.

Prosecuting and defense attorneys had come before the judge, agreed that Dr. Wynekoop's illness justified a week's continuance, but at odds over the possession of certain evidence heretofore not known to be in the state's hands.

On behalf of Dr. Wynekoop, Attorneys W. W. Smith and Frank J. Tyrrell presented a petition asking that 35 separate items of evidence now in possession of the state be returned to the defendant, impounded, or suppressed, on the ground that the items had been seized without a search warrant.

Operating Table Held.

Most significant among the items listed was the operating table on which the half nude Rheta's body was found with a chloroform mask near her head and a bullet in her back after the Wynekoop family undertaker had summoned the police to the Wynekoop home at 3406 Monroe street.

While Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty refused to discuss his future strategy, the state's retention of the operating table aroused speculation as to whether he intended bringing an effigy of Rheta into court to show how she died.

In a "confession" of the killing, since repudiated, Dr. Wynekoop admitted giving Rheta a lethal dose of chloroform by accident, then firing a bullet into what she believed to be a lifeless body to simulate a robbery and hide her own "blunder."

Expect Effigy in Evidence.

Whether her renunciation of that story would prohibit the state from bringing Dr. Wynekoop face to face with Rheta's effigy on the operating table before a jury was a question on which Mr. Dougherty refused to speculate. In any event, it was considered certain that the state could introduce an effigy for the purpose of having Dr. Wynekoop and the police demonstrate in exactly what posture the body lay when they first saw it.

While acknowledging that the evidence might have been seized without warrants, Judge David declined to impound or suppress it. In murder cases, he pointed out, the police can ill afford to stop for the formality of getting search warrants, lest the evidence disappear in the interval.

As a compromise between Attorney Smith's plea that the defense was in the dark as to the evidence available and Prosecutor Dougherty's insistence that no evidence should be suppressed, Judge David ruled that the defense lawyers might inspect all the evidence in the state's possession at 9:30 a. m. Monday.

Articles of Evidence Listed.

Other equipment from the forbidding basement doctor's office where Rheta died was included among the objects of evidence in Dougherty's possession. The complete list of items follows:

Three tubes of morphine tablets, one ether mask, several hand towels, allegedly soaked with chloroform; a box of cartridges, a .38 caliber revolver, one .38 caliber bullet, removed from the ceiling of an upper room.

A bottle of chloral hydrate, an empty chloroform bottle, a bottle of thymolin, Rheta Wynekoop's clothing.

One feather pillow and one leather cushion, both found on the operating table; a sheet from operating table, a blanket from operating table, two stethoscopes.

A waste basket from the room of Rheta's husband, Earle, and scraps therein, a surgical gown, pair of tennis shoes of Dr. Catherine Wynekoop, daughter of Dr. Alice Wynekoop, bank books, check books, and canceled checks; wedding rings of Earle and Rheta, electric drill and torch, numerous photographs, letters and telegrams; the operating table.

Among the letters, Attorney Smith contended, were several which the police had purloined, unopened, from the Wynekoop mail box.

Dismissing the attorneys with an agreement on study of the evidence, Judge David warned them they must be prepared for trial next Thursday or have the case transferred to another judge, as he proposed going on his vacation on Feb. 1 and would not brook interference with his plan.

HARLEM DANCER PUT WHERE SHE IS SAFE FROM GANG—IN JAIL

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The law today put Maris Lambert, eighteen year old Harlem taxi dancer, where no bad gangsters can get her—and where the law can find her when it wants her again.

General Sessions Judge Morris Koenig committed her to the house of detention without bail when she was before him on a charge of harboring an escaped Tombs prisoner.

Maris, found last night in the East Third street apartment of a boy friend, said she had failed to appear in court yesterday on the charge because she was hiding from a gang who tried to abduct her last Friday.

Police had been searching for her since Tuesday. Meanwhile her mother, Mrs. Anna Lambert, was informed by a man's voice on the telephone, first that Maris would be killed and then that her tongue would be cut out "because she talked too much."

PICK 8 JURORS IN $1,555,000 INSURANCE CASE

Eight jurors had been selected at the close of court yesterday to try seven defendants on charges of conspiracy to obtain $1,555,000 by false pretenses. The defendants, on trial in Judge Benjamin Epstein's court, are charged with executing a mortgage transaction that threw the Security Life Insurance company, the Northern States Life Insurance company, and two affiliated concerns into receivership.

Defense Attorney Harry Olson objected to the presence of reporters at the front of the courtroom.

"I object to this case being tried by the newspapers," Attorney Olson said. "I demand that the reporters be compelled to retire to the rear of the courtroom." Judge Epstein smilingly told the veniremen to "disregard the outburst."

The defendants in the case are Attorney John H. S. Lee, Machir J. Dorsey, insurance operator; Bertram Day, Edwin Hult, John W. Seids, C. Edwin Johnson, and Harry Huttig.

Gas Customer Gets Big Penny's Worth

Gas is the modern, magic fuel.
Turn a valve and it's at your service, in any quantity you wish, at any hour of the day or night.
And cheap!
Here's what one cent's worth of gas will do, in any one of Chicago's 796,000 homes:
Make 48 cups of coffee,
Broil two pounds of steak,
Fry 16 eggs, or
Bake a pie.
It's a big penny's worth!
Peoples Gas is one of Chicago's oldest business institutions . . . for 83 years it has served the city.

Now GAS HEAT can be installed without allowing your house to cool off!

To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas, we'll install it at our expense . . . remove it at our expense, if you don't like it.

DON'T envy your neighbors who are now enjoying the utter luxury of gas heat. You can still have this modern heating method this season. In half a day, expert installers can equip your furnace or boiler so that you, too, can have this great comfort and convenience.

Just think what this will mean to you day in and day out. No more coal to shovel, no ashes to shake or haul, no kindling to chop, no waiting for heat to come up. The house is warm when you get up in the morning and the temperature is even, comfortable day and night. Besides, gas heat means so much in cleanliness. Drapes and walls stay clean much longer.

End furnace tending forever. Fire your furnace from your easy chair by simply setting a thermostat on the wall.

Gas heating rates have been reduced. They are one-half of what they were during the 1930-31 heating season. Every home, even the most modest, can now afford to heat with gas.

Accept our special time-limited offer. Here it is. We'll install gas heat in your home at our expense. You don't invest one cent. Try it for one month, two months, a year. While you are trying it you pay only $3 a month rental for the equipment in the average home. This charge is included with the bill for the gas you use. If within the first year you decide that you don't want gas heat, just order it out. Out it comes at our expense and your former equipment is replaced in good workmanlike order.

But if you decide—as we think you will, that you want to keep gas heat, the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment.

Now in effect NEW LOW COST for Heating Homes with GAS

Gas heat can be installed in your home without allowing the house to cool off

YOU INVEST NOTHING!

Without ONE CENT of investment by you, we install the most modern burner in your furnace or boiler. If you are satisfied, it stays. If not—and you are the sole judge—out it comes and your former heating system is re-installed—AT OUR EXPENSE. We make this offer because of our confidence in the perfection of gas heat.

Mr. Chesser M. Campbell
Assistant Advertising Manager
The Chicago Tribune
Chicago, Illinois

Dear Mr. Campbell:

In reply to your inquiry, our run-of-paper color advertising in the Chicago Tribune, totaling fifteen pages, has been one of the outstanding features of our 1933 drive for business.

About 30% of our Tribune linage consisted of color. Every check we have made shows that these color pages have made a strong impression on the buying public, and we feel that the extra value of color is well worth the slight additional cost.

We used color in our Tribune advertising to introduce our new Standard Red Crown Superfuel this summer. The new gasoline has been received enthusiastically by motorists in this territory and a great deal of the immediate success of this product is due to the strong presentation which was greatly strengthened by our use of Tribune color.

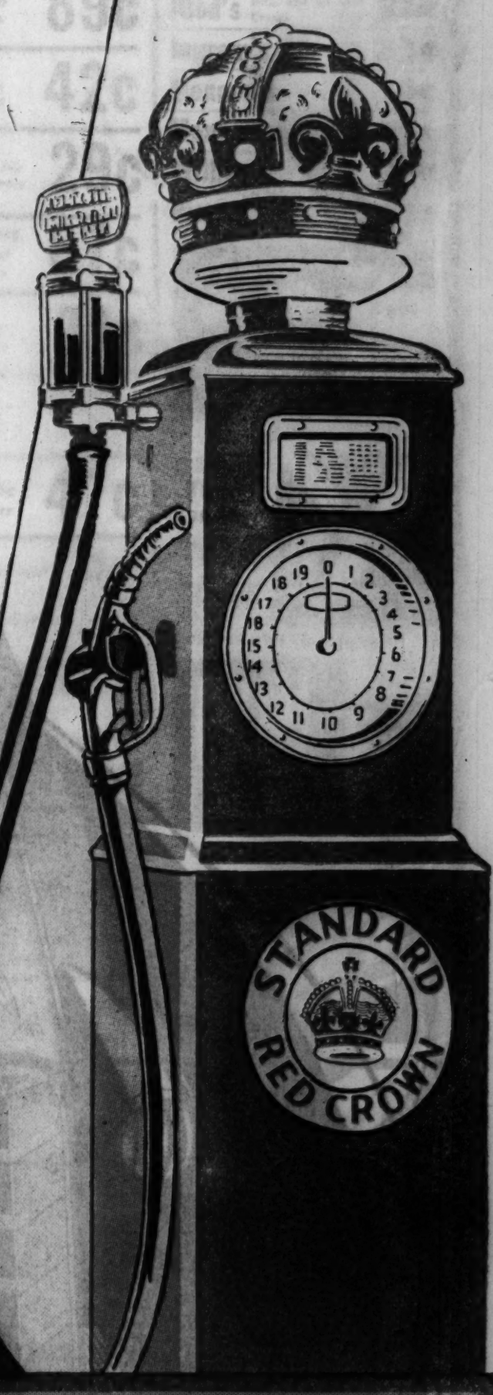
We also used Tribune color in introducing our new Iso-Vis "D" Motor Oil last spring. We feel certain the extra attention value which Tribune color gave to this message had an immediate effect on sales.

In addition to the punch which this color advertising put into our campaign to the public, this use of color was extremely effective in getting our dealers and our own service station men more strongly behind the advertising campaign than ever before.

Thanks very much for your cooperation which has been instrumental in making this campaign the success it has been. I am sure Tribune color will again play an important part in our 1934 advertising program.

Yours very truly,
STANDARD OIL COMPANY
A. N. Steele
Advertising Manager

"This use of color was extremely effective in getting our dealers and our station men more strongly behind the advertising."



During 1933 the Standard Oil Company of Indiana placed fifteen run-of-paper color pages in the Chicago Tribune. This new salesmaking aid was one of the outstanding features of the company's drive for business.

When the new Iso-Vis "D" motor oil was launched last spring Tribune color was selected to put extra punch into the announcements.

When Standard Oil introduced the new Red Crown Superfuel during the past summer they again selected Tribune color.

With the results reported by Mr. Steele in his letter above!

Are you taking advantage of this powerful advertising technique which the Standard Oil Company has found to be well worth the slight extra cost? Have you a problem in stimulating dealers or in getting your full share of the business in the Chicago market?

Let a Tribune representative show you specimens of these extra-value Red Crown Superfuel and Iso-Vis "D" color pages and give you the complete story of this successful Tribune campaign.

31 MILLION BANK SCANDAL PERILS FRENCH CABINET

World Hunt Ordered for Pawnshop Founder.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 4.—Premier Camille Chautemps in an unprecedented move today took personal action to rush the investigation of the tremendous Serge Stavisky scandal, the ramifications of which already are rocking the French ministry.

The scandal broke several days ago when it was discovered that Stavisky, also known as "Handsome Alex," had made a personal mint of the municipal pawnshop in the Basque town of Bayonne, issued millions of francs worth of fake bonds and skipped with the money.

With the veritable political register mentioned in connection with the affair, Chautemps today called in high state and police officials and personally proceeded to direct the investigation and search for the fugitive Stavisky.

Public Officials Assailed.

The press has jumped avidly on the most sensational fraud case which has broken here in years. In whole pages of type, the newspapers spilled almost unbelieveable stories of Stavisky's alleged machinations and criticized men in the highest places, including Chautemps' brother and brother-in-law, former Minister of Justice Albert Dalimier, Finance Minister Georges Bonnet's chief aide, the director of municipal police, members of the chamber of deputies and other politicians.

With estimates of Stavisky's frauds reaching 500,000,000 francs—currently upwards of $31,000,000—and big names in the government involved, Chautemps' cabinet is undergoing an attack more deadly than in the recent budget conflict. As a result a breakdown is not at all unlikely when the chamber of deputies reconvenes next week.

The fall of Andre Tardieu in the wake of the unsavory Oustric affair in 1930 was recalled, while a paper close to Tardieu is gleefully leading the attack. The situation is getting darker and Chautemps will have to execute some skillful maneuvers to keep from feeling the ax.

[Albert Oustric, a Toulouse ex-waiter, after extensive promotion of holding companies, stocks and banks, failed in a $55,000,000 crash. Small investors and depositors were the chief losers. Half a dozen high government officials were tried in connection with the case. Oustric was sentenced last January to one year in prison for irregularities in conducting his private bank.]

Stavisky is Missing.

Stavisky is nowhere to be found and dozens of rumors are circulated as to his whereabouts. One is that he is here in Paris, another that he is aboard a ship bound for Venezuela. The right press charges that the police themselves tipped him off in time to make his getaway.

Chautemps ordered a world-wide hunt for the fugitive.

"Justice will follow its course to the end," he said.

Stavisky, it is alleged, committed a series of frauds in recent years, but secured official protection due to the fact that he always managed to have a relative of some high official in his pay.

The item the opposition is most joyously jumping on is a letter issued by Dalimier informing insurance companies that the municipal pawnshop's bonds were good investments, a letter which Stavisky is said to have used to clean up.

Born in Russia.

Stavisky was born in Russia 47 years ago. He is a former jeweler and a naturalized citizen of France. The fugitive was arrested in 1926 on charges of swindling. He spent a year in jail and was released on a petition claiming poor health. He was known as a lavish spender.

Gustave Tissier, manager of the Bayonne pawnshop, was arrested on Dec. 30, and a warrant for Stavisky's arrest was issued in connection with the alleged issuance of unauthorized bonds.

ASSESSOR FACES QUIZ TODAY ON HIS TAX METHODS

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $206,867, making a total of $99,485,857 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Jan. 4	$ 12,549	$ 19,856
Uncollected	15,765,131	42,983,554
	1930.	1931.
Jan. 4	$ 192,776	$ 71,486
Uncollected	66,454,985	65,640,171

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $3,388.

Attorneys for the Chicago Real Estate Board yesterday presented a list of questions on the methods of valuation used in the 1931 real estate assessment to County Assessor Jacobs. The assessor will be asked to explain alleged inconsistencies in the tax rolls when he resumes the witness stand today before County Judge Jarecki.

The real estate board has a petition pending before Judge Jarecki in which are incorporated the tax objections of nearly all of the 438,000 owners of homes and small flat buildings in Cook county. The petition charges that the 1931 tax roll was fraudulent and discriminatory against these small property owners, and asks that Judge Jarecki reduce their assessments by 15 per cent.

FORD EXPECTED TO BE A BIG 1934 FAIR EXHIBITOR

Contracts for Design of Building Let.

Henry Ford, one of the few automobile manufacturers not represented in A Century of Progress Exposition last year, in all probability, will be one of the largest exhibitors in any class at the 1934 Fair. Contracts already have been furnished Ford representatives, and numerous conferences with officials have been held the last week. Although no contract has been signed, it was learned an agreement practically has been reached.

Fair officials refused to verify the reports, saying that any statement must come from Mr. Ford. In Detroit, it was learned that contracts already have been let with architects for the designing of the structures. So far none of the automobile exhibitors of last summer have signed contracts, and that fact is said to be influencing the Ford interests to sign as soon as possible to gain the distinction of being first in their field.

Make Survey of Grounds.

Three representatives of the Ford company have held numerous conferences with Fair officials during the last week, and made an intensive survey of the grounds. Accompanied by the chiefs of the Fair design and exhibitors departments, the representatives paid particular attention to sites for automobile exhibits.

Following a luncheon with Rufus C. Dawes, president of A Century of Progress, the representatives refused to talk with newspapermen, stating that an announcement would be made by Henry or Edsel Ford.

An indication of the trend the 1934 Fair will take was given yesterday when nine new concessionaires applied for contracts, requring space with a total rental of more than a half million dollars. The new concessionaires said they would operate large wine gardens, bringing wine from all parts of the world to Chicago, and would present famous theatrical and radio bands.

Paintings Shown Again.

The Fair's exhibition of painting and sculpture will be resumed at the Art institute from June 1 to Nov. 1 of this year, officials announced. Important masterpieces from the 13th to 18th century again will be borrowed from American collections and will be supplemented by loans from European museums.

The second exhibition will emphasize American retrospective and contemporary art, according to the announcement. The department of prints and drawings of the institute will combine the annual international exhibition of etchings and the annual international exhibition of lithography and engraving.

It also was announced that a memorial gallery of architecture soon will be opened at the institute, to be known as the Howard Van Doren Shaw gallery. Mr. Shaw was an architect and up to the time of his death in 1926 was a trustee of the Art institute and formerly chairman of the decorative arts committee.

Sidney Fox Says She Will Sue Beahan for Divorce

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—She will file divorce proceedings against Charles Beahan, movie producer and writer next week, Sidney Fox, diminutive movie star, announced last night.

"I am going to get a divorce, but I want a little time to think about it," Miss Fox said. "We continue friendly and I just received a nice bouquet from Mr. Beahan. There is no scandal of any kind attached to our separation."

Miss Fox and Beahan were wed near New York Dec. 14, 1932, and quarreled during a New Year's eve party here.

JUDGE CITES 3 COUNTY OFFICERS FOR CONTEMPT

Result of Failure to Obey Salary Order.

Circuit Judge George Fred Rush yesterday issued a citation directing Emmett Whealan, president of the county board; County Treasurer McDonough, and County Clerk Sweitzer to appear before him today and show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court. The citation directed them to explain why they have failed to obey a mandate of the state Supreme court which ordered them to pay two weeks' salary to all county employés who were forced to take a two weeks' payless vacation during the summer of 1931.

The plaintiff in the case is Mario Pollastrini, a deputy sheriff, who, through Attorney Victor Frohlich, won a mandamus order in the Circuit court a year ago, and whose case was sustained by the Appellate and Supreme courts. When the mandate of the court was sent here recently Pollastrini promptly served it upon members of the county board, but no pay was forthcoming. Then he and his counsel went before Judge Rush.

Whealan Explains to Board.

When the judge's citation was served upon President Whealan he was presiding at a meeting of the county board. He accepted service and then explained the situation to the commissioners.

"Well," exclaimed Commissioner George Miller with a smile, "that citation is not against the board, but only against you, Mr. President. We'll be glad to see that your stay in jail will be a pleasant one."

"I'll probably have to go to jail," agreed Whealan. "The county is broke and cannot pay the salaries at this time. We will have to levy for this money in the 1934 budget and then sell tax warrants against the levy to produce it. That, of course, will take time."

After notice of the citation was served on the other two county officials, Hayden N. Bell, county tax attorney, was summoned and asked to represent the defendants today. Attorney Bell informed the commissioners that he believed the court would allow a "reasonable amount of time in which to get the money to pay." It was estimated that $400,000 must be paid to employés under the mandamus order.

Cut $681,000 from Forest Levy.

At the board meeting the commissioners, sitting as the forest preserve board, unanimously adopted a motion by President Whealan to cut $681,000 from the 1932 forest preserve levy. This amount was originally to have been set aside to redeem bonds which were to be sold so that the proceeds could be used to buy land. The bonds, a $500,000 issue, were not sold, and $181,000 in interest which also was included in the levy consequently was not accumulated.

The board's action was immediately transmitted to the county clerk's office, where clerks are computing the 1932 tax rate. Since the rates are not yet completed for the forest preserve the cut can be applied to the 1932 bills, which are scheduled to be sent out early in April.

$1,000 for Chair

Northwestern university yesterday received a check for $1,000 from the Polish National alliance which will be used as a subsidy for founding a professorship in the university for teaching the traditions, language, history, and literature of the Polish race. It is the intention of the alliance to present such a sum each year. The presentation was made yesterday at noon in the Montgomery Ward building on the McKinlock campus by John Romaszkiewicz, president, who headed a delegation of his countrymen. The check was received by President Walter Dill Scott.

GIVE UP HOPE FOR 129 BURIED BY COAL MINE BLAST

Put Czech Death Toll at 140.

DUX, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Hope was abandoned for 129 entombed miners in the "Nelson III." coal mine tonight when, after day long efforts to conquer an underground fire which repeatedly broke out in the workings, engineers concluded there was no chance of reaching the men alive.

The only survivors of a terrific blast that imprisoned the workers were four who escaped immediately after the explosion. A total of 11 bodies wes recovered, making the aggregate conceded death toll 140.

Nearly three-fourths of the victims were heads of families. One leaves seven children.

Continue Probe.

The chief inspector of the mining districts has been removed by the government and an investigation to fix the responsibility for the catastrophe continued. One generally accepted theory was that the explosion was caused by the combustion of coal dust.

Prime Minister Malypetr sent 50,000 crowns [about $2,300] for the immediate relief of families of the victims.

Fire broke out during the night for the first time. Early today it was thought to have been under control sufficiently to enable rescue workers to clear away much of the wreckage which barred them from underground passages. Not long afterward, however, flames burst forth again.

Deadly Gases Hamper Rescuers.

Adding to the difficulties and perils of the rescue workers was the presence of deadly gases.

One of those who escaped did so by climbing ladders from the thousand foot level and was rescued, just as he was about to fall back into the pit, exhausted, by his brother, who had been off duty at the time of the explosion. One of the bodies was that of a washerwoman, who died as she worked in the shafthead.

Through long, weary hours thousands of persons, including wives and children of the victims, crowded about the scene of the disaster, hoping that a rescue could be effected.

GEORGE W. YOUNG NAMED TO HEAD CHICAGO A. OF C.

George W. Young, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., wholesale, was nominated yesterday to succeed George W. Rossetter as president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Nomination is tantamount to election. Mr. Young will be installed Jan. 17.

Mr. Rossetter, head of an accounting concern bearing his name, retires after two years as president, with a record of having organized the business and commercial interests of the country for reduction of governmental costs. As general chairman of the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures he made recommendations which leaders of both Democratic and Republican parties included almost verbatim in their platforms.

His successor, Mr. Young, is a native of Paisley, Scotland, and has been employed at Marshall Field & Co. since 1895, when he began as an office boy. He has been active in affairs of the association since 1905, as general secretary, director, and member of committees on foreign and domestic trade.

Build Safety Scaffolds Around Old N. U. Towers

The historic twin towers on University hall, one of the oldest buildings on the Northwestern university campus, are undergoing repairs because of weakened masonry. Scaffolding has been erected around the two towers. The repairs were decided upon to preserve them and to eliminate the danger of falling masonry injuring pedestrians.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE MESSAGE.

The President's appeal for counsel and coöperation in the great task of economic restoration will have the cordial response of the congress and the nation. Whatever doubts or disagreements there are as to this measure or that in the ambitious program of the administration, the President is assured of a general will to dispense with the ordinary processes of party conflict and to seek earnestly for the best means of bringing to our people the greatest possible measure of well being.

No predecessor of Mr. Roosevelt in the great responsibility of the presidency has had in greater degree the aid and comfort of the American spirit of democratic coöperation. This does not and ought not to exclude free judgment and intelligent dissent from specific proposals. We must assume that the President and every other American statesman welcome this as an essential of free government and of human progress. When the President reminds us that civilization must not stand still, that our task is to perfect, to improve, to alter when necessary but in all cases to go forward, he touches the essential character of the American people and however the task of restoration may be worked out to accomplishment, it is the American character and the American ideal of progress through freedom and good will that will prevail.

"Without regard to party," as the President eloquently said, "the overwhelming majority of our people seek a greater opportunity for humanity to prosper and find happiness." In this spirit and purpose there is no division or reputable dissent. With this spirit and purpose the nation and its representatives in government are engaged in a common effort to test and to perfect practical means to effectuate its high purposes through that process of trial and error which is the reliance of a free and progressive people. Whether particular experiments of the administration's program of recovery and of reconstruction are finally approved and made a permanent part of our political or economic structure will be determined in time and experience. The program has been initiated as frankly experimental. Its formulas and activities must be subjected to the examination and discussion of the responsible agencies of government and of the citizenship. This is how a free society must operate and evolve. What the President asks and may confidently rely upon is a patriotic devotion to the high task of recovery and human betterment.

RADICALS AD INFINITUM

Fiorello H. La Guardia has had an experience which if not distressing was at least unusual. As mayor of New York he heard himself called an agent of Wall street by an angry woman speaking for a group of radicals pretending to seek his assistance. Mr. La Guardia as a congressman was himself regarded as a radical and he did not discourage the idea. He and Mr. Pecora fitted into the same legend of scourging the money power.

Mr. La Guardia as mayor of New York is withdrawn from the forensic and given over to the administrative power. That exposes him on the flank. It is a characteristic of radicalism that one radical cannot satisfy another either as to words or deeds. Ad infinitum there is one to bite another until possibly one be found somewhere in the reaches of the infinite who is biting himself, the ultimate soul in the ultimate Thule.

No one satisfies Robespierre but Robespierre. Cromwell was a protector of vested interests to John Lilburne, but Lilburne was only frustration to Winstanley. Lassalle was poison to Dr. Marx and Stalin is a counter revolutionist and traitor to Trotzky.

RAIL AND TRUCK.

The Railway Age takes us severely to task for what it terms the inconsistency of our transportation policies. It recalls that THE TRIBUNE advocated the Elkins act of 1903, the Hepburn act of 1906 and the Mann-Elkins act of 1910, which, according to the Railway Age, contain the principle of straitjacket railway regulation to which we object. It may be noted in passing that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is not accused of supporting either the transportation act or the Hoch-Smith resolution, the latter having been pronounced too unwieldy and technical for practical application by the interstate commerce commission itself.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is not now advocating a return to the days of rebates, secret rates and other discriminatory devices which made the interstate commerce act, the Elkins act, and the Hepburn act necessary. The principles of these acts are still sound. What we object to are the interpretations of these principles that have led to the manufacture of rates on mileage and percentage bases without regard to the requirements of commerce. We think that the Railway Age itself will agree with us that frozen rate schedules have been largely responsible for diversions to trucks as well as demands for waterway extensions, many of which services are not inherently economical but derive a showing of economy from the inflexibility of the railway schedules. With this premise before us, distribution certainly is not going to be aided by the railway plan of extending a similar brand of regulation to waterway and highway transportation.

The Railway Age quotes several authorities, principally political, to support the theory that trucks are creating chaos in transportation. Have they forgotten that even the interstate commerce commission, steeped in the theories of regulation, failed to find any public demand for the harnessing of truck transportation, other than that emanating from railway sources; and this after a nation-wide series of hearings at which the public took full advantage of the opportunity to express itself?

REAL BENEFITS FROM A TRACTION SETTLEMENT.

Before Chicago got the traction ordinance of 1907 its surface transportation consisted of cable cars which would make the present generation laugh and of a limited trolley car service which now would at least cause a smile. Its street pavement, if it could be called pavement, was a billowy surface and for the most part it was no pavement at all. Many streets were paved largely with damage suits against the city. The problem involved in the consolidation essential to the ordinance of 1907 was a layer cake of financial and legal impossibilities. For years there seemed utterly no chance of getting to an agreement. However, an agreement was reached, the ordinance was adopted, modern trolley cars were substituted for the cables and the antiquated trolleys, and Chicago got its streets paved. The modern city may be said to date from the traction ordinance of 1907.

For a number of years now another highly complicated financial and legal problem has been tackled in the consolidation of the elevated and the surface lines. Again there is a promise of a solution which will combine the two, and again, consequently, there is a promise in that event of a distinct advancement not only in transportation but in general city welfare based upon such improvements. A settlement which merely found a way of combining the two systems would not in itself serve the purpose. It is to be hoped in the new financial set-up there will be opportunity and resources for another advance all along the line.

It would be expected that under new arrangements the rapid transit of the elevated would become really rapid transit, being made so by coöperation with the surface lines. The surface lines have kept themselves in better equipment than the elevated, but at the best all this equipment is showing its age. One of the real benefits of a new settlement would be found in modern rolling stock. New models of the present day are as different from the types in use as these types were different from the ones they supplanted back in 1907. Any one can imagine the relief which would come from an elimination of the pounding noises now making life disagreeable within hearing of the street car lines. Even in the business district there could be a healing peace, grateful to the ears and nerves. The engineers nowadays can solve these problems if corporate finances are in shape to make use of the modern engineers' work.

Chicago is full of confidence in its future and with good cause. It believes that it can make a still greater success of its municipal enterprises and be each year a better place for its citizens to live, a place offering them the pleasures and profits of life. A step forward can be taken in the new traction ordinance if all its possibilities can be realized.

THE LESSON OF THE LOS ANGELES FLOOD.

The tragic loss of life in the Los Angeles flood is another warning that river beds should not be used as building sites. That is a lesson which repeated disasters in many sections of the country have failed to teach. No matter how many years may have gone by without a flood, the fact that a river bed can be traced is evidence that it has once been filled with water. What has happened once can happen again and generally does, sooner or later.

Those who are urging our government on to experiments in economic and social planning might well start with the objective of removing human habitations from the path of flood waters. No constitutional changes will be required to effect this program. The duty of the state and its local subdivisions to assure the physical safety of the citizens is well established under the head of police powers. Permits to build houses in areas subject to flood should be denied in settled districts like Los Angeles. Prospective flood victims in such areas as the lower Mississippi valley should be warned of their danger and told that if they choose to live in a river bed, because of the fertility of the soil there, they must not expect help from the taxpayers if the expectable flood damage occurs.

Editorial of the Day

WHEAT REDUCTION DISAPPOINTING.

[Kansas City Star.]

Preliminary acreage figures on wheat seeded this fall were awaited with more interest than usual, due to the effort to bring about a reduction through the use of the domestic allotment plan. If the revised figures for 1933 seeding are accepted there was a reduction of 1,690,000 acres. If the preliminary figures, issued in December, 1933, are used there has been an actual increase of more than a million acres.

It is estimated that the wheat reduction program will cost 102 million dollars in allotments to growers. At this rate it has cost the government a little over $60 an acre to take wheat out of production. Kansas, the leading wheat growing state, has responded with a reduction of 900,000 acres, or 7 per cent, at a cost of approximately $35 an acre. This does not include the overhead expense at Washington nor that of the extension service of the various states.

This result must be extremely disappointing to those who have sponsored the movement. It concurs with the opinion of many disinterested people that it is impossible to bring about a reduction in production by holding out the hope of higher prices for a product. This hope proved an incentive to farmers who had not been growing wheat to go into wheat production.

There has been, however, a tremendous distribution of funds to those who have coöperated with the plan. This has been socially important, since in many instances it has kept the recipients off the charity rolls. The major purpose of the plan, however, to bring about a reduction in the production of wheat, has failed. Fortunately this failure cannot be charged up to lack of funds, inefficiency in organization, or to organized opposition of nonagricultural groups. It demonstrates again that the human equation, as well as the dollar equation, must be taken into consideration in dealing with farmers and with their production.

"BABE RUTH EXPECTS Salary of $40,000 This Year."—Headline. Which is much better than the thirty dollars a month he would get in the CWA. But it's CWA workers hying themselves so happily out to the baseball works whenever they get a chance that makes it possible for the Babe to expect forty thousand berries this season.

CITY BREVITIES. Many of our citizens are happy over receiving lovely New Year's cards from Eddie Hughes, the w. k. sec. of state at Springfield. They are very pretty cards in yellow and black and all those who have received them are tacking them up on the front and rear of their automobiles. As most New Year's cards are chucked out in the alley this is a very pretty compliment to Mr. Hughes.

MORE CITY BREVITIES. And also our citizens are receiving New Year's cards from our w. k. fellow citizen, Mr. Carter Harrison. But instead of being happy over them as they are with the lovely cards from Mr. Hughes they sit down glaring at them and saying many things we cannot well print in a family newspaper. But Mr. Harrison's New Year's cards cannot be chucked into the waste basket or thrown into the alley. Oh, no, indeed! Mr. Harrison wants all his pretty cards filled out in blanks he has left for the purpose and returned to him. It is hinted around the village that there is a catch in it somewhere, and please do not quote us as saying so, but two or three people who also don't want to be named think that Mr. Harrison's cards are going to bob up some day in the hands of the income tax collectors.

—:—

ELEGY FOR ALL DESIRE.

Nature at length is kind,
And we who chased the wind
Are comforted at last
By holding comfort fast—
By litanies for our souls,
By wildflowers, set in bowls,
That tossed like colored spray
Day before yesterday;
By songs that hold no more
The surge of sea on shore,
But start and sink and rise
Calmly, like lullabies;
Meekly beneath our feet
We feel the hard earth sweet;
And that which was before
Despised grows more and more
Blest with a sure release,
Deep with unmeasured peace.

We shall remember, though,
The paths we used to go—
The voices of the night,
Whose speech was lost in flight;
The lifted heart, and all
That scorned the sure and small;
And the insulted wings
That spurned the touch of things
Less than a god might crave—
O innocent and brave!—
We shall remember, too,
Love when the heart was new,
And with how pure a fire
We raised his altars higher;
And with what strong delight
Our hearts were wrung; the sight
Of lovers wandering
Through the sweet nights of spring
Shall cry against our door
As it has cried before,
Bidding us wake and see
How passes ecstasy,
And how within the hour
A bud may come to flower
And golden perfume spend
To no enduring end—
Bidding us look and see
How what has been shall be,
And how when we are clay
There will be dusk and day,
And how at April's side
Walks an unchanging bride.

And yet, remembering these,
We shall have rest and peace;
Daisies for asphodel,
So runs the quiet spell—
And water for the wine,
And bread for that divine
Manna of other years;
And reveries, for the tears
That were so hot and eager,
And now are grown so meager;
The lips now ripe to kiss
Shall have no end but this,
Shall some time come to say
Grace for a painless day.
And we will have it so,
Unstirred, content to know
The taste of blander food . . .
And water, too, is good.

DOROTHY KISSLING.

AND LET US DISMISS in these first few days all fears of that threatened war in Europe. They won't fight over there. No! The U. S. A. won't lend 'em any more money. And do you think they'd spend their own good coin just to shoot at each other? Don't be silly!

—:—

OUR GENIAL VICE PRESIDENT, Mr. Garner, once again bursts into public print with a notable contribution to literature to the effect that he was much pleased with the President's message. But suppose Mr. Garner was not pleased? What would happen then? Now there's something else to worry about.

—:—

THE PRESIDENT paid a lot of lavish compliments to congress in his annual message. And the only trouble is that they're liable to believe 'em.

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

RADIUM AND ITS KIN.

THE man who is tempted to use a radium water as a rejuvenator has three reasons for resisting the temptation. The first is that the water is a humbug and contains practically no radium. In that event the only harm done is the loss of money and the acquirement of a reputation. Money is hard to get in this period of depression and a reputation for buying gold bricks does not commend a man.

The second is the possibility that the preparation contains enough radium to be harmful. In that event he may lose his life, as happened with one well known man and with others not so well known.

The third reason is that even when radium is present in definite therapeutic doses, as shown by proper tests, the use of the preparation will do no good. Dr. R. D. Evans, who has made a thorough study of the subject, says that radium scientifically given by hypodermic or intravenous injection, or by mouth, acts on the blood-making organs and, up to a certain point, causes new blood cells to be made and brings about a sense of well-being. This feeling of well-being is temporary and superficial, and the good effects on the blood are speedily lost. Pushed a little further, or continued a little longer, the effects on the blood become bad.

This applies to every method of using radium except its surgical use and the use of radium needles and seeds for the removal of cancers. It also applies, though in different degrees, to mesothorium, radon, and a score of radium substances, some of which are known by the names of other elements. However, it does not apply to lead, which is nothing more than the end product, so far as we know, of radium decomposition; nor to helium, which is another degeneration product down near the bottom of the list. It does not apply to the ordinary bath waters such as those of hot springs because of the small quantity of the substance they contain and the form in which it is there.

The symptoms of radium poisoning are inflammation of the gums and mouth generally, death of jawbone and other bones, osteomyelitis, soft spots in bones, easily broken bones, and a form of pernicious anemia.

Radium poisoning is like lead poisoning in at least two particulars: The symptoms may not start until years after the poison has been taken, and the two metals are stored in the same bones and the same parts of large bones. The places in which it is stored, in the order of frequency, are: the bones of the spinal column, the jaw, the thigh bone, the large bone of the lower leg, the tibia, the skull, and, far less frequently, the lungs.

There need be no doubt about diagnosis. There are six good tests for radium in the system, each showing very small traces, and, in addition, if the amount is large, there are simple tests that almost any physician can use.

Several methods of treatment give promise of helping the body throw off stored radium. All of these turn on the uses of lime by the body.

SHALE OIL.

W. E. J. writes: Will L. H. please inform us where we can buy crude shale oil that he used for psoriasis? A clerk in a local drug store told me he had had nearly one hundred calls for it. He had never heard of it, and did not know what it was, and could not suggest a place to send me.

REPLY.

L. H. lives in a shale oil country. All she had to do was to step to the tank in the factory and dip up a pint.

Crude shale oil is one form of crude petroleum—the kind that is extracted from shale.

One wonders why any drug store that had a chance to make one hundred sales did not try to find a way to make the money. Almost any one could have told this druggist what crude shale oil is. Many thousand gallons are mined yearly, and if we include all crude oils the annual production far exceeds in volume the business done by all drug stores.

IMPETIGO.

I. M. writes: I have noticed in the papers, and also from personal observation, that there is an epidemic of impetigo. I would appreciate it if you could give some timely suggestions in your column with regard to this annoying infection, its treatment, and preventive measures.

REPLY.

Contagious impetigo is an infectious disease. The usual cause is a staphylococcus.

An important means of prevention is to avoid contact between those who have it and those who are susceptible. This can be done, but in the case of an outbreak in the baby ward of a hospital some difficulty is encountered. Preventing exposure in a school is far easier. The contagion is in the discharge and it is spread by undergarments, dressings, and hands. Cleanliness is of great service in both prevention and cure. Staphylococcus bacteriophage treatment is good. There are other effective methods of treatment.

A KIND OF TUMOR.

L. S. L. writes: What is meant by neoplastic growths?

REPLY.

One name for tumor is neoplasm. This person was being told he had some kind of a tumor. Probably he paid for the information and a high sounding word best met the need.

NOISE NUISANCE.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—[Friend of the People.]—About 1:30 every afternoon when my baby should have his nap an automobile with a radio and very loud speaker advertising a movie theater passes three times within a half hour. It is impossible for the mothers in the neighborhood to put their babies to sleep. This evening at 9:30 the same automobile passed by with the loud speaker turned on. Is there any way to stop this noise when people are trying to sleep? J. C.

An officer investigated this complaint, reporting that he served arrest notification on the driver for violation of section 4194 City Code. The case was called in branch No. 25 and defendant was discharged by the judge, with instructions to eliminate the nuisance complained of. JAMES P. ALLMAN, Commissioner of Police.

MORTGAGED PROPERTY.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A man who owns several pieces of property made a will long before the depression, willing certain property to each of his six children. Since the depression he has been obliged to mortgage some of the property and is in debt. In case of his death, having failed to make a new will, will the children who were to inherit have to pay off the mortgage? Or will all the children have to share in paying off the mortgage and debts, even if some of the children's property is clear? Would the will be void until all debts were paid? One of the children loaned the father some money and received a note payable upon demand, charging no interest. How long is the note good without renewal, and would it be a first claim on the estate? P. R. S.

"As a general rule any debts of the testator which are secured by liens on property included in a will are payable primarily out of the personal estate, whether in case of mortgages, tax liens on real estate, liens for unpaid purchase money, or mortgages on personal property, unless the intention of the testator clearly appears to have been otherwise or the rule has been changed by statute. But the rule does not apply as against specific gifts, or pecuniary legacies of a fixed amount. Neither does it apply where the intention appears to place the lien on some particular fund, nor on the property mortgaged, as where the device in terms describes the land as subject to a mortgage. Where the mortgage or other lien is not created by the testator the debt secured is payable out of the property encumbered, unless the testator had assumed the payment thereof, or the will shows that the intention of the testator was that the mortgage or other lien should be paid out of the personalty." [40 Cyc. 2063.]

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO.—A born fighter and probably one of the greatest living naval strategists commands the first standing squadron and the combined fleets of Nippon today as a result of a sweeping shakeup in the navy. He is Vice Admiral Nobuharu Suetsugu, who has a record in the Japanese navy of having engaged in more verbal clashes with his superiors than any other officer.

Far more significant than this, however, is the confidence naval leaders, active and retired, repose in Admiral Suetsugu as a strategist. They expect the navy to display its maximum strength next year under the new commander. It is generally believed that he will attach the utmost importance to submarines and aircraft carriers.

Admiral Suetsugu is best known in Japan for his lashing criticism of the battle cruiser Kongo, once the pride of Japan, some years ago while he was still a lieutenant. His views infuriated the general staff and the discharge of the cocky young lieutenant was felt certain in many quarters. A few years later, however, Suetsugu's theory proved correct when, in the Jutland engagement the British battle cruisers of the type of the Kongo were badly battered. Thus the fate of the Queen Mary, of which Admiral Jellicoe writes in his memorable book, was sealed by a young Japanese naval officer before the world war.

An expert on submarines, Admiral Suetsugu is said to have put the Japanese submarine fleet through its severest tests during his days as its commander. It is the knowledge he gathered during those days that Admiral Suetsugu is expected to call on in building up the present combined fleets to their maximum strength.

During the London arms conference Suetsugu clashed with the then minister of navy on technical matters and was severely blamed for disclosing strategical secrets of the Japanese navy in his refutation of claims made by Admiral William V. Pratt of the United States. Unlike his predecessor, the new commander of the combined fleets is understood to oppose the London treaty.

"The entire Japanese navy, from old-timers on the retired list to young officers in active service," writes Shinsaku Hirata, a well-known writer on naval affairs, "rejoiced and cheered for their country when Vice Admiral Suetsugu was appointed commander of the combined fleets. This was especially so because during the last few years it was the apprehension of his supporters that his early retirement was inevitable owing to his frequent clashes with heads of the navy."

A LAW AGAINST LYNCHING.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Recent mob outbreaks in widely scattered parts of the country have aroused the nation to a pitch of fury over the lynching evil. All sorts of nostrums and remedies are proposed. We are now looking to the government at Washington for salvation for both our economic and moral sins. The enactment of federal laws to cure local evils has never proved a success from the foundation of the government. The more laws we make, the more we break.

When a committee of clergymen from the city of Chicago waited upon Abraham Lincoln urging him prematurely to issue the Emancipation Proclamation, that wise, long seeing statesman admonished them that he was unable to enforce the constitution in the rebellious states and that a mere proclamation by him would have no more effect upon them than the pope's bull had upon the path of the comet. The nation cannot enforce the laws it has against local interests, prejudice and passion. The fourteenth, fifteenth and eighteenth amendments are instances in point.

The mob in its very nature is local and limited. Its effective handling must fall under the jurisdiction of police powers. It can be effectively dealt with before it is allowed to gather momentum and volume. Local officers alone are competent to cope with this situation. The federal authorities can only function after the act; then it is too late. Gov. Murray of Oklahoma frustrated the formation and fury of the Kansas-Oklahoma mob by standing by his guns. The governor of Maryland did not stand by his guns and the mob had its way. What could the federal government do with the lynchers on Eastern Shore, Md., or with the San José mob and its sympathetic governor? The remedy lies with the people of Maryland and California to elect governors who will uphold law and order at all cost.

Lynching is murder. The lyncher is a murderer, however many of him there may be. America has the largest quota of murderers of any civilized nation on the face of the globe. It has the evil monopoly of lynching. The Negro is the easiest victim of lynching because the people have a bad conscience toward him, just as the Hitlerites have a bad conscience toward the Jews. The outward act is but a manifestation of the inner feeling. The real question is how to rectify the conscience of the American people in behalf of the Negro and in behalf of law and order. This cannot be done by law, which follows the national conscience but cannot lead it.

Had the Dyer anti-lynching bill become a law it probably would not have prevented a single lynching. However, the agitation and discussion which ranged around that ill fated measure may indeed have had some wholesome effect upon the mind and conscience of the nation. The same oblique effect might be asserted of proposed federal measures which are now in the stage of formulation. KELLY MILLER, Howard University.

TEMPERANCE IN A SALOON.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—My father had a saloon for over 30 years in one neighborhood. If a man came in and was the least bit intoxicated he couldn't buy a drink for any amount of money.

What the speakeasies and beer flats have done to the mass of people saloons will never do. DOROTHY GOLDSTEIN.

COMPARISONS.

Berkeley, Cal., Dec. 27.—Since our government has assumed the rôle of universal wet nurse for all and sundry, and, as Al Smith remarks, has transformed our nation into a guinea pig experiment station, all such subjects of high brow experimentation as still retain the American qualities of independence and freedom of thought are duty bound to insist that such economic experiments be carried on with due respect for consistency and ordinary humanity. Is this being done? I think not.

For example, our President's Christmas greeting to army and navy illustrates how kindly words may accompany unkindly actions; if Mr. Roosevelt had utilized the Christmas occasion to repeal the 15 per cent cut in pay from which these service men suffer, along with all governmental employés, those kind words of greeting would have carried more conviction. As it was, his good wishes resemble those of one who, having previously stripped a weaker neighbor of his overcoat, leaves the victim with a hearty word on how he may then enjoy Christmas' bracing winter winds.

The latest exhibit of the administration's economic humanity is the plan to care for our army of hobos, gently arrest the wanderers, delouse them, bathe them, feed them, and, perhaps, work them. This will cost money, public money, of course, and is quite a spectacular stunt. Whether it will be appreciated by the recipients is something else. And how unexpected, considering the hard boiled treatment given our vets, even our old ones.

The now old and disabled vets of the Cuban, Philippine, and Boxer wars, who put our nation on the map as a world power, are not hobos, so instead of a bawth they got the boot. They may have sweated in tropical jungles, fought battles, brought home the glory bacon, but are treated as strictly suspicious characters by our economy specialists. But the noble hobo is a charming child to be fondled and cared for.

LESTER TRAVIS, The University of California.

BEWARE.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—It is time for right minded people to do some serious thinking. In the old days before prohibition a saloon was looked upon as a disgraceful place even for a man, and no respectable woman would think of appearing in one unless, perhaps, to rescue an erring husband or son.

Now, however, things are quite different. Not one of us can possibly keep out of the places where liquor is dispensed, no matter how strongly we feel against it. We go into a department store and here stands an attractive young woman selling bottles of various kinds of liquor, apparently thoroughly enjoying the novelty of it. In the store where we buy our groceries and meats there is quite a sizable booth given over to wines, gins, etc. In the delicatessen store a pleasant saleslady offers us a small glass of some dark liquid for sampling, when we learn to our horror that it is some special brand of beer. It seems, as one man has said, that there is almost a halo put on the liquor traffic now.

Friends, in the old days we had many instances of various destructive diseases due to alcoholic beverages, and they are just as harmful today as they ever were. Furthermore, we know very well that drinks are not being sold so universally unless they are likewise being consumed. Let us be careful that we do not rot out at the core and collapse.

Muriel Keeps Up Buying at M'Cormick Sale

Shows Emotion as Furs Are Offered at Auction.

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Two opulent fur capes, from among the many treasures of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, were put on the auction block today, and for the first time since the sale of her effects began, Mrs. McCormick's daughter, Muriel, showed signs of emotion.

She bought both the coats—an expensive affair of chinchilla, and a striking cape of Russian ermine. Spectators around her noticed, however, that she flushed and seemed upset.

Her perturbation was quite foreign to the extraordinary composure with which she has watched her mother's belongings auctioned off during the last three days.

As usual, she sat with her husband, Maj. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, and as usual she bought lavishly. But everything about today's sale was lavish, for a crowd of 2,500 of the wealthy and curious packed every inch of the auction room.

Sharp eyed jewelers and dealers in antiques elbowed society women for room. Lorgnettes and gardenias were all over the place.

Sales amounted to $55,382, making a total of $136,827 for the auction thus far.

The most spectacular object today was Mrs. McCormick's eye-smashing diamond necklace, with 1,801 diamonds 103 of them large ones and two very large. Amid much excitement, it went for $15,000. It was bought by an agent for a mysterious New Yorker.

Mrs. Hubbard herself spent more than that amount, her purchases amounting to almost $20,000. Beside the chinchilla and ermine capes, she bought a diamond and sapphire bracelet for $4,700; a diamond and pearl pendant for $4,100, a sapphire bracelet for $1,600, a pair of pearl and diamond earrings for $2,400, and a ring set with a single huge pearl for $2,300.

Seats were not only reserved, but sold to people who were willing to pay for them. Mrs. Hubbard, her husband, and her agent had their usual front row places reserved for them.

Fans reminiscent of the elegant nineties—and selling for $50 and $60 apiece; carved jade figures, miniatures of French court ladies, Jewels and furs and carpets large enough for a palace were in the sale today.

A Russian sable coat went to H. H. Grinnell for $3,400, in excited bidding, and a short chinchilla coat, looking a bit dingy, to H. D. Perkins for $1,600.

Mrs. E. C. Lynch paid $3,000 for a diamond and pearl ring, and Mrs. E. D. Patterson bought a huge Aubusson carpet for $1,900.

A silver and tortoise shell toilet case said to have been used by Napoleon brought $60, and a small gold bonbonniere which the catalogue said Napoleon "in all probability" presented to his empress, Marie Louise, went for $800. Some one paid $100 for Mrs. McCormick's gold and turquoise seal, with its inscription, "E. R. McC., Christmas, 1904."

Tomorrow, the gilded silver service which Napoleon gave his sister Pauline and her husband, Prince Camillo Borghese, will be put up to dazzle the spectators.

A Grand Time at Roller Skating Party

Did they have a good time, these four young people and the other twenty-six who were guests of Mrs. Byron S. Harvey at a dinner and roller skating party for Miss Jean Wilhelm (second from the left) and Miss Helen Hunter (third from the left) Wednesday night? The answer is apparent from the expressions on their faces, isn't it? The others in the picture are the popular young bachelor, Daggett Harvey, who looks a little bit embarrassed to be having his picture taken with three girls, and Miss Laura Thorne. After so many formal parties during the busy holiday season the informality of Mrs. Harvey's affair for the two lovely debs was a welcome change and the party was voted one of the jolliest of the winter.

C. B. Mitchells Are Guests at Afternoon Tea

Henry Channons Entertained at Other Party.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE were two tea parties in the apartment building at 1530 State parkway yesterday afternoon for interesting and attractive visitors, Mrs. Charles Garfield King's small one for her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Buckingham Mitchell, and Mrs. F. Stanley Rickcords' larger one for Henry Channon and his bride, Lady Honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell had arrived yesterday morning from Pasadena for a ten days' visit with their family and to be here next week for his exhibition of pictorial studies in the Lord Nelson room of the Drake hotel. The exhibit opens with a preview and tea Monday afternoon arranged by Mrs. King, with the proceeds going to Chicago charities. All Mr. Mitchell's old friends who have known him and his lovely wife, the former Marjorie King, will be on hand Monday to see the photographs that young Mr. Mitchell has taken in the last few years since he went seriously into photographic art and the preview will be a very gala occasion.

On Tuesday the Service club is sponsoring the exhibit with some of its members, including Mrs. John Dern, Mrs. Horton Conrad, Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, Mrs. John I. Shaw [Barbara King], Mrs. Charles Conrad, and Mrs. Orville Taylor as hostesses.

Associate Member of Royal Society.

The Association of Arts and Industries is giving a luncheon for Mr. Mitchell on Wednesday in the lantern room and Mr. Mitchell will talk informally about how and where he made some of his studies. Yesterday Mrs. King persuaded him to show the letter he had just received from the Royal Photographic Society of Great Britain notifying him that he had been made an associate member, a very great honor indeed, as every one interested in photography knows.

He is a very modest young man and he admitted that exhibiting his work here in the city where he was born and where he lived until after he and Marjorie were married is much more exciting to him than having the very successful and highly praised exhibit in Paris that was held about a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell had brought with them new pictures of their cunning little girls, Marjorie and Nancy, to give their Grandmother King, but they were the only specimens of his work that were seen yesterday. Another of Mrs. Mitchell's grandchildren, wee Suzanne Shaw, was on display photographically, however, and every one decided she was the most adorable fat baby ever seen. Her picture wasn't taken by her photographer uncle, however, but by Mrs. Norman Pritchard, the Junior league's noted photographer.

Must Hasten to California.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell had hoped to go home by way of Mexico but he has to hasten back to do some work for the California Institute of Technology—pictures illustrating cancer research—which sound as if they would be more interesting than artistic. Opposite Views of Art Shown in Club Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Arts club has started the new year with two contrasting exhibits which are guaranteed to arouse speculation if not appreciation on the part of the public. It would be hard to find two painters more diametrically opposed in their views than Georges Rouault and Edward Hopper. Rouault loves the crowded scene veiled in tumultuous color; Hopper seeks solitude in paint as free from emotion as the whitewash on a fence.

There is, however, a haunting melancholy beauty about the realistic paintings of Hopper, the American, which is totally lacking in the French outburst. Edward Hopper simplifies every detail in an effort to obtain the kernel of truth which to him lies at the back of all sincere composition. A broom is a broom to him; a spade a spade. A room is an interior with windows and door. A girl is a figure designed to be washed, clothed, and entertained, maybe—but as his model she is just a peg on which to drape his impression of femininity.

For all of the stark simplicity of his manner, Mr. Hopper's facility in color gets him over many a hard place. The clear, quiet, smooth placidity of his paint relieves to a large extent the lonely realism that is his peculiar reading of the path contemporary art is attempting.

Rouault, the French painter, has been known to us for some time as one of the brusque exponents of modernist impressionism. He is violent as well as abrupt. He has not time nor sympathy for small virtues. Beauty and charm are lost in the chaos his brush unloosens.

Look at "La Foule," a crowd, possibly a theater crowd; the significance is dimmed in the torrent of reds and blacks that make the canvas. A little he has taken from the Russian, something from the Italian, yet in its depth his painting is purely French deriving from Lautrec and Forain, whose irony was fashioned with smoother weapons.

The exhibition will continue to Jan. 16 and is worth seeing.

Sport Clothes or Prints? Just Take Your Pick

Both Do Grand Things for Winter Coats.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Some like new prints, others lose their minds over tricky new flannel sports clothes . . . both can snuggle under winter coats or fur coats with some eye filling effects.

New patterned prints are cheerful things, combining color and a decently sized design that will not spread you over a couple of counties even though you like your prints a trifle loud or giddy.

The black background prints are stunning. Somehow or other they manage to control a printed floral or modernistic design better than any other color used for a back contrast. Even stripes and criss-cross checks appear sufficiently subdued and slimming against black.

Long sleeved black and colored prints are especially attractive in a newly unpacked collection . . . charming youthful models with a fluttering flare around the hemline, a smooth silhouette and softly draped sleeves that taper from the elbow to the wrist. Necklines still linger tightly around the highest level set this early winter, but much ingenious draping and clever winding do grand things toward softening that wrapped feeling.

But the newest flannels will surely boost your blood pressure . . . one spectacular outfit has been copied from a cowboy's outfit . . . a slim tailored dark blue skirt with hip pockets made with flaps, a deep blue leather belt handsomely studded with silver nailheads, a tuck-in shirt with pockets, and a white feminine version of the bandana 'kerchief made of flannel embroidered with coin dots of blue and lighter blue wool . . . every inch of this costume is smooth wool. It's a find for a college wardrobe . . . it's snug, smart, and swanky.

Another wool ensemble includes a breezy plaid wool skirt cut with bias seams, topped with a blue flannel shirt blouse. Casually knotted and stuck inside the collar of the blouse is an ascot tie of plaid wool to match the stiffened belt, also of the same large plaid of the skirt.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

WE'VE been hearing about the plans being made by a group of Irish in Chicago for a typical Irish village on the Midway at the World's Fair next summer. The money already has been raised, according to John J. Reilly, and ardent sons of the ould sod are planning reproductions of famous Irish buildings and castles, including Blarney castle. A bit of the blarney stone will be there too.

* *

Roger Faherty, one of the prime movers of the plan, says one of the attractions will be a large map, 200 feet square, made of sod from every county in Ireland. That ought to provide a thrill both to Irish who have never seen the Emerald isle and to the ones homesick for its sod. There will be a statue of St. Patrick, and an old Gaelic cross, and a place for outdoor dancing, with Irish colleens in costume one of the attractions. The group hopes the Irish Free State will have its official exhibit there, too, but the proposed Irish village has no connection with the Irish Free State. A few weeks ago Daniel J. McGrath, commissioner of the Irish Free State to A Century of Progress, said that his government had not yet decided whether it would take part in the 1934 Exposition.

* *

WE said that we had heard Sally Rand was now running an orange grove in California and Ernest A. Edkins bulletins that he heard it was a fig farm. . . . It is Ben Bernie who wisecracks that certainly Miss Rand must be counted among our feathered friends.

* *

THE reactions of an opera baby were demonstrated by the infant son of Marion Claire the other day. His name is Henry Weber Jr., and Miss Claire, as you probably remember, is the wife of the young conductor. The baby lives with his grandmother on the north shore, and as Miss Claire has been rehearsing for "Manon" and "Turandot" and for the rôle of Violetta in "La Traviata," and before was singing in "Bittersweet" she has seen him very little recently. There have been short and dashing visits and many good-byes. The other day Miss Claire sent a new picture of herself to her mother. She showed it to her little grandson and explained that was his mother.

"Bye-bye," said young Henry, in a burst of understanding, waving his chubby hand violently.

* *

APPEAL with variations. She was elderly, and neat, and, on the whole, rather chipper. She stopped Mrs. Paget Cady on Division street and said:

"Could you give me a dime for a cup of tea?"

* *

HE was slight of build and adolescent of countenance. Walking up to a hotel bar he hesitated a moment, then said to the old-timer standing there:

"What's that you're drinking?"

"Brandy and soda," the old-timer answered.

"Hm, none of those soft drinks for me," the lad sniffed.

Mark Kemper Weds Office Secretary at California Ceremony

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—A quiet wedding ceremony performed by Dr. Herbert Bruce Smith this afternoon in the chapel of Immanuel Presbyterian church united Miss Gwendolyn Annabel Wagner of Los Angeles and Mark W. Kemper, official of various Chicago insurance corporations. After a honeymoon in Palm Springs and other coast places the couple will be at home in Evanston, Ill., after Feb. 1.

Mrs. Kemper, 25 years old, and a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, met Mr. Kemper, whose home is Chicago, while working as a secretary in one of the coast offices of the Kemper insurance corporations.

Mr. Kemper is 32 years old. His best man was his brother, James S. Kemper of Winnetka, Ill., who arrived for the wedding this morning. Miss Carol Wagner, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

BY MARY MEADE.

The head oft rules the heart, especially if it be a good plump head of cauliflower. For there's hardly a heart so stony that it could hold out against the wiles of a ham and cauliflower bake or a perfectly flavored cauliflower au gratin. Things like that just aren't done.

But before easing kitchenward to prove my statement a fact, take a minute to consider the cauliflower family connections. Did you know, for instance, that vegetables, like people, can choose their friends, but that they can't do anything about selecting their relatives? Seems 'tis so. For it happens that the ladylike cauliflower is a member of the cabbage family. Paler and more delicate, but still a cabbage at heart.

And by the same token both these rotund vegetables are cousins to Brussels sprouts and broccoli. So be sure you never slander the one to the other. For the fact is that even cabbage is no longer the low-life vegetable we used to accuse it of being. New methods of cooking are sending it to the table without scenting up the house in the meantime. The trick is to cook it in plenty of water in an uncovered kettle. If you have the water boiling and chop the cabbage fine, it will be tender in half the usual time. Cabbage should never be cooked so long that it loses its crispness.

So, first for the cauliflower-ham tempter I mentioned.

HAM AND CAULIFLOWER BAKE.

1 small cauliflower
1 dozen soda crackers
1 cup cooked, chopped ham
2½ tablespoons butter
1¾ cups milk
Salt and pepper to taste

Divide the cauliflower into flowerlets and crumble the crackers. Now butter a casserole and in it arrange alternate layers of cauliflower, ham, and crackers. Season the layers and dot each with butter. Over the top of all pour the milk. Bake in a hot oven [425 degrees F.], for half an hour.

Cauliflower au gratin is much the same sort of a mainstay, minus the ham and plus a generous sprinkling of grated cheese. As above, separate the cauliflower into flowerlets, and alternate layers of these with layers of crumbled crackers. Season, and pour on a cup of milk. Then scatter over the top ¾ cup of grated cheese, dotting it with butter. Bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes.

But every cauliflower does not have to take itself apart before it comes to the table. A well chosen head, soaked an hour in salted cold water to remove any possible insects, and then cooked until just tender in boiling water is a perfect centerpiece around which to group broiled chops and hot shoestring potatoes for a winter supper. Over the cauliflower, when it arrives in its serving dish, pour melted butter and sprinkle finely minced parsley. Or, for another treat, spread cream cheese or pimiento cream cheese over the top of a very hot head of cauliflower. Serve it just as the cheese is melting and lazily running down into the creamy head.

There is, of course, creamed cauliflower. Boil the flowerlets until tender, then reheat them in medium white sauce. Or better yet, place the whole head in a serving dish, adorn it graciously with creamy sauce and sprinkle with cheese or a dash of paprika. Hollandaise sauce is still another complement to the mild, sweet flavor of cauliflower. Use it either over the whole or the broken up head.

Peas are likewise friends of cauliflower. Cook the head whole. A small one will do. Place it in a shallow serving dish, anoint it all over with melted butter dashed with paprika, cheese, or minced parsley, and surround it with a bevy of gay and buttered green peas. It's most partyfied.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a weekly radio feature—will be presented today by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 11:10 o'clock for Miss Meade's market chat.

Here's Relish That You Will Relish with Meat

A relish you'll relish with your meat and fowl is made with cranberries, orange, and apple slices. Cut a peeled apple into eighths, slice one orange thin, and mash a cup of cranberries. Then boil together a cup of corn sirup and a cup of water for one minute; add the apples and cook 15 minutes; add cranberries and orange. Cook 10 minutes longer and chill.

HONEY ONCE ONLY SWEET USED IN THE HOUSEHOLD

It Still Serves Many Purposes.

Honey was the first sweet known to man and was once the only sweet used in the household. After sugar was invented it gradually replaced this product.

Honey can be used the same way as sugar, however, provided the housewife learns the rules for substituting. It may be used on fruits, cereals, in dressings for salads, sweetening for beverages and in baking hams. It also may be substituted for sugar in bread, cakes, and cookies.

In using honey instead of sugar in baked products a honey recipe is advised, when one is available. Honey contains about 1-5 moisture, so the liquid in an ordinary recipe must be reduced one-fifth. For example: A cake recipe calls for one cup of sugar and a half cup of liquid. Measure one cup of honey and half a cup of liquid, then remove one-fifth of a cup from the half cup of liquid.

Oven temperatures are important in baking with honey, as the carmelization point is low. Therefore the mixture should be baked slowly and evenly. Honey cakes will brown very rapidly. All baked products where honey is used should stand two or three days before using as this improves the flavor.

PRICES ADVANCE AFTER HEAVY HOLIDAY SALES

Spinach and Eggs Among Foods That Go Up.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Chicagoland housewives will find a careful selection of food items to their advantage this week-end. Prices will be found to have advanced somewhat since the heavy holiday sales and with the reduced shipments of many foods such as perishable vegetables.

Among the foods advanced in price this week are spinach, storage eggs, head lettuce, bacon, both old and new green cabbage, green peas, both sweet and white potatoes, and the new crop of cauliflower now coming to market.

Further increases in prices of potatoes and onions are expected by food merchants. There are new potatoes, red skinned cobblers, coming to Chicago from Florida, but they are priced in the luxury class along with the first strawberries of the season from gulfside berry patches. The new potatoes hardly make up for somewhat reduced supplies of northern grown potatoes, however.

Onions Likely to Be Higher.

There is some talk of onions being higher priced before the new crop arrives next spring, due to a light crop being harvested in nearby states last fall. Another factor was the extreme low prices quoted for onions in large quantities, and fewer stocks were put into storage than is normal.

The cabbage crop is in the same condition as the new and old potatoes, with meager shipments from the southlands failing to make up for a light crop produced during last summer's drought in nearby areas. There is little fear of actual shortage or of extreme advances over present prices, however.

Meats continue to be attractively low priced, so far as consumers are concerned. There was a heavy increase in the marketing of meat animals by farmers during November and December. As a result people of the nation increased their consumption of meats by 4 pounds per person, and indications are that low prices will continue to make meat an economical part of the shopping list for several weeks.

Egg Prices Rise.

The rise of 2 to 5 cents a dozen in some grades of eggs in the last fortnight will seem a surprise to many frugal housewives. It is the result of fractional increases in wholesale markets. Most local stores will also be found still leaving the eggs out in open and heated quarters, whereas they are just as perishable as butter, bacon, fresh meats, or cheese.

The quality of the eggs as established by grading them when they are first sold to retailers is thus materially reduced before reaching consumers. A new ruling of the Illinois department of agriculture is now in effect on grading of eggs and applies to retailers as well as wholesalers.

Hothouse tomatoes from nearby greenhouses are vying with the shipments coming all the way from Cuba, Florida, and Mexico. Supplies are not so great, however, as to make tomatoes the most economical purchase, but they are plump and juicy and highly desirable for salads.

OLD FASHIONED BOILED DINNER IS REAL MEAL

It's Cheap and Also Full of Vitamins.

An old fashioned boiled dinner is chock full of vitamins in the form of all the cheapest and most nutritious vegetables. It also appeals strongly to the family dishwasher. Here is a recipe:

BOILED DINNER.

- 4 pounds of corn beef
- 4 quarts of water
- 3 large onions, halved
- 2 large turnips, quartered
- 3 parsnips
- 5 medium carrots, halved
- 3 large potatoes, quartered
- ½ head of cabbage, cut in eighths

Select a good piece of beef and cover it with four quarts of cold water. Bring the water to a boil and then discard it. Cover the meat again with four more quarts of water and let it simmer till tender. Remove the meat, and if the liquid is too salty pour off part of it and add sufficient fresh water to make at least three pints of well flavored broth.

Add the vegetables to the broth in this order: First, the onions; then twenty minutes later the turnips, parsnips, carrots, and potatoes. Fifteen minutes before these vegetables are done, add the cabbage, which has been cleaned and cut in sections. Serve the boiled dinner on a large platter, with the meat in the center and the vegetables drained and arranged around it.

With the boiled dinner one might serve only some kind of bread, such as corn bread or muffins, and a dessert, which might be hot gingerbread with cream cheese, date and nut filling.

TODAY IS CHRISTMAS! AT LEAST IT'S SO FOR THIS CAROLINA TOWN

Rodanthe, N. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Today is Christmas eve in Rodanthe and tonight the Santa Claus of old Christmas will fill stockings for grownups and the kiddies.

The residents of this isolated spot on the outer banks of North Carolina prepared to spend the day as a holiday just as outlanders celebrated Christmas on Dec. 25.

It has been the custom here for generations to regard tomorrow as "old Christmas," but there is no reference to such a day in church history. There is the feast of Epiphany or Twelfth Night, which is said to be the time the Three Wise Men reached Bethlehem to find the Christ child in a manger, but that date falls on Jan. 6.

Even the oldest residents here do not know how they came to observe Jan. 5 as Christmas, but it is an old Rodanthe custom, handed down from generation to generation and so far as Rodanthe is concerned, tomorrow is Christmas.

UNCOVERED PAN IS ADVISED FOR ROASTING MEAT

Other Hints on Proper Way to Do It.

Roasting, if properly done, is one of the best and easiest ways to cook the tender cuts of meat.

For best results an uncovered pan should be used, such as an ordinary sheet iron dripping pan, because covering the pan makes the meat steam and produces a less palatable product. The roast should be placed on a rack to keep it out of the drippings, with the fat side on top to make the roast self-basting.

Start the roast in a hot oven (400 to 450 degrees F.) to sear it, leaving it at this temperature for twenty minutes. Then reduce the heat to about 300 degrees F.

Searing Improves Appearance.

The searing process causes shrinkage, but it improves the appearance of the roast and also the color and flavor of the drippings. The later lowered temperature reduces loss in weight of the meat through drippings and evaporation of water and gives a juicy, palatable, uniformly done roast.

The cooking times to the pound for different kinds of meat vary with the size and shape of the individual roast, but certain averages are generally accepted. Medium done beef requires 22 to 25 minutes to the pound, lamb 30 to 35 minutes, pork 30 to 35 minutes. These times include the 20 minute searing at 400 to 450 degrees Fahrenheit and continued cooking at about 300 degrees Fahrenheit.

The temperature of a rare or medium done roast of beef continues to rise for an appreciable period of time, about five minutes to the pound, after the meat is removed from the oven. Unless the meat is to be served immediately this should be taken into consideration in the cooking time.

For Less Tender Cuts.

Less tender cuts of meat also require cooking at low temperature. Moisture will make them more tender, so pot roasting is often used. Grinding, pounding, and scoring break the tough meat fibers. Addition of acid, such as tomatoes or vinegar, helps to soften less tender meats. The acid may be present in cooking or the meat may be soaked in an acid solution before cooking.

Veal always contains large amounts of tough connective tissue because it comes from a young animal. This needs to be softened for a tender product. Because veal contains little fat, it is usually cooked in a covered pan, and fat is added in the form of pieces of bacon or salt pork placed over the top. Veal requires about 25 minutes of roasting to the pound.

Like Cheese? Some New Ways to Prepare Tempting Dishes

BY MABEL BRYANT.

Interest being focused on cheese this week, meet the cheese family of more than 400 relatives, best known to Americans being the cheddar, brick, Limburger, Camembert, cottage, cream, Edam, Gouda, hand, loaf, Parmesan, Neufchatel, Romano and Roquefort.

Old world dairymen consider the United States cheese industry somewhat of a puzzle, for although this country produces a total of more cheese than any other country, per capita consumption, it is among the lowest of the important nations.

Swiss in Lead.

Americans eat about five pounds of cheese a year. The Swiss eat about 23 pounds per capita in a year, while in Holland, France, and Denmark the consumption is about 13 pounds, and in Germany and England about nine pounds. Statisticians have figured out the average American food consumption of all foods as a total of 1,600 pounds of food of all kinds. Of this dairy products comprise about one-third, or, more specifically, 530 pounds in the form of milk, butter, ice cream, cheese, and other dairy products.

Cheese is such a versatile food it can be used a great deal more than it is, for the addition of a little grated cheese can conjure a very simple dish of food into "company fare." In salads, desserts, cookies, cakes, and even soup improvements can be made by adding some of this wholesome protein.

A very simple luncheon dish and one way of using stale bread is made in the following manner:

In a buttered baking dish place two large slices of well buttered white bread. Sprinkle with two tablespoons of grated American cheese, and add a little pepper and salt. Repeat in order with the cheese on top. Beat two eggs and add to them one pint of sweet milk. Beat both eggs and milk well together and pour over the bread. Set in moderate oven and bake for ½ hour. The bread will swell up and be very fluffy and light.

Here's Another Way.

There are many ways of dressing up hearts of tender, crisp lettuce, but we think no dressing can compare with Roquefort cheese dressing. For this delicious cheese has a flavor that is much sought by a true epicurean. You might like to know one way of making this dressing. It is done in the following manner:

Have mayonnaise bowl well chilled. Rub inside with a clove of garlic split to get the flavor. Have piece of Roquefort cheese equal to about 4 large tablespoonfuls. [Cheese must be soft.] Mash until very smooth with back of tablespoon. Add 1 teaspoon of paprika, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sweet cream. Blend well together, then add 1 tablespoon of tarragon vinegar. When well blended add ¾ cup of good olive oil very slowly until all is the thickness of rich cream. Set in refrigerator until ready to serve.

A NEW BOOKLET ON SANDWICHES BY MARY MEADE

Gives Dozens of Ideas for Menu.

Although "The Sandwich Maker," can't quite live up to its name by stepping into the kitchen, cutting the bread and mixing the fillings, it will make short work of menu planning by suggesting dozens of new sandwiches, hot and cold. "The Sandwich Booklet" is a new booklet written by Mary Meade which may be purchased for 2 cents at THE TRIBUNE public service office, 1 South Dearborn, or will be sent by mail upon receipt of 3 cents, stamps or coin.

Other booklets which may be obtained at the public service office or by writing to Miss Meade are:

Household Hints

Bridge sandwiches may be decorated with tiny diamonds and hearts cut from canned pimiento. Pretzels served with ice cream are novel and delicious.

Crumbled soda crackers may be added to scrambled eggs to make them go further.

A delicious pudding may be made from left-over applesauce. Into 1½ cup of apple sauce fold 1½ cups crumbled graham cracker crumbs. Pour into a pudding dish and chill several hours in the refrigerator. Serve with whipped cream.

FRENCH SOLDIERS RESCUE STRANDED ALPINE TOURISTS

NICE, France, Jan. 4.—(AP)—French Alpine Chasseurs, the famous "blue devils" of the world war, were pressed into service today to rescue more than 200 tourists stranded by a snowfall at Beuil, a tiny winter sports resort in the mountains 50 miles northwest of here. A large party of tourists, including, it was understood, some Americans, went to Beuil by automobile Sunday with the Nice Ski club.

One hundred of them returned Monday but the rest were unable to leave because of the snow. The village hotel was overcrowded and some of those forced to remain obtained shelter in cabins. One boy, a member of the party, became ill and a wireless SOS was sent to Nice for a doctor. The rest of the party is well.

The tourist party doubled the normal population of the village and a food shortage resulted. Nice authorities first thought of sending a plane to the rescue, but finally assigned the blue devils to the task. The soldiers carried in provisions and brought out 40 tourists. They expect to rescue the rest tomorrow.

OYSTER STEW MAKES EXCELLENT MIDNIGHT LUNCH; HOT, TASTY

Midnight refreshments should be light and hot, but not so rich as to upset digestion. Oyster stew with crisp crackers meets these requirements.

- 1 quart milk.
- 1 quart oysters.
- 4 tablespoons melted butter.
- 2 tablespoons flour.
- Salt.
- Pepper.
- Paprika.
- Chopped parsley.

Heat the milk in a double boiler. Strain the oysters from their liquor and pick out any small pieces of shell that may cling to them. Heat the liquor slightly and remove the scum. Blend the flour and melted fat and stir into the hot milk until it thickens. Add the oysters and liquor and cook for five or ten minutes, or until the edges of the oysters begin to curl.

If the oysters are cut up, the flavor will be stronger. Season to taste with salt and pepper, and serve immediately. Turn into a large earthen bowl and sprinkle with paprika and chopped parsley, and ladle out individual portions on the spot. This recipe serves five or six people.

Only crackers are needed to eat with the stew. If other refreshments are to be served, they should be no more than crisp celery, olives, nuts, raisins, simple candies—something to nibble on but not to make a meal of.

Peanut Butter Cookies Simple, Easy to Bake

You need to mix only four things together to produce 18 dainty peanut butter cookies. Stir until blended ½ cup peanut butter, ½ cup sliced dates, ¾ cup powdered sugar and two unbeaten egg whites. Drop the mixture from a teaspoon on an oiled sheet and bake in a moderate oven for 15 minutes.

M'HENRY MOTHER GETS PENSION FOR SON IN CIVIL WAR

Mrs. Samantha R. Button of McHenry, who was 103 years old last month, is the only mother of a civil war soldier receiving a pension, according to Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, in a report made public in Washington yesterday.

Mrs. Button's first son by the first of two marriages, Clinton D. Rorer, was with Company H, 8th Illinois cavalry, when he was 16 years old. He died of typhoid fever June 4, 1864, a few months after entering the service. All of her three sons are now dead. Among her eight living grandchildren are Dr. Clarence Rorer, dentist, of Waukegan, and Frank and Leonard Rorer of Dixon.

Lita Grey Chaplin in City for Stage Work in Canada

Lita Grey Chaplin, former wife of Charlie Chaplin, the film comedian, passed through Chicago yesterday on her way to Toronto and Montreal to make personal appearances. Afterward she expects to go to London. Asked if she still intended to make movie stars out of her sons, Charlie Jr., 5 years old, and Sidney, 7 years old, Mrs. Chaplin intimated that if the opportunity came along to increase the children's bank account she would go to court again. She was once restrained by court order from placing the boys in the films.

BARBARA MDIVANI AND HUBBY LEAVE ON WORLD TOUR

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The secrecy and pomp befitted royalty. There were armed guards, whispering secretaries, fluttering lady's maids.

All except a cheering populace attended the departure of the $40,000,000 five-and-ten heiress, the Princess Barbara Hutton Mdivani, from Grand Central station today.

The blonde princess was accompanied by her husband, Prince Alexis Mdivani, and her cousin, pink-cheeked, prep-schoolish Jimmy Donahue.

Not a dozen people saw them off. A few relatives, including Papa Franklyn F. Hutton, showed up.

They rode out of the station at 12:45 aboard Princess Barbara's $120,000 private car, Curley Hut. It was hooked to the end of the Exposition flyer.

The trio was en route to Los Angeles and a trip to the orient, which will take them on a year's voyage around the world.

CHILD'S DIET, IF IMPROPER, MAY BRING LATER ILLS

A child who appears to thrive on an improper diet may in later years reap a harvest of ills because of it.

For adequate nourishment a child should have every day three to four cups of milk, one serving of meat [liver once or twice a week and sea food once], one egg, three to four kinds of vegetables [one raw and one "green-leafy"], two to three kinds of fruits, including either oranges, grapefruit or tomato juice, one serving of whole grain cereal, two tablespoons of butter, and cod liver oil.

For young children the noon meal should be heaviest. Each meal should contain a variety of textures—a crisp food and a soft, a dry food, and a moist.

DOUG FAIRBANKS WILL FACE $72,000 FEDERAL TAX SUIT

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Douglas Fairbanks will be named defendant in two federal court suits to be instituted by the United States government, according to United States Attorney Peirson Hall, today.

The suits will attempt to collect $72,186 from the movie star for asserted overrefunds on past income taxes, which were paid to the actor Jan. 22, 1932. Instructions to file the suit have been received from the attorney general's office in Washington, Hall said. He said that Fairbanks has ignored the treasury department's correspondence on the subject sent to him abroad.

The sums involve income tax payments for 1927, and 1928 and 1929, plus interest exceeding $10,000.

Gen. Brown to Be Guest at Reception Tomorrow

Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, new commander of the 6th corps area, and Mrs. Brown will be guests at a reception tomorrow evening at the Army and Navy club, 830 Lake Shore drive. The affair is sponsored by the Cook county chapter of the Reserve Officers' association. Col. Gilbert Fitz-Patrick, U. S. Medical reserve, is president of the chapter, and Maj. Walter R. Jeffrey, Cavalry reserve, is secretary.

MOON IS USED AS LOOKING GLASS TO SEE EARTH

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of the Carnegie institution's Mount Wilson observatory, and Dr. Theodore Dunham Jr. told today how they had used a part of the moon as a looking glass in which to see the earth.

The astronomers had made observations of Mars several months ago and found its atmosphere contained less than 1 per cent of the free oxygen that is on the earth, not enough to sustain human life.

But they could only view Mars' atmosphere from the outside, and it appeared possible that light, absorbed by gases in this atmosphere might be scattered back so strongly toward them as to obliterate "the characteristic spectral absorption lines by which the gas is usually recognized."

Visit to Arliss Set Will Prove Movies an Art

Develops Clever Touches While He Works.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—If all the color of costumes and setting, and all the clever acting touches and improvisations of business that develop in a George Arliss scene could be reproduced in their actuality for screen fans the movies would have their best demonstration of the pro side of that old argument that movies are an art and not a business.

Arliss, as Nathan Rothschild, banker in Napoleonic times, was sitting in long green broadcloth coat, white frilled tie drooping over brocaded golden yellow vest, tight green trousers, facing Robert Young and Reginald Owen across a desk in a scene where Owen, as Herries, British finance minister, is seeking a loan of £5,000,000 to keep on fighting France.

Young, as a lieutenant of British troops, sat resplendent in vivid red cloak, light blue trousers with wide red stripe, holding his heavy, metal, helmet with its crest of black horse plume, while Owen, in gray black coat, made his grumpy and reluctant speech to the low born financier. Copies of old masters looked down from the oaken walls, and sunlight [supplied by studio lamps] flickered on little pieces of statuary, and the grained wood desk as the conference that meant history, took place.

As Arliss gave his lines from the script, it was dramatic. His lines in answer to Owen's request for the five million pounds, were: "I decline to raise £5,000,000 to keep the allies fighting Napoleon—but [rising] you can tell the Duke of Wellington, the five ——— Rothschilds will let him have ten million pounds, if he will guarantee to smash [with a thump on the table] Napoleon." And then, as the speaker realized he was wearing his black beaver hat in the presence of representatives of the high born might and splendor of the British empire, he said in a soft voice: "O, excuse me, gentlemen," and removed his hat.

As the scene was first shot it became apparent to Al Werker, director, and Peverell Marley, cameraman [he used to be Lina Basquette's husband, and once acted as a director] that it did not last long enough to provide footage sufficient for a fade out.

"What do you think we could do to build it up a little, George?" Werker asked.

Arliss immediately reeled off suggestions. He first extended the scene by standing, and looking into a mirror across the room, where his change of expression registered. Then he noticed that he was wearing his hat, and the British minister was bareheaded.

Next came another change of expression as he discreetly thought over the faux pas and decided what to do about it. Then the bit of business about removing his hat, slowly walking from his desk, and bowing to the important visitors, and the footage exactly allowed for a fadeout.

All actors in Hollywood like to work with Arliss. He is a shrewd judge of fine points of the craft; and he's a gentlemanly and diplomatic insinuator of suggestions that help other members of his cast make stronger camera impressions.

Packey McFarland, the Chicago boxer, found himself as much an attraction for film stars of a vintage to remember his heyday as the film stars were for other members of Packey's party of Catholic Youth Organization when the Chicago boxing team was entertained at luncheon and on the sets of Fox studio.

Engaged

HELEN EDITH HENRI.
[Paul Stone Photo.]

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Helen Edith Henri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Henri of River Forest, to Willard Hamilton Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Richardson, also of River Forest. Miss Henri attended Briarcliff and later the University School for Girls. Mr. Richardson attended Purdue university and the University of Virginia.

All Varieties of Lawyers at Judicial Party

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—When the scarlet coated marine band struck up its opening march over at the White House this evening I firmly expected a bailiff to step out from the palms and intone, "Oyez, oyez, oyez, this honorable court is now in session!"

For it was the reception for the judiciary, and all of Uncle Sam's lawyers, from the chief justice of the Supreme court down to the law clerk in a branch office, were on hand to shake the presidential hand.

Crisply genial Charles Evans Hughes, the chief justice, was number one guest. After him came his associates on the country's Supreme bench. At least six of his associates showed up: Justices Van Devanter, McReynolds, Butler, Stone, Roberts, and Cardoza laid aside the black robes of the law to don the black tails of society. Mr. Justice Sutherland, who usually goes to these parties, was absent because of indisposition. Mr. Justice Brandeis, who never goes to any parties, was absent.

Judges, counsels, attorneys, and just plain lawyers were there by the score.

Of course, there were other guests, too.

The cabinet was on hand. Frances Perkins, who was ten minutes late at the diplomatic reception, was ten minutes early tonight.

Alice Roosevelt Longworth, effective in a glamorous gown which a secret service man described as "sort of a stained glass window thing," halted in the hall as her cousins walked into the green room. Cousin Alice waved to Cousin Eleanor; Cousin Eleanor waved back.

Young Children Ought to Have Problem Toys

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

An interested aunt writes:

"My sister has asked me what to do about her 15 month old daughter. This is a question of the toys she should have to play with. The child no longer gets any pleasure out of playing with things she can just look at. She tries to place covers on boxes and keys in locks and will spend a great deal of seemingly earnest endeavor at these jobs. But, of course, she seldom succeeds. This seems to anger her, and she wishes to get the box or lock out of her sight immediately, striking at them with her little hands, and often ending in a crying spell."

This baby ought to have a great deal of freedom about the house, and should be watched to see just what things she can play with successfully. She needs large hollow blocks—the better toy stores and department stores have blocks that are just right for this age. Picture books fit in, too.

We have a leaflet on toys and playthings for various ages, and booklets for children under seven, which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Feminine Charm Doesn't Depend on Mere Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"Not so beautiful, but——"

The perfect modern compliment! If anybody says that about you, you may know you've arrived. That "but" is weighted with praise. It implies beauty in the modern manner.

The qualifying phrase may be "but she dresses so cleverly." "But her hair is gorgeous." Her manner delightful. Her whole bearing distinguished, clever, and so on.

That "but" lets every woman in on the game. You can be admired for something. Put that down in your intimate diary. You can be admired for something. You have star points, anyway, one star points! You must recognize that before you can begin to show up as well as you might. Become aware of yourself, you women who are given to thinking "What's the use?" If nothing else was allotted to you, there's that grand personal grooming within the reach of every blessed one of you.

If you can't afford it, you don't have to go to a beauty parlor to achieve it.

You may not be able to afford expensive clothes, but they don't matter so much today if the girl or woman has the scrubbed, tubbed, well groomed look.

Page Mr. Pomeroy

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

SYNOPSIS.

Bruce Pomeroy, brought up in poverty, befriended a Russian, Boris Orleneff. In return, Orleneff, before his death, left Pomeroy an invention, which is about to make Pomeroy a millionaire. Orleneff stipulated that his brother's family, whom he considered parasites, were not to get a cent from the invention. While walking through New York's Central park one winter's morning Pomeroy is kidnaped and taken to a small island off the coast of Maine, where he is made a prisoner in a luxurious home, but kept on a starvation diet. His captor is Boris Orleneff, nephew of the inventor. Boris' cousins, Cyril and Olga Norrikoff, assisted in the abduction. They want Pomeroy to make a settlement. He refuses. Boris invites Pomeroy to join the family circle downstairs. The older members are unaware that Pomeroy is an involuntary guest. Pomeroy manages to elude his guard. Grateful, and get out of his room, but a raging storm makes escape impossible. Olga Norrikoff tells Pomeroy they are all starving. That the house was lent to them for the winter. Boris and Cyril hadn't been able to get work. Pomeroy arranges, through Grateful to get food supplies from Andy Mason, the caretaker. He has fallen in love with Irma Orleneff, Boris' sister. Cyril's mother dies and his father commits suicide. Cyril had left, before the tragedy, in a leaky boat to get help from the mainland. Pomeroy asks Irma to marry him. Meanwhile in New York Herbert Schuyler, a witness to Pomeroy's abduction, comes forward. He traces the license number of the car that was used. It is owned by two brothers in Maine of good reputation.

INSTALMENT XLI.

TRAILING THE KIDNAPERS.

Schuyler liked the looks of Quinlan, who had a ready smile and a nice Irish lilt to his speech. They shook hands cordially.

"You're the man who went up to Maine to interview the owner of the car I saw in Central Park, aren't you?"

"I am that. An' a wild goose chase it was," Quinlan assured him.

"You didn't get anything?"

"Divil a thing but a long journey and a cinder in me eye, an' a front seat for the worst storm in them parts in these twenty years."

"I'm sorry about the cinder and the storm," Schuyler smiled. "Are you at liberty, Mr. Quinlan, to tell me everything that passed in your interview with Mr. Owen Bradley, the owner of the car I saw? Did Mr. Johnson make it plain I was to have a full report?"

"He did that. An' if there was a full report you'd get it," Quinlan said philosophically. "But I'm afraid Bradley's car wasn't the one you saw in the park. It had the number you give us, an' it was like what your man said. But it ain't been out of the state of Maine this winter, or so Mr. Owen Bradley says—an' his brother Jim backs him up."

"What sort of men are they?"

"Nice youg fellas, both livin' with an old aunt on a farm outside the town. The aunt's been in Portland these two weeks so she's no help."

"Did you talk to any of the neighbors?"

"No, sir, an' for a mighty good reason. Divil a neighbor have they got. They're two miles from the town an' quarter or a mile from the nearest neighbor, an' that neighbor shuts up his farm an' goes to Bangor for the winter," the raconteur added triumphantly. "Jest the same, I found out all about the lads in the town. They've got fine records. Every one speaks well of them. They don't work the farm. They have a boat in the summer an' they take out fishin' parties an' the like. They know every one and every one knows them. One thing I made sure of. Neither of 'ems been away from home this month."

"You say you didn't rent your car to any one?"

"How could you make sure of that?"

"I ast about them in the postoffice an' the grocery an' the meat market. Sure every one up in those parts knows every one else's business. Last Sunday they took the town's best doctor to a patient thirty miles in the country, when the doctor's car was out of commission."

"They could have left for New York Monday and got there during the night."

"They could that. But they was in town Monday afternoon an' again Tuesday."

"With the car?"

"No one could swear to that," Quinlan admitted cheerfully, "because no one was noticin' particular. But they say they was an' I know they took supplies out to the farm both days. It ain't likely they walked an' carried them."

"So they seemed frank, honest fellows?"

"Like the day itself. If anything," Quinlan added thoughtfully, "they were too frank. They told me a whole lot more than I wanted to know, an' the eyes of them would light up a room, they was that shinin' an' eager. But 'tis often that way with folks not used to the police," he ended reflectively. "They shoot off their mouths too much."

"Did you look at the car?" Schuyler asked the question with deep depression. He had hoped for something definite from this interview.

"I did. The works was in good order an' the car itself filthy. It looked like they never washed it. But there was nothin' the matter with the engine."

Schuyler stood up.

"Thank you, Mr. Quinlan. I'm sure you did the job thoroughly."

Quinlan accepted the tribute with becoming modesty.

"I do me duty, but there's often disappointments," he said. "We're thinkin' at headquarters that your man mistook the car number."

"Maybe he did." But in the very moment of that admission Schuyler came to a decision. He was sick of inactivity. He would go to Maine himself. He would interview the Bradley brothers. His time was his own, he had plenty of money, and he thought well of his intelligence. It was at least superior to Quinlan's. He'd give it a chance. He had the advantage of Quinlan in one respect. He knew and had every reason to know the accuracy of his man servant. If Simpson said a car's number was so and so that would be the car's number. Yes, he would go to Maine, and he would leave this afternoon. That would enable him to visit the home of the Bradleys before noon the next day, Sunday. He would spend the week-end in Maine. He went home and interviewed Simpson.

The Maine weather the next morning was all Mr. Quinlan had represented it to be. The seaside village was swept by a blizzard fiercer than any Schuyler had ever known. He sighed. Life was like that. As soon as one tried to do anything unselfish and decent, one had this sort of thing, or something else as bad, to contend with.

He found the Bradley brothers very much as Quinlan had described them—the elder one an intelligent, friendly enough lad, almost too eager to give out information; the younger a stolid person with pale eyes that lacked an occupant. They clearly wanted an explanation of his interest, and Schuyler gave it, dwelling on the strange disappearance of his friend and the deep anxiety it was causing. In return the elder brother babbled cheerfully, repeating all the information Schuyler had already received from Quinlan. Schuyler was soon convinced that these young men were not concerned in any wrong-doing, and he was interested in their reaction to his story. When he finally described the scene he had witnessed from his window he saw the tanned face of the older brother whiten, while the jaw of the younger Bradley dropped in an amazement that was almost grotesque, and his eyes suddenly had meaning.

"It ain't possible!" he gasped.

"Of course it ain't possible," his brother said quickly. "When our car wasn't within five hundred miles——"

Herbert Schuyler was no fool, despite his languid manner and his affectation of indifference to most worldly interests.

"See here," he said quietly, "think a minute. You say you didn't rent your car to any one. Is it possible that some one could have borrowed it without your knowledge?"

Neither brother answered. Each was plainly turning over in his mind the revelation conveyed in that Central Park episode, which Quinlan had evidently kept to himself. Both had grasped the opportunity for reflection he had given them, and he gave their brains plenty of time to work. The brothers had invited him into the icy parlor of their little farmhouse, and Schuyler was cold even in his thick overcoat. But as he watched them he was convinced that these boys had lent or rented their car to some one, with no idea save that it was to be used for a pleasure jaunt or business trip, and that they were now trying to shield the person or persons who had taken it, evidently realizing that something was wrong.

"The detective that come up here said he reckoned there was a mistake in the number," the older brother said at last. Schuyler shook his head.

"There was no mistake in the number," he said quietly, and let the assurance sink in. After a time, and a second interval of deep reflection by the brothers, he asked another question.

"Did you use your car Tuesday? I know you went to town that day and bought some provisions," he added.

The faces of the brothers brightened. He followed their mental processes without effort. They had been to town, so they had an alibi for themselves if not for the car. They could prove that whatever happened in Central Park Tuesday morning they themselves were not present at the episode. Schuyler repeated his question with a slight addition.

"Did you use your car Tuesday? The New York police want to know," he added significantly, "just who was in that car when the assault took place."

C. B. Mitchells Are Guests at Afternoon Tea

Henry Channons Entertained at Other Party.

Kings, cannot wait to accompany them home for her round trip ticket expires on the 12th and she has to leave on that date. She and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunter, live in Pasadena, where the Mitchells have a house for the winter, their own in Santa Barbara being rented for the season.

Every one who has met Lady Honor Channon since she arrived Wednesday with her husband agrees that she is as sweet as she looks, which is saying a lot, for she is very pretty with golden hair and blue eyes and a typical pink and white English complexion.

She and Mr. Channon are being kept busy every moment during their brief visit to his old home, for this is the first time she has been here and there is much for her to see as well as many old friends of his to be met.

Three to Enjoy Trip to Orient.

Two attractive personalities who will be greatly missed by Chicago society this winter are Mrs. Walter Ayer and her daughter, Miss Janet Ayer, who are sailing from Vancouver on Jan. 27 on the Empress of Asia to spend more than four months in the orient. Mrs. Ayer's sister, Miss Mildred McCormick, is coming out from New York, where she recently landed on her way home from Europe, to join Mrs. Ayer and Miss Ayer on their trip.

The Ayers do not plan to travel as tourists, neither do they plan quite the haphazardness and roughness of living that Miss Ayer's brother, Robert McCormick Ayer, experienced on his lonely trip around the world, but they will strike a happy medium of staying or straying, as their fancies dictate. Miss McCormick and her sister and niece will be at home by the middle of June; but before they return they are going to make a special effort to visit the former Polly Perry and her husband, Harold Kneedler, in Manila.

Beatrice Borland to Sail for Home.

It will be a wonder if Miss Beatrice Borland hasn't made up her mind to write another book when she returns to Chicago the middle of this month. She has had such an exciting and interesting four months traveling in Italy, studying in Spain, visiting in France, and skiing and snowshoeing in Switzerland.

Yesterday Miss Borland's mother, Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, received word that she and her younger sister, Martha, are ending their holiday at St. Moritz this week-end and that Beatrice will sail for home next Thursday on the President Harding. Martha will return to her studies at Mlle. Bertrand's school in Paris.

Mrs. Borland crossed with her two daughters last September but returned to this country in time to celebrate the Christmas season with Mr. Borland and their other daughter, Harriet, in their Lake View avenue home.

William D. Coxes to Move to House.

Young Mr. and Mrs. William D. Cox will be packing their belongings some time in the spring and moving from the apartment at 1366 Dearborn street, where they live now, to the house at 1529 Astor street which Mr. Cox inherited from his late aunt, Miss Jane Cox. When they move they will be near neighbors of Mr. Cox's mother, Mrs. Rensselaer W. Cox, who lives at 1539 Astor street.

Mrs. Edwin C. Bolton of Detroit is visiting her sister, Mrs. Oliver D. Grover, at her apartment at 151 East Ontario street.

On the engagement pads of several debutantes for this evening is the dinner-dance that the Edward J. Berminghams are giving for Miss Peggy Hixon and Miss Helen Hunter at the Casino. The party is to be a small one.

Committee Arranges for Presentation of Final Fifteen Operas

The final fifteen operas to be presented during the current season of the Chicago Grand Opera company, ending Jan. 27, are being arranged by the program committee.

The committee, with Karlton Hackett as chairman, includes Arthur Cable, Leeds Mitchell, George Haight, and Mrs. Charles H. Swift.

On Saturday night the company will have given ten performances and seven operas. "La Tosca," which opened the season at the Civic Opera house, has been repeated once, and "Aida" and "Madame Butterfly" each receive a second performance on Saturday. Each repeat performance has also meant a change of cast. Gennaro Papi, musical director of the company, has conducted all but one of the performances, "Carmen" being conducted by Henry Weber.

Worth Designs a Frock to Give the Matron Glamour

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — The frock shown in our sketch today is the most famous in Paris as the matron's choice. Among the distinguished women who wear it is the Duchesse de Guise, that beautiful and queenly woman, whose clothes sense is impeccable.

When Worth designed this dress he had no particular age of women in mind, and it is suitable for almost any type. It has a demure and dignified glamour, however, that makes it specially suitable for the woman with gray hair.

The original model is made in black satin with an almost invisible rib in it, and the surplice is of white satin. This surpliced effect begins from a very small yoke along the shoulders in back, crosses over the front bodice and ties at the back of the waistline on a black bow. The cartridge plaited tops of the short sleeves are set over the edge of the white satin surplice, making a pretty fluted edge of black on the white. Long fitted black satin cuffs finish the sleeves at the elbows.

The body of the dress is fitted, and gives the effect of a long bodice below the surplice in front, to which the paneled front of the skirt is attached in a pointed seam. The back is perfectly plain.

Stage Roundup to Stock White Elephant Shop

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Two dozen members of the woman's board of the Children's Memorial hospital staged their own roundup yesterday when they scoured the town for suits and shoes, feather dusters, and fancy goods—articles of every variety—to replenish the shelves of the Rummage shop they operate at 37 East Ohio street.

They set out from Mrs. Frank Hibbard's home at 1501 Astor street shortly after noon and returned to Mrs. Hibbard's charity shop—Conveniences—shortly after 4 o'clock to report their "loot."

Bleary skies were no deterrent to them. Dripping wet, but wreathed in smiles, they gathered round Conveniences' cheery log fire at tea time and told their experiences one after the other.

"He said he couldn't bother with us, just to go and take ten shopworn union suits," explained Mrs. Paul Healy and Mrs. Phelps Hoyt in telling about the shop proprietor they encountered.

With great excitement Mrs. Samuel T. Chase arrived at 4:30 to tell of two downtown buildings in which she had been prohibited from soliciting by the managers "because the tenants would break their leases if any one solicited them."

"But," Mrs. Chase objected to the manager, "this is for charity. Have you a telephone I may use a moment?"

"Yes, lady," came his retort, "there's a pay station on the first floor."

This was the only disagreeable experience the board members encountered. All other shops made generous donations to the Rummage shop, which helps support the hospital.

Mrs. Augusta Allen Wed; Daughter of Carter Glass

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Augusta Glass Allen, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Carter Glass of Virginia, was married today to Isaac Watlington Digges of New York. The ceremony was performed at noon by the Rev. Dr. Albert Joseph McCartney of the Church of the Covenant, in the presence of the families and a few close friends. Mr. and Mrs. Digges left for New York to sail for a honeymoon trip to the West Indies.

Movie Closeup

According to the Motion Picture Herald's annual poll of 12,000 exhibitors Marie Dressler was the biggest money making star of 1932-'33—thus repeating the victory won in the 1931-'32 survey.

The ten biggest money making stars in the order of ranking by ballots were: Marie Dressler, Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Eddie Cantor, Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow, Clark Gable, Mae West, Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford.

Le Gallienne Tells Straight Story of Life

'At 33' Is Tale of Devotion to Art of Theater.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"At 33," by Eva Le Gallienne. [Longmans-Green.]

If Eva Le Gallienne had waited six more days for the publication of her autobiography she might have celebrated her own birthday and the birthday of her first book together. On Jan. 11 she will have lived thirty-four years, which to most of the world would well deserve the adjective "glamorous." Today the story of those years is published in her autobiography, "At 33."

Chicago knows her at the moment as the producer of that superb spectacle "Alice in Wonderland," which even Alice devotees [who allow no tampering with their Lewis Carroll] find authentic. Incidentally I'm one of them. . . . I'd rather have written "Alice in Wonderland" than any other book in the world.

Theatergoers have known her for the last few years as the organizer and director of the outstanding repertory theater of the country. Glamour began for her the day she was born, the daughter of a famous English poet, Richard Le Gallienne.

Her childhood in England and in Paris was one that many of her readers would have traded theirs for with the bonus of many years of their lives. It was the sort of childhood that was filled with travel [Christmases with her Danish grandparents and cousins, summers with the William Favershams, jaunts between England and France], with French schools and almost a year at an English boarding school, with concerts and the theater.

When she was a small girl she was taken to see Sarah Bernhardt, who became such a heroine to her that she copied out, in her own childish hand, the entire 800 pages of the Divine Sarah's Memoirs because the book was out of print. The task took over a year, but it elicited from Mme. Bernhardt a charming note when she was told of it later. The great moment of Eva Le Gallienne's young life was when she met the Divine Sarah and was kissed on both cheeks by France's greatest actress. For even in her childhood Miss Le Gallienne was determined to dedicate her life to the Theater.

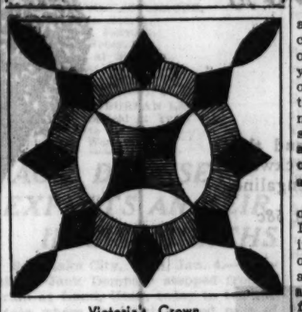
I wrote theater with a capital T on purpose, for thus does Miss Le Gallienne herself write it . . . the theater to her has a divinity which requires the conventional capitalization . . . to it she dedicated herself as completely as the vestals of old were dedicated to the temples. To her the high priestess of the temple was Eleanora Duse, whom, after years of adulation, she finally met and who gave her "force et confiance."

Between her young girlhood and her first success in London in a Cockney part [she had learned the dialect as a Girl Scout serving in a soup kitchen during the war] and her establishment in New York at the head of her own theater there were years of discouragement and sudden glamorous success as leading lady in "Liliom" and "The Swan," in both of which she will never be forgotten.

"At 33" Miss Le Gallienne has had a life richer in experience and accomplishment than has been the lot of many with their allotted three score years and ten. She records the facts of that life and a very few of its emotions . . . declaring herself one who in moments of great emotion is utterly silent. She says pleasant things about a great many important people, mostly of the stage, and nothing unkind about anybody.

"At 33" is a straightforward record of an interesting life. In it Miss Le Gallienne shows no traces of having missed her calling. She is obviously not her father's daughter in the art of creative writing . . . which is an excellent dispensation of providence, for if she had been the world would have missed a fine creative artist in the theater [pardon me, the Theater].

Quilt Is Named for Queen Who Liked Needlework



Victoria's Crown.

BY NANCY CABOT.

It is only natural that one so interested in all types of needlework as was Queen Victoria should have a quilt pattern named for her. The original quilt was made in Connecticut in 1859 and was of plain blue and red print. Odds and ends of small daughters' dresses afford a perfect source of material for a pieced quilt in this design for a young son's room.

For a quilt pattern in this design send 5 cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, the Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service office, One South Dearborn.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1934: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PROF. FORDNEY'S CURIOSITY.

Prof. Fordney saw his quarry coming toward him and he admired the artistry of the man's disguise. Limping along, cane in right hand, to a less astute person he would have passed for Dr. Bellen. The impeccable attire, the white goatee, even the mannerisms of the great and eccentric surgeon were perfectly simulated. Yet, Fordney penetrated the disguise and recognized the man as William Barstow, in his prime, one of the greatest living actors, but whose star had set and who had recently given way to younger but much less capable actors. The criminologist allowed himself a moment of philosophical reflection on the fleeting of fame before trailing his man.

The professor's curiosity aroused, he determined to learn the connection between the false Dr. Bellen and the true, who had been so mysteriously shot and seriously wounded in the left leg several days previous. Even the police didn't know of the incident as yet. For some reason the surgeon obviously wanted to hide the fact that his wound was serious. Inquiries at his house always brought the information that the doctor was out. That, reasoned the professor, was why he had employed Barstow to appear in public and at those places habitually frequented by him.

As "Dr. Bellen" was about to enter his club Fordney touched him on the shoulder. The man turned with that sharp, piercing glance well known to the surgeon's associates and patients.

"Well" . . . he demanded.

Fordney smiled. "Even geniuses make mistakes," he cryptically replied. "Except for the one you made I wouldn't have known you are not Dr. Bellen."

OTTAWA CRUSHES BOSTON, 9-2; TIES RECORD

ARIZONA FIVE BEATEN, 46-24, BY NOTRE DAME

Victory Is 19th in Row for Irish.

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The Notre Dame basketball team ran its consecutive victory string to nineteen here tonight at the expense of the University of Arizona team, 46 to 24. It was the eighth victory of the season. Arizona scored its first field goal of the game, a short shot by Capt. Jack Byrne, five minutes after the second half opened.

GEORGE KEOGAN.

Tonight's victory marked the third time in five years that a Notre Dame team coached by George Keogan has won nineteen straight games. The Irish will attempt to set a modern record against Michigan State at East Lansing Saturday night. The 1908 and 1909 team won twenty-two straight games.

Ten Players Score.

Ten members of the Notre Dame cast broke into the scoring tonight. Marty Peters led with eight points.

Notre Dame led at the half, 24 to 6, Arizona getting its only points on free throws. The Irish led, 32 to 7, at one time.

PURDUE WINS, 61-25

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The Purdue basketball team overwhelmed Mississippi college, 61 to 25, tonight in the final tuneup for the Big Ten campaign that opens here Saturday night against Minnesota.

Sixteen Boilermakers took part in the game, and eleven of them made one or more field goals.

Purdue started fast, running up an 8 to 0 lead, but the Southerners came back and the score was 11 to 9 before the Purdue basket barrage started. In less than ten minutes Purdue made 27 points, while Mississippi was held scoreless. This gave the Boilermakers a 38 to 9 lead. The regulars were taken out at this point and the half ended with the Boilermakers on the long end of a 39 to 12 count. Norm Cottom with six field goals, took the high point honors.

THE GUMPS—TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE

WHAT'S THAT YOU SAY? THEY'VE FINALLY GIVEN UP DRAGGING THE RIVER - NOT A TRACE OF THE BODY, EH? AND THE HOLE IN THE HAT IS NOT A REGULAR BULLET-HOLE - I SEE -
DO YOU THINK THIS IS ALL A FAKE? DO YOU SUPPOSE IT'S ANOTHER OF HIS TRICKS?
WHY OF COURSE - DON'T YOU SEE - IF HE HAS US ALL BELIEVING HE'S DEAD, HE THINKS WE'LL LAY OFF OF HIM - WHY WOULD HE TAKE OFF HIS SHOES TO COMMIT SUICIDE ON A COLD NIGHT? WHY WOULD HE GO UP WHERE THE RIVER IS SHALLOW, INSTEAD OF JUMPING IN THE HARBOR? WHY WOULD HE FAKE A BULLET-HOLE IN HIS HAT?
YOU MARK MY WORDS - THIS IS ONLY THE BEGINNING OF SOME NEW PIECE OF VILLAINY - WE HAVEN'T HEARD THE LAST OF TOWNSEND ZANDER YET!

WAKE LETTER BOX.

DEAR WAKE: The majority of football fans, players, and coaches favor placing the goal posts on the goal line, where they rightly belong. There are many reasons in favor of this, including encouragement of field goal kicking. The only objection I ever have seen is that of danger of injury to players.

Do not these few objectors know that it is possible to have the crossbar suspended on the goal line and have the supporting goal posts ten yards back out of the way of danger to the players? Even a freshman engineer could quickly design such a method of support at small cost which would do the trick and satisfy everybody. Football Fan.

Why start a football game over at the beginning of the second half? That's what Coach D. O. [Tuss] McLaughry of Brown university wants to know.

Why must a team that has fought and pushed its way down to the one foot line only to have the whistle blow for the end of the half start all over at the beginning of the third period? Gridder.

There was one chap unheralded, almost unmentioned and uncheered, who had much to do with the remarkable football comeback of the Illini this last season. That was Herman Walser. He was named captain last spring, turned up this fall with a seriously injured knee, and in addition found three excellent full backs fighting for his position.

Although his handicaps seemingly relegated him to the bench, he reported for practice regularly and his enthusiasm, inspiration, and ideals dominated as effectively from the side lines as from the field of play. In midseason Zupp desired more strength at center. Walser immediately volunteered for a position new to him and gave his best as long as his physical condition permitted. Those teammates who contacted Walser's spirit and sportsmanship will never forget him. Illini '33.

Before they get through arguing about former preps now in college, let me present an eleven which could be made up from former Gary, Ind., High school stars:

Ends—Mazzett, Gary college; Mallard, Western State; Wulfing, Santa Clara.
Tackles—Yards, Ohio State; Kurth, Wittenberg.
Guards—Schiralli, Notre Dame; Delich, Ohio State.
Quarter back—Dauer, Indiana.
Half backs—Lukats, Notre Dame; Dailey, Purdue; Elkins, Iowa State.
Full back—Eiser, Notre Dame.

BEARS SET OUT ON TOUR; FIRST STOP IS DALLAS

The Chicago Bears, professional football champions of the world, left Chicago yesterday for Dallas, Tex., where they will play tomorrow afternoon. The team then will continue to the Pacific coast for four more games at Los Angeles, San Francisco, and San Diego.

Included in the party of 19 players, headed by Coach George Halas, were Ed Kawal and Cliff Battles, replacements for the squad, since four of the members of the team cannot make the trip. Battles, a half back, starred with the Boston Redskins, while Ed Kawal, who started the current season with the Bears, played with the St. Louis Gunnars. Kawal is a center and guard.

Four Stay Home.

Those who were unable to make the trip are Joe Kopcha, guard, who resumed his studies at Rush Medical college; Bill Buckler, tackle, whose firm has sent him to Canada; Dick Stahlman, tackle, a member of the Chicago police force, and Keith Molesworth, half back and quarter back.

Red Grange, who made the same trip with the Bears in 1925, his first season in professional football, and Bronko Nagurski, full back, now recovered from injuries received in the title game against the New York Giants, were among those who left for Dallas. Nagurski did not play at St. Louis two weeks ago when the Gunnars held the Bears to a scoreless tie.

Bride Accompanies Sisk.

John Sisk, half back, who was married yesterday, was accompanied by his bride while Mr. and Mrs. Jack Manders, recently wedded, also were in the party.

The schedule follows: Jan. 6, Dallas, Tex.; Jan. 14, Los Angeles, Cal.; Jan. 21, San Francisco, Cal.; Jan. 28, Los Angeles, Cal., and Feb. 4, at San Diego, Cal.

HONUS LOBERT, DICK SPALDING TO AID WILSON

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Jimmy Wilson, manager of the Philadelphia baseball club of the National league, announced today that Honus Lobert and Dick Spalding, of Philadelphia, will be his coaches and aides next season. They signed one year contracts.

Lobert played with Little Rock and Des Moines in 1904; Johnstown, Pa., of the Tri-State league, in 1905; Cincinnati for six years, the Phillies for three, and the New York Giants from 1914 to 1918.

An injury to his knee put an end to his career as a player.

Spalding was with the Phillies as an outfielder for one season, but his major league playing came to an end after he suffered a broken ankle.

Silver Skates Derbies Not Limited to Chicago Racers

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Silver Skates Derbies are not limited to Chicago's boys and girls. Each year a number of entries are received from Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Iowa, in addition to downstate Illinois. In 1927 Ross Robinson of Toronto, won the senior race and in the following year Charles Delphier of Detroit skated away with the same honors.

In the girls' races, for instance, Elizabeth Blaisdell of Cleveland, O., was the winner of the senior race in 1928. Since the policy of THE TRIBUNE has been never to allow expense money [which is permitted under amateur rules] to any skater, the appearance year after year of skaters from outside of Chicago is testimony of the popularity of the meet. And likewise, the many victories won by Chicago skaters is ample proof of the ability of Chicago's sons and daughters.

Possibly no greater booster for Silver Skates, outside of the city, can be found than Louis D. Dennis, a Cedar Rapids, Ia., lawyer. Mr. Dennis' enthusiasm centers quite naturally on his two sons, Larry Dennis, 18, who this year will compete for the senior class Silver Skates, and Robert, 16, entered in the intermediate class. Both were disappointed in 1932 when after several postponements, the meet was cancelled because of lack of ice. Last year, when the meet was held with only two days notice the Dennis boys, despite the extreme cold weather, made the trip from Cedar Rapids by automobile.

Bronze Souvenirs Awarded.

Larry and Robert have been training diligently and while they may not get a pair of championship skates, it is possible for them to share in prizes as there are five awards in each of the seven derbies. First, second and third places receive pairs of skates while fourth and fifth places are accorded gold and silver medals.

It's splendid that many excellent skaters enter each year, but more important for the sport and for the popularity of the tournament is the fact that any novice may enter with a fair opportunity to win at least a preliminary race. Most of the skaters in the three lowest age divisions for boys and in the girls' junior Derby are novices. For this reason, more than any other, each skater receives a bronze souvenir button as reward for his or her interest in skating.

All clubs and teams should note that only three days remain in which entries will be accepted. The list will close at midnight Sunday. The individual entries have been coming in splendidly, but managers and coaches of teams which expect to bid for possession of the Walter Eckersall Memorial trophy apparently are waiting until the last few days to select their most promising contestants.

No Admission Charged.

No entry fee is required either for individuals or for teams and, of course, no admission is charged on the days of the races. Skaters 16 years of age and over must be registered with the Illinois Western Skating association and this registration for the season costs 25 cents. Registration may be made when the skater reports for his or her number at Garfield park lagoon.

All that is necessary to enter the seventeenth Silver Skates derbies is to clip the entry blank which is printed daily in these columns and mail it to the sports department, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

COLUMBIA AND STANFORD EACH TO GET $25,000

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Al Masters, graduate manager of athletics at Stanford university, said today an accounting of receipts at the Rose Bowl football game showed Stanford and Columbia each would receive $25,000.

The amount received by the Tournament of Roses association was not announced, although association officials said that for the second time in the history of the Rose Bowl games the association will show a deficit of about $5,000.

INDIANA STATE TEACHERS BEAT CENTENARY, 52-30

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Indiana State Teachers' college piled up a 52 to 30 score over the Centenary college basketball team from Louisiana here tonight. Hitting from all angles, State displayed its best form of the season. It was Centenary's first defeat in Indiana, the southern squad having won from De Pauw and Ball State.

Dartmouth Athletes Bid for Rhodes Scholarship

Hanover, N. H., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Robert Michelet, Dartmouth football star, and Emerson Day, student director of the winter carnival, were selected as Rhodes scholarship candidates from New Hampshire today.

CATHOLIC PREP QUINTETS OPEN PLAY TONIGHT

Twenty-eight teams will start play tonight for the heavyweight and lightweight championships of the Catholic High School Basketball league. The games will be held on seven floors.

The defending champions are the De Paul heavyweights and the Leo lightweights. The first opponent for De Paul will be St. George, the team which finished second last year. The game will be played on the St. George floor in Evanston. Matt Tonnelli is the only member of De Paul's championship team who will be with the squad this season.

Leo Meets Mount Carmel.

The Leo lightweights will begin the defense of their title at Mount Carmel. Leo Flanagan is the only member of this year's Leo team who was classed as a regular last season, although a number of his teammates acquired considerable experience as substitutes. Leo has come through its practice season with one defeat, which was at the hands of Hirsch by a single point. In a return game Leo defeated Hirsch.

One of the most powerful teams in the west section heavyweight division is St. Mel, which won all of its preseason games. Tonight it will play at Weber.

The organization of the Catholic league is different this year, and the championship will be decided in a game between the winner of the east section and the winner of the west section titles. Last year there were three sections and the championship was determined in a round robin series.

West Suburban Reopens.

The West Suburban league teams will resume play tonight after the holiday lull.

Tonight's games follow:

CATHOLIC LEAGUE.
De Paul at St. George.
St. Patrick at Fenwick.
St. Mel at Weber.
De La Salle at St. Rita.
St. Michael at St. Ignatius.
Leo at Mount Carmel.
Catholic High [Joliet] at Loyola.

WEST SUBURBAN LEAGUE.
Riverside-Brookfield at York.
Downers Grove at Hinsdale.
Glenbard at West Chicago.

JACK DEMPSEY EXPECTS AN HEIR IN SIX MONTHS

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Jack Dempsey stepped from a train at Lund, Utah, today to tell the state where he spent a good part of his boyhood, and the world that an heir was expected in the Dempsey family.

"In about six months," he said. "The heir will be named Jack or Jacqueline."

Mrs. Dempsey—Hannah Williams of musical comedy and screen fame—is with the former titleholder. They are headed for New York and Washington after seven months on the west coast.

FINNIGAN, TWO ROOKIES LEAD SENATOR SEXTET

Hold Foes Scoreless Until Last Period.

OTTAWA, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Led by two recent graduates from Niagara Falls amateur ranks, Max Kaminsky and Jerry Shannon, the Ottawa Senators buried the Boston Bruins, 9 to 2, tonight and equaled the seasonal scoring record for the National League. Only Toronto previously had scored as many as nine goals in a single game.

NELS STEWART.

Ottawa's starting forward line of Kaminsky, Shannon and Frank Finnigan monopolized scoring honors for the evening, getting five goals and seven assists against Tiny Thompson of Boston, who last season won the Vezina trophy as the ablest goal keeper in the league.

Boston played the surprising Senators on close to even terms in the first period but Ottawa turned the battle into a rout in the second period with four goals. The Bruins were blanked until Nels Stewart rammed home a pass from Dit Clapper in 14:15 of the third period. Their second goal, scored by Art Chapman, came in the last two seconds of play. Lineups:

COMMON GUPPY IS POPULAR IN HOME AQUARIUM

He's Hardy and Sure Death to Mosquitoes.

BY BOB BECKER.

In spite of all the recent importations of fairly large and magnificently colored tropical fish which have been brought in for home aquarium enthusiasts, the common little guppy still holds first place in the affections of the fish fanciers. They are hardy and cheap, so the guppy continues to ride high on the popularity wave.

Although our aquariums gradually have acquired a variety of tropical fish from various parts of the world, thus taking on a distinct cosmopolitan atmosphere, we still provide a home for guppies, which really deserve a break because they are a great benefit to mankind. The guppy which thousands of fish fanciers keep in aquariums is the species which is noted for its ability to eat mosquito larvæ.

They Fight Mosquitoes.

In southern countries they have transplanted guppies in many localities to secure a natural and effective method of mosquito control as this species will feed on mosquitoes before they hatch. The guppy is unusually prolific.

Originally the guppy came from the northern coast of South America [Venezuela and the islands nearby], but today it has spread all over the world. It's thriving as far away from "home" as Siam. Collectors who have been seining South American streams for valuable species of tropical fish report finding guppies in streams hundred of miles from where they should be encountered.

Because they adapt themselves to unpromising conditions, often existing in places where any other small fish might not live, the guppy naturally has become extremely popular with aquarium owners.

They're Hardy and Cheap.

Today we have guppies surviving in small aquariums which will not keep alive some of the rarer and more expensive species. And one doesn't need a lot of money in order to start a small aquarium with guppies, because a pair can be purchased for as little as 25 cents.

We have the highest regard for lebistes reticulatus, the common guppy, because he seems to be the only species of tropical fish that can get along with a pair of surly jordanellas. We thought we would be patriotic and buy the latter because they come from Florida. They are rather large, chunky fish, with beautiful orange stripes against a greenish purple background. A male guppy looks like a pigmy alongside a jordanella. This Florida species nearly killed one of our swordtails and made life miserable for every other species we placed in the tank with them, but the guppies get along splendidly with these pugnacious southern fish.

Charley White Will Referee Jewish Bouts

Charlie White, former lightweight contender, who now conducts a health club, has agreed to referee in the Jewish Organization Youth boxing tournament at the Jewish People's institute on Feb. 5 and 6.

Tommy Thomas will be referee-in-chief and, in addition to White, will be assisted by Lou Gordon, former tackle with the University of Illinois and for the last several years a star with the Chicago Cardinals pro eleven; Al [Zibby] Goldberg, former heavyweight champion of the A. E. F.; Solly Schuman, welterweight fighter; Jack Kersch, Lou Dann, and Sammy Spunt.

Jacob M. Arvey, alderman of the 24th ward, will take over the duties of chief announcer.

Entries to this boxing tournament, open to all amateur fighters who are Jewish and 16 years of age or older, continued yesterday at a rapid rate.

PERMIT GRANTED FOR TRACK NEAR SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 4.—(AP)—The state racing commission today granted a permit to the California Jockey club to conduct racing in San Mateo county.

The new club, which will alternate meetings with Tanforan, will construct a plant on a 120 acre site 20 miles south of San Francisco. Peter B. Kyne, author, is president of the club. William B. Kyne, prominent western turf man, will be general manager.

Construction will begin Feb. 1. The new plant will be ready for operation next Oct. 19. A 50 day fall meeting will be held. General Manager Kyne said between $250,000 and $300,000 would be spent on the layout.

Lott Ranking Protested by Net Official

George Lott, Chicago's greatest tennis player, will not have to remain down in the No. 10 spot in the national tennis rankings long if the Chicago Tennis association has anything to say about it.

Ralph Wescott, president of the Chicago Tennis association, rolled a ball of fire in the general direction of the national tennis headquarters yesterday when he sent a letter of protest on the Lott ranking to William M. Fischer, chairman of the tennis ranking committee.

May Go to U. S. L. T. A.

If the ranking committee members won't listen to him Mr. Wescott threatens to carry his case to the supreme court of the tennis courts, which is the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Here's the way Mr. Wescott presented the case in his letter to Fischer:

"In studying over the 1933 records of ranking stars I was surprised to see how good Lott's record had been. I suppose you have had a lot of questions and objections raised to your ranking. It is a difficult job and I do not want to raise any questions that will add to your trials. At the same time I cannot understand how George gets ranked as low as No. 10 with the record he has.

"George has no losses to any one else in the United States ranking. All the ranking players to whom George has lost have lost at least as many to him with the exception of Parker. Admittedly Parker is Lott's nemesis, but in the latest and most important championship—the western championship—Lott beat Parker, which ought to be almost as good, at least, as the two earlier wins by Parker in less important events.

Beat Mangin Twice.

"How can Lott be ranked below Mangin when he beat him two matches to one, below Wood when he beat him two matches to one, and below Grant, when he beat him three matches to nothing? Of course, doubles have no effect on singles, but it may not be amiss to remind you of the almost spectacular work that George did in the Davis cup doubles, especially by comparison with the condition and the playing of the singles players. Also it is a remarkable tribute to his play that with a new partner he again won the national doubles.

"If you can make some satisfactory answer as to why he has been ranked No. 10 in face of his victories over these men who are ranked ahead of him, I will be glad to let the matter drop. If not, I know you will have no objections to my taking this up at our western annual meeting with the possibility of questioning it before the executive committee of the U. S. L. T. A."

How They Rank.

The national ranking follows:

No. 1—Francis X. Shields.
No. 2—Wilmer Allison.
No. 3—Lester Stoefen.
No. 4—Cliff Sutter.
No. 5—Gregory Mangin.
No. 6—Sidney Wood.
No. 7—Bryant Grant.
No. 8—Frankie Parker.
No. 9—Keith Gledhill.
No. 10—George Lott.

PIRATES TO SEEK LACROSSE LEAD IN GAME TONIGHT

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who suffered their first defeat in three seasons at the hands of the Chicago Blue Ribbons on Wednesday, will meet the same team tonight determined to reverse the result and take undisputed possession of first place in the North American Lacrosse league. The game will be at Arcadia Gardens.

The encouraging part of the recent Blue Ribbon spurt has been the diversification of scoring power. First it was Bain, then Toots White, who were the high scorers, and in Wednesday's victory the two Chucks—Barron and Baldwin—put on a drive.

Lineup:

CHICAGO.		PITTSBURGH.
McArthur	G	Cordick
Hatton	D	P. Langevin
Sanderson	D	M. Langevin
Bain	C	La France
White	F	Boulliare
Braden	F	L. Bequrnu

Alternates: Chicago—Barron, Baldwin, Kingdon, Stephenson, Hurall. Pittsburgh—Vincent, Cote, Jennings, Doe Petris, McLean.

HANNIN-KLEIN QUINTET MEETS SAVOYS TONIGHT

The Hannin-Klein Dig-It quintet will play the Savoy Big Five tonight at Tuley High gymnasium, Claremont and Potomac avenues. In a preliminary game the Spencer Coal girls will face the Savoy girls' quintet. On Sunday evening the Savoys are scheduled to play the Duffy Florals at the Eighth Regiment armory.

Loughran Begins Gym Drills for Carnera Bout

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4. — (AP) — Tommy Loughran started gymnasium training today for his proposed title bout with Primo Carnero in Miami on Feb. 22. Scaling 191 pounds, Tommy said he would do very little work here before leaving for the south later in the month. He expects to enter the ring six pounds lighter than he is at present.

Feudal Lord Wins Easily at Tropical Park

Miami, Fla., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—J. E. Smallman's Feudal Lord triumphed easily in the featured 5½ furlongs Ponce de Leon purse at Tropical Park today. The favored Frederick of the B. B. stable was second, beaten by 5 lengths, while H. C. Phipps' De Valera was a nose farther back.

Astride the second place Frederick was Earl Porter, who continued his riding streak by scoring a triple for the second consecutive time and the third in four days. His total for the year reached eleven as the result of today's feat.

Third in Betting.

Although Feudal Lord was rated third in the wagering he gave an excellent account of himself over the entire distance of the race. After the first quarter he was never headed, and in the stretch he drew away from the rest of the field with effortless ease.

Feudal Lord, which formerly raced for Joseph E. Widener, paid $9.40 straight. His time for the distance was 1:04 1-5.

Three favorites won, but one of the most heavily backed starters went down to inglorious defeat in the second race, when O'Riley won by a length over Blackmock, with Premeditate third.

Zorana Fails Backers.

W. N. Adrian's Zorana had been made the choice at 7 to 20, but was never able to get to the front, and tired badly to finish fourth. Porter rode him.

One of Porter's victories was scored astride the well named son of Noah, Forty Days. Forty Days was in a field of six 3 year olds, which raced over the mile course and never was headed all the way. He beat Solid American by a length, with Playful Martha third, to return $6.50. Solid American and Playful Martha were co-favorites at 19 to 10.

Porter's other victors were Dornoch in the third race and Escadron in the sixth. Both were favorites.

Well, Here's Modesty.

The Wake recently published an article giving Red Grange's yardage gained record while an Illinois football player. We sent copies to a number of college publicity bureaus asking whether they had any figures of once greats whose deeds were worth recounting similarly. From Kenneth Priestly of the University of California comes the reply: "During the period in which official statistics have been kept there has been no player whose record could be remotely compared to that of Grange."

Worst Joke I Ever Heard.

A college athlete, holder of many records, and his friend were leaving the train after a transcontinental trip and the athlete handed the porter a 10 cent tip. "Say, boss," said the porter contemptuously, "the lowest tip on record for this trip is two bits." "Well, Jim," said the collegian to his friend; "it looks as if I'd broken another record." Bout Is Test for Chicago Welterweight.

Meyer Grace, Indianapolis, Ind., welterweight boxer, and Henry Rothlar of Chicago will meet in an eight round bout tonight at Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Grace will be making his second appearance here within a week. Last Monday he knocked out Pee Wee Jarrell in the second round at White City.

Prior to that Grace whipped Jackie Purvis at Indianapolis Dec. 27. Though Rothler also has beaten Jarrell and Purvis, he is expected to receive one of his hardest tests from the Indianapolis fighter.

Al Schlarato, Chicago lightweight, and Art Donovan of Joliet clash in a five round semi-final. In one four round matches, Scotty Sylvano will face Roosevelt Haines. Lenny Cohen faces Bud Dempsey in another. James High will meet Joe Oraweis in a wrestling exhibition.

Another show tonight will be at Community Recreation center, 4711 Madison street. It will mark the debut of Gene Harrison as a promoter. Sammy Levine and Johnny Fitzpatrick will meet in the eight round windup at 128 pounds. Five months ago they fought a six round draw at Cicero.

George Haberski and John Mirabal, featherweights, are paired in the four round semi-windup. Eddie Wade, middleweight, makes his professional debut against Steve Roberts at four rounds. They meet at 170 pounds. Other matches:

Gene Higgins vs. Hank Bueker [4], 147.
Jose Flores vs. Frank Almarez [4], 120.
George Kohler vs. Al Williams [wrestling].

An amateur show will be held tonight at Wonderland hall, 2934 Milwaukee avenue. Pep Kerwin will serve as director of the bouts. Eight matches will be offered, one between wrestlers. Two matches will be at five rounds and five at three rounds.

The five round bouts will be between Tony Zale, Gary, Ind., middleweight, and Paul Frazier of Chicago, and Joe Jaski and Lynn Sandford, welterweights. George Nelson boxes Howard McConnell at three rounds. The wrestling bout is between Frank Talaber, son of Lou Talaber, former middleweight champion, and Stanley Smik.

Two strong candidates for championship honors have entered the invitational amateur boxing tournament at the Illinois Athletic club on Jan. 23 and 24. They are Bob Engelskirdren, lightweight, from the German-American Boxing club,

MAROON QUINTET REINFORCED BY FIVE NEW MEN

Prepare to Play Against Ohio State Tomorrow.

With five new men added to the squad since last week Nels Norgren, University of Chicago basketball coach, now counts 27 names on his roster and wonders who to start against Ohio State in the Big Ten opener tomorrow night at the Midway and against Michigan at Ann Arbor Monday.

There is likelihood that the Maroon team which takes the floor against the Buckeyes will be an all sophomore quintet, with Bill Haarlow and Bob Pyle at forward, Gordon Peterson at center, and Leo Oppenheim and Bill Lang at guards.

New Men Eligible.

Haarlow, who became eligible last week, played his first game against Marquette. Peterson and Lang have played in the practice games, but Oppenheim, a 6 foot 3 inch lad from Kenosha, Wis., and Pyle, a 6 foot 2 inch lad from Vincennes, Ind., will be playing their first college ball. Either Tom Flinn or Stan Kaplan may start in place of Pyle, however. Oppenheim, Pyle, Ray Weiss, a guard, Maurice Gottschall, a guard from Vincennes, and Ashley Offill, a veteran guard, all became available when they reëntered the university Jan. 2.

MAY PLAY THIRD GAME

Madison, Wis., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—A third Wisconsin-Marquette basketball game this season appeared likely here today as the Badgers finished practice for their opening Big Ten battle at Champaign Saturday night.

Wisconsin won the first game, 32 to 30, and Marquette evened the count in Milwaukee Tuesday night, 28 to 26. Athletic department officials here admitted the possibility of a third game, but declared no action will be taken until after the second semester has started in February.

Depends on Players.

"It will depend on how the squad stands up under an already gruelling schedule, which embraces the maximum of 20 games permitted for Big Ten teams," Prof. Andrew T. Weaver, chairman of the Wisconsin athletic board, declared.

Prof. Weaver added that he would expect no difficulty in obtaining permission from the conference faculty committee for the extra game.

The Badgers will leave tomorrow noon for Champaign. From there they will move to Iowa City for a game Monday night.

Score 259 to 148.

Defeated once in seven games, Wisconsin has piled up 259 points against 148 for its opponents, an average of 37 against 21. Pete Preboski, sophomore forward from Antigo, and Tommy Smith, Valparaiso, Ind., junior forward, lead the scoring with 51 and 49 points, respectively.

Ed Stege, giant Oak Park, Ill., sophomore center, who played more than half the Marquette game despite a heavily bandaged ankle, is slowly rounding into shape and is certain to be a ular starter when his ankle has mended.

POINT A MINUTE

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa basketball team, which has breezed through four practice games with better than a point-a-minute average, will face two Western conference opponents Saturday and Monday.

Northwestern, which will open the season Saturday night, is regarded as easier opposition than Wisconsin, the Monday night visitors to the Hawkeye court. Iowa is undefeated, Wisconsin has lost once, and Northwestern has lost four of six practice games.

Iowa athletic officials announced Thursday that more than 9,000 seats would be available for the first conference game. The second deck of the south balcony will be completed Friday, adding about 1,600 seats to the fieldhouse capacity. With the completion of the north section later this month crowds of 10,000 can be accommodated.

MURPHY HELPS HOLY GHOST WIN FORESTER GAME

Holy Ghost beat St. Thomas Aquinas, 35 to 30, in the west section of the Catholic Order of Foresters Basketball league last night at Community Recreation center, 4711 Madison street. Ferd Murphy's two baskets two minutes before the game ended gave Holy Ghost its victory. In the other contests Holy Family beat Monarch, 42 to 24, and St. Patrick defeated St. Aloysius, 35 to 28.

Seaback and Natalie Win Opening Billiard Matches

The annual all-star pocket billiard tournament, sponsored by the National Billard association, opened yesterday at the Sheridan Recreation room, 1002 Wilson avenue, with four games, two each in the evening and afternoon. Charles Seaback beat Coy Julien, 100 to 82, and Pasquale Natalie defeated Major White, 100 to 36, in the evening games. The afternoon contests were won by Carl Vaughn and George Nuss. Nuss triumphed over Julien 100 to 31 and Vaugh whipped Harry Kilgore 100 to 52. The series will be resumed today and the same procedure will be followed daily until Jan. 14.

Burns, Speedboat Pilot, Dies of Heart Collapse

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Robert George Burns, amateur speed boat pilot, died yesterday at the Beth Israel hospital of a heart collapse. He was 20 years old. Burns, son of the late Charles Owen Burns, banker of New York and London, won second place with an entry owned by Ernest Dupont in the Betterton Yacht club outboard races at Betterton, Md. Doctors said he strained his heart there lifting a heavy motor from the hull of one boat to another.

Hockey League Clears Shore in Bailey Case; Plays Jan. 28

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Eddie Shore, defense star of the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey league, today was absolved of any deliberate intent to injure Irvin [Ace] Bailey of the Toronto Maple Leafs when he charged into him at Boston Dec. 12. Shore's indefinite suspension was set to end Jan. 28, the night the Bruins play the New York Rangers.

Frank Patrick, managing director of the league, in announcing the action, said a thorough investigation had convinced him the collision of the players was an accident, and now that Bailey's recovery seemed certain he was restoring Shore to good standing.

Considers $6,741 Benefit.

"Proper consideration has been given to the mental anguish Shore has undergone," Patrick said, "and to the fact his playing record does not class him as a vicious player. I firmly believe Shore had no intention of injuring Bailey and in the ordinary course or run of play he would have been given only a minor or major penalty."

Patrick said he also took into consideration the $6,741 the Boston club raised in a benefit game played for Bailey, "a sum in excess of any amount that I would have been inclined to impose upon them as a fine."

Smythe to Protest.

Patrick's action was generally commended as fair, but Connie Smythe, managing director of the Toronto club, said he planned an appeal to the full league directorate of Patrick, Tom Arnold, and Frank Calder, on the grounds that compensation should have been granted Bailey and the Leafs. Toronto already has spent $2,500 on Bailey's hospital and doctor bills, Smythe said. He argued that the sum the Boston benefit game brought Bailey was not enough, "since he probably will never play hockey again."

BAILEY TELLS STORY

Boston, Mass., Jan. 4.—Irvin [Ace] Bailey, injured Toronto hockey player, whose escape from death will probably go down in medical annals, today told his own story of the most serious accident that has befallen the game of hockey in more than thirty years.

Before he had passed into a coma in a Boston Garden dressing room on the night of Dec. 12 he had absolved Eddie Shore, the Boston player who collided with him and felled him to the ice with such force that his skull was fractured.

"It's all in the game, Eddie," Bailey answered when Shore expressed his sorrow over the accident. Today at the hospital, with the same spirit, he dictated his version of the happening.

Doesn't Remember Play.

"I didn't see Eddie and he didn't see me and we crashed," Bailey explained in a weak but clear voice.

"I don't remember anything leading up to the play or anything about the game except what I have been told. Art Ross [the Bruins' manager] said Horner and Clancy were out on a rush and that Marty Barry of the Bruins had the puck. Shore was off side in our defensive zone and was skating back to avoid a penalty. Ross told me that I was skating back to cover Horner's and Clancy's territory and we crashed. That's all.

In his answer to a question about his condition, Bailey replied:

"I am feeling better today than I have any day since I have been here."

He was asked how long he thought it would be before he could play again.

Hopes to Play for Cup.

"Ross told me," he said, "that I should forget hockey and rest for a couple of weeks and then I'd probably be fit to play. I reminded him that the season would soon be over, but he said not for a couple of months and that by that time we would be playing the Stanley cup series and that I would be able to play in it."

Dr. Donald Munro, the specialist who twice operated on Bailey's brain, has refused to venture any predictions about his patient's hockey future.

HAWKS BUY WING

The Blackhawks yesterday announced the purchase of Leroy Goldsworthy, a minor league right winger with some major league experience. Goldsworthy was obtained from the London, Ont., Tecumsehs of the International league for Rookie Bill Kendall and a sum of cash reported as $6,000.

It was said at Blackhawk headquarters that Goldsworthy will be pressed into service against the New York Rangers in the game at the Stadium next Sunday night. The Rangers, incidentally, gave Goldsworthy his first major league try. His last major league connection was with the Detroit Red Wings. The Wings sold him to London last fall.

With Cook, MacFadyen.

Goldsworthy, a tall, rangy fellow, who is 24 years old and reported to have shown great improvement over his form of recent seasons, will work with Tommy Cook and Donnie MacFadyen, with Johnny Sheppard serving as alternate for MacFadyen.

C. Y. O. Ice Skaters Open Season at Coliseum Tonight

The Catholic Youth organization will hold its first weekly open skating night at the Coliseum tonight. This will mark the inaugural of the latest C. Y. O. venture into the field of winter sports, in which ice skating and hockey are expected to play a leading part.

Hundreds of young skaters throughout the city and suburbs have made application for membership in the C. Y. O. ice skating club. Membership in this club entitles the youngsters to free use of the Coliseum ice every Friday night, and will also serve as an admission to the speed and fancy skating contests, which will be sponsored by the Catholic Youth organization later in the season.

The recent announcement by Jack Elder, C. Y. O. athletic director, that girls would be admitted to the C. Y. O. ice skating club was enthusiastically received and scores of girls already are on the membership roster.

When it was found that the winter sports program, which includes basketball, boxing and swimming, was becoming overcrowded, C. Y. O. officials decided to enlarge the scope of the athletic program with the result that ice skating and hockey have been adopted as official C. Y. O. sports.

The C. Y. O. Hockey league of six teams will open its playing season with three games at the Coliseum Monday night. The C. Y. O. hockey games will be played every Monday night until the champion team has been selected in March.

NESTOR JOHNSONS BEATEN, 6 TO 0, BY BABY RUTHS

The Baby Ruths went into tie with the Butterfingers in the big four group of the Chicago Amateur Hockey association last night at the Coliseum when they shut out the Nestor Johnson six by a score of 6 to 0.

In the first period, Beda, who was converted into a forward for a spell, slapped in the first point on an assist from Lorey. In the next frame, Deacon grabbed a loose puck to easily fool Goalie McFarland.

It wasn't until the final period that the Ruths really turned on the heat. The puck was rattling off of McFarland's equipment all during the 20 minutes of play with Saxburg, Hill, Spreitzer, and Lampsa scoring. Lineups:

BABY RUTH.		NESTOR JOHNSON.
Poulin	G	McFarland
Beda	L. D.	Cann
Spreitzer	R. D.	Farmer
Saxburg	L. W.	Devine
Deacon	C.	Vicel

Add 13 More to Los Angeles Open Tourney

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Failure of Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen to appear for the $5,000 Los Angeles open golf championship starting Saturday caused the tournament committee today to qualify 13 additional competitors who failed by one stroke each to make the grade in yesterday's 36 hole round.

The additions bring the list of qualifiers to 139. Those who squeezed in today under the ruling are:

Jim Fogerty, St. Louis; Dr. Clift Baker, Portland, O., amateur; Ted Kingsley, Salt Lake City; Art Lynch, New York; Ed Brooks, Coral Gables; Harold Gray, Denver; Barry Giffen, Los Angeles; Sam Rankin, Los Angeles; Fred Sherman, San Diego; Bert Stamps, San Jose; F. P. Hixon, Pasadena; Lou Nevi, San Francisco, and Art Wendorf, Wisconsin entry.

No word has been received from Hagen, but Sarazen informed the committee he could not be here in time.

In practice over the Los Angeles Country club course, the nation's star players showed a fine disdain for par today.

Henri Cuici of Flushing, N. Y., and Fred Morrison, Pasadena, Cal., pro, toured the north course, site of the $5,000 championship, in 68 strokes, three under par.

Right behind them came Tom Creavy of Albany, N. Y., with a 69, followed by Art Bell of Honolulu and George Von Elm of Los Angeles, who shot 70s. Charles Seaver led the amateurs with a par 71. Maddonald Smith played only nine holes, but shot a sparkling 31, four under, before he quit.

The course will be closed tomorrow to be groomed for the opening day of the 72 hole championship, which ends Monday.

OPEN AT MIAMI TODAY

Miami, Fla., Jan. 4.—(AP)—One of the greatest fields in 10 years of competition was entered tonight in the $2,000 72 hole Miami open golf tournament, starting tomorrow. Registration lists, which include names of many of the best shot makers of the country, have passed the 150 mark.

Practice rounds were completed today over the 6,130 yard, par 70 course, with indications that local entries may give the veterans a run during the tournament, which opens with an 18 hole round tomorrow, followed by another Saturday, and the final 36 hole grind Sunday.

Willie Dow of Miami led the field in the last practice rounds, carding a 67, three under par. Tommy Armour, Chicago, came in with a 68, a stroke better than Gene Sarazen, P. G. A. champion, and Eddie Hassmann of Miami.

Sarazen, who won the Miami open for four consecutive years from 1927 to 1930, is the favorite this year. Standing in his path to the $500 prize will be such contenders as Willie MacFarlane of Tuckohoe, N. Y., who recently won the $10,000 Miami Biltmore tournament with first money of $2,500.

Columbia in Utah on Way Back East

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Coach Lou Little and his Columbia university football team, homeward bound after their victory over Stanford university in the Pasadena Rose Bowl last Monday, arrived in this city at 2:30 p. m. today and spent the afternoon sightseeing.

Although suffering from black eyes, minor scratches, and other slight injuries, the Lions were in a jocular mood as they stepped off the Union Pacific train from Los Angeles to be greeted by a crowd of several hundred persons.

Coach Little smiled from ear to ear.

"Football critics and fans generally sadly underrated our team," he said. "The Lions were at their best against Stanford. We scored early in the game and then played defensive ball."

Coach Little bemoaned the loss of a game to Princeton early in the season, saying his team had an off day and had the Lions played the kind of football they did against Stanford they would have reversed the three touchdown loss they suffered at the hands of the Tigers.

NAHIN RENEWS QUEST FOR CASH TO BUY BREWERS

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Renewed efforts to obtain funds to purchase the Milwaukee club of the American association from the St. Louis Browns were started today by Louis M. Nahin, deposed head of the Brewers.

Louis B. Von Weise, president of the Browns, yesterday gave Nahin additional time to seek local capital to buy the franchise. Von Weise said he was eager to sell to Milwaukee backers, but refused to reduce the reported price of $100,000, Nahin stated.

ARE GIANTS SAD ABOUT NEW BALL? WHY, THE IDEA!

Champions Can't Wait to Get at Fast One.

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The impression seems to have got about that Bill Terry and his world champion New York Giants are a bit glum about the faster, standard ball that will be unveiled by the American and National league presidents in Philadelphia tomorrow.

So Charles A. Stoneham, president of the club, and Jim Tierney, the secretary, want it understood right now that nothing could be farther from the truth; that the Giants, in fact, from Stoneham all the way down through Terry and the rank and file, believe they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by the change.

Voted for Change.

"As a matter of fact we voted for the change in Chicago when the decision to adopt a uniform ball close to American league standards was made at the league meetings," Tierney insisted. "We weren't opposed to it, as stories from there indicated. And here's why:

"We talked it all over—Terry, Mr. Stoneham, and I—and Terry told us he was certain he'd hit a faster ball at least 20 points better than the .332 average he had last season.

"He said there isn't a batter on our club who doesn't figure to improve his average a great deal with the new ball. Frank O'Doul, a smart, line drive hitter, should climb right back to the top again. Mel Ott, a natural slugger, will be clouting into the stands. George Davis, Joe Moore, Johnny Vergez, all line hitters, will drive more balls through the infield."

What About Pitching?

The hitting part is genuinely accepted, but what about the effect of a faster ball on the superlative pitching that carried the Giants to the National league title when the hitters failed last season? Stoneham answered that as Al Smith would.

"Look at the record," he said. "You saw Carl Hubbell, Hal Schumacher, Dolfo Luque and Freddy Fitzsimmons pitch that American league ball to the Senators in the world series games in Washington. What happened?

"Schumacher, until he suddenly blew up, was better than he had been in the first game in New York pitching the National league ball. Hubbell, tired and under a tremendous strain, pitched greater ball in Washington than he did here. Luque was superb in his one relief appearance. Only Fitzsimmons failed to win, and he had but one chance.

Grateful for Fast Ball.

"Yes, indeed, there were a couple of times there when we were very grateful for the faster American league ball. That double play Blondy Ryan started to wind up the fourth game, for instance. If Bolton had hit a National league ball down to shortstop it might not have traveled fast enough to make that double play possible.

"Little Hughie Critz can give you an idea of what the players think about it. He wrote me before the major league meetings.

"'When are we going to get the lively ball back?' he asked. 'I want to stay around this club a while longer.'" fall out of Toronto tonight, but still found themselves ten points behind the Leafs in the battle for first place in the National Hockey league's Canadian section. It was only the fourth defeat for the Leafs in 21 games.

Leo Bourgault, Canadien defense star, started the scoring midway through the opening period and George Mantha clinched the victory with successive goals, one in the last two minutes of the second period and the other after 16:13 of the third. Charley Conacher, the league's leading scorer, saved the Leafs from a shutout a minute and a half after Mantha's second goal, but the Canadiens got that back ten seconds before the end on a solo dash by Stub Carson. MAROONS WIN, 5-4

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The Montreal Maroons held their place in the National Hockey league race tonight by defeating the New York Americans 5 to 4 in an overtime game that wound up in a great exhibition of scoring after two dull periods. The victory left the Maroons in fourth place in the Canadian division but increased their margin over the Americans to five points.

In addition to the scoring burst which produced four goals in the third period and three in the overtime, the game was noteworthy because no penalties were inflicted in the entire 70 minutes.

The winning goal was a freak affair from the stick of Hooley Smith halfway through the extra period. He picked up the puck when Red Jackson of the Americans lost it and shot from close in. Goalie Roy Worters almost made the stop, but the puck slid off the end of his stick and stopped barely inside the net.

Freighters Seek Kellar, Ex-Purdue Player, as Guard

Impressed by the showing in practice of Harry Kellar, former Purdue university star, the Chicago Fast Freighters have wired the president of the Missouri Valley A. A. U. league for permission to sign him for the remainder of the season.

If permission is granted Kellar will be used at a guard position next Monday night against the Hutchinson, Kas., Renos at the Arcadia Gardens, 4444 Broadway.

Kellar probably will team up at guard with Sid Yates, who starred with the University of Chicago for three years. Sol Farber, formerly of Northwestern, however, may get a starting assignment at guard, since he showed fine form in the Freighters' recent invasion of the five Missouri Valley league camps.

After a scrimmage with Loyola university's team last night, Coach Sam Lifschultz said the team should be at its peak in its first Chicago showing. Elmer Johnson, former Northwestern center, is being schooled in tactics designed to put a damper on the reckless goal shooting of Ad [Too Tall] Dietzel, 6 foot 6 inch star of the Renos.

WOMAN KILLED, MATE HURT AS "L" HITS AUTO

Death Is 9th in Cook Co. Within a Day.

Mrs. Lillian Scott, 43 years old, was fatally injured, and her husband, William H. Scott, 47, studio director for Radio Station WHFC, Cicero, was severely hurt when their automobile was crushed by a westbound Douglas Park "L" train at the East avenue crossing, near Cermak road, Berwyn, late last night.

Witnesses said that the bell and light signals were working when Scott drove the car upon the tracks. The automobile was dragged more than 100 feet. The accident occurred less than 200 feet from the Scott home at 2125 South East avenue. Scott and his wife were taken to Berwyn hospital, where she died early today. Scott incurred serious leg and perhaps internal injuries.

John Owdrowski was motorman of the train.

Throws Self Under Truck.

An unidentified man was killed yesterday at Ashland and Archer avenues when he allegedly threw himself under a motor truck driven by Frank Mikrut, 26 years old, 1847 Cullerton street. Mikrut was exonerated by a coroner's jury.

These deaths and seven others brought the Cook county total for the new year up to 20. The other victims were:

Mrs. Anna Grambauer, 56 years old, 5919 Justine street, mother of Policeman Irving Grambauer, secretary to Capt. Albert Mikes of the Marquette station. She was injured Wednesday by a car driven by Mrs. L. Johnson, 919 North Lavergne avenue.

Mrs. Emma Wilmot, 40 years old, 5326 Van Buren street. Killed by a car with Texas plates which sped away after hitting her. The accident occurred at Congress street and Lockwood avenue.

Anthony S. Muffoletto, 30 years old, 2430 Walton street, a CWA worker. Killed when his automobile left the road on a sharp turn in Busse highway, near Oakton street, in Des Plaines.

Norbad Tamillo, 10 years old, 7124 Milwaukee avenue, Niles. Died of injuries suffered a week ago when the automobile in which he was riding collided with a street car at 79th street and Yale avenue.

Mrs. Lena Hynes, 30 years old, 2521 West 70th street. Died in the Evangelical hospital of injuries incurred in an automobile accident Dec. 23.

A Negro, tentatively identified as Steve Leonard. Struck by a truck at Washington boulevard and Western avenue.

Frank Paccagini, 27 years old, 817 Read court. Killed when the truck he was driving collided last night at Hamlin avenue and Augusta boulevard with an automobile driven by Vale McClintock, 2500 Sunnyside avenue.

Joseph R. Patton Jr., 35 years old, 421 Melrose street, was acquitted of manslaughter yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Thomas J. Lynch. The charge grew out of the death of Mrs. Margaret Murray, 60 years old, 13 West Delaware place, who was killed by Patten's car last January at Oak and La Salle streets.

JAILS YOUTH WHO WON LENIENCY FROM GUTKNECHT

Judge J. William Brooks, sitting in the Boys' court recently vacated by Judge John Gutknecht, who declared it had been "emasculated" by creation of the new automobile court, revealed yesterday that he does not share the views of his predecessor concerning leniency for young offenders.

Judge Brooks vacated Judge Gutknecht's order for supervision for Stanley Tucker, 20 years old, 833 West 33d street, and ordered Tucker to start serving a six months' sentence for larceny. He also fined Tucker $25 on a new charge of disorderly conduct.

Court records showed that Tucker had been before Judge Gutknecht nine time, four times for stealing gasoline. Judge Gutknecht imposed a sentence of six months on Tucker on Dec. 5, but instead of sending the youth to jail placed him under supervision until May 18, 1934. The records showed that Tucker also had been placed under supervision for short periods on his eight previous appearances.

Tucker was arraigned yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct growing out of his arrest on Wednesday at Roosevelt road and the canal. He was carrying a can and a length of hose at the time.

"You're one of the little boys who double-crossed Judge Gutknecht, are you?" Judge Brooks remarked. "Well, you're before a different judge now."

Edward Gannon, Retired Policeman, Killed by Fall

Edward Gannon, 63 years old, a retired policeman, was fatally injured last night when he fell down a flight of stairs in his home at 4732 Adams street. Gannon retired from the force in September, 1932, after 26 years of service, much of that time at Lawndale station. Surviving him are his widow, Margaret; two sons, Policeman Edward Gannon Jr. of the detective bureau and Lawrence Gannon of Paris, Ill., and one daughter, Mrs. Abel Cantu.

Dr. W. H. Johnson, Editorial Writer, Dies in Columbus

Columbus, O., Jan. 4.—(AP)—A heart attack today took the life of Dr. W. H. Johnson, 73, chief editorial writer of the Columbus Dispatch and before that for 25 years a member of the Denison university faculty. He had been connected with the newspaper since 1920. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Augusta Gieze Johnson, and a son, Alfred J., of Denison.

Seek Rupert Schlink; Mother Ill in Hospital

Police are searching for Rupert Schlink, 37 years old, to notify him that his mother, Mrs. Nellie Schlink, 7601 South Paulina street, is critically ill in Holy Cross hospital. Physicians believe his appearance may aid his mother's recovery.

HOSPITAL BEGINS CELEBRATION OF 70TH BIRTHDAY

Founded to Care for Women, Children.

A two day celebration of the 70th anniversary of the Women and Children's hospital will start today in conjunction with the fifth anniversary of the opening of the institution's 100 bed building at 1600 Maypole avenue.

The hospital staff is composed entirely of women. It was founded in 1864 by Dr. Mary Thompson to care for women and children of veterans of the civil war during an epidemic of cholera. At that time there were only two other hospitals in the city. One did not admit women patients and the other did not allow women physicians to practice.

On Today's Program.

The anniversary program today will include special observances in the medical and surgical clinics. Tonight there will be a supper for visiting physicians, followed by a medical meeting. This will be addressed by Dr. Maude Slye, who is famous for her cancer experiments with mice.

Tomorrow the members of the board of trustees will be hosts at a luncheon for laymen and members of the medical profession. Miss Herma Clark of THE TRIBUNE will speak, her topic being, "When the Hospital was Young."

Yesterday Mrs. Louise S. Taylor, president of the board, pointed to the hospital's record in obstetrics for the last five years. No deaths have occurred among the 2,000 mothers cared for in obstetrical cases, she said. In addition to furnishing medical and surgical care in the usual departments of medical practice, the hospital maintains a dispensary which in 1933 reported 16,500 clinic visits. It had a total of 65,666 clinic visits in the five years.

Picked by Welfare Agencies.

"The hospital is one of the private institutions in the city to be selected by the welfare agencies to care for needy patients," Mrs. Taylor said. "The selection was made because of the amount of charity which the hospital had always been accustomed to giving in the days before the necessity of organized relief and because of the uniform good care which the patients received there.

"In 1933 a total of 799 patients were received under the emergency welfare fund. Of these, 254 were children, 171 maternity cases, and the remainder women with children dependent upon them."

Dr. Margaret Austin is chief of staff of the hospital. The staff includes many prominent women physicians.

The hospital was first in Rush street, but it was destroyed by the fire of 1871. The city officials gave Dr. Thompson $25,000 of the fund collected for the relief of the city and the hospital was rebuilt. This was later abandoned for a larger plant at 1712 West Adams street. When this was outgrown the new $1,000,000 hospital was built five years ago.

DEACON FOSTER OF ZION DIES OF HEART AILMENT

Edgar A. Foster, a deacon in the Christian Catholic Apostolic church at Zion for 34 years, died of a heart attack in the general store there yesterday. He was 77 years old. Until his retirement four years ago, Deacon Foster had worked in the store.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maria Foster, and the following children: Mrs. Nina Luther of Zion, Mrs. Neita West of Klamath Falls, Ore.; Mrs. Harry Martin of Syracuse, N. Y., and Fred Foster of Concordia, Kas.

Deacon Foster began his deaconship under the late Dr. John Alexander Dowie. Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva of Zion will preach the funeral sermon tomorrow.

Jerre C. Murphy, Veteran Newspaperman, Is Dead

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Jerre C. Murphy, 75, veteran newspaperman of the west and midwest, died today. After working on several small Wisconsin papers, Murphy became an editorial writer for a Milwaukee daily [Sentinel]. Later he was Gov. Robert La Follette's private secretary for several years. He is survived by his widow and seven daughters, including Mrs. John F. Murphy of Evanston, Ill.

Funeral for S. R. Brink to Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for S. R. Brink, manager in the Chicago district for the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, will be held tomorrow in the chapel at 63d street and Harvard avenue. Burial will be in Oakwoods cemetery. Mr. Brink died Wednesday night at the Billings Memorial hospital. He was 39 years old. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Butler Falls Dead in James Simpson Home

Edward Woods, English butler employed in the home of James Simpson, utilities chief, at 1200 Lake Shore drive, fell dead as he was working in the pantry of the Simpson home yesterday. Coroner Frank J. Walsh said Woods had been suffering from a cold, but that the immediate cause of death was a heart attack.

Maryland Timber King Dies After Illness of Year

Cambridge, Md., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Following an illness of nearly a year, Lingan T. Spicer, one of the largest land and timber owners on the eastern shore of Maryland, died last night at his home here. He was 66 years old.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

ELGIN OFFICER IS FOUND DEAD WITH GUN AT HIS SIDE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 4.—Lieut. Howard Martindell, Battery A, 55th Coast artillery, Fort Kamehameha, was found dead in his quarters early this morning with a bullet wound in his right temple, and an automatic pistol near his side. A letter written by Lieut. Martindell to his mother was discovered in his quarters. Its contents were of a despondent nature.

LIEUT. HOWARD MARTINDELL.

Lieut. Martindell was graduated from West Point in 1932, and had been in the Hawaiian department since January, 1933. He was 24 years old. A board headed by Maj. Ira Hill, 41st Coast artillery, is investigating the death which is believed to be suicide.

Lieut. Howard Martindell was born in Pierre, S. D. He had spent most of his life in Elgin, Ill. His mother, Mrs. Luella McNamara, lives at 654 Chester avenue, Elgin. She had received no official word of her son's death last night.

Lieut. Martindell was graduated with honors from the Elgin High school in 1926. He enlisted in the 129th infantry, I. N. G., in Elgin, and showed such aptitude for military studies that he was induced to enter into a competitive examination for West Point. He passed and entered the academy in 1928 graduating four years later. He served at Kelly field, San Antonio, Tex., until January, 1933.

WINS CUSTODY OF SEVEN CHILDREN, SO ALL IS WELL

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 4.—(AP)—The seven children of Mrs. Lillian Routt helped her solve a big problem today and everything will be "all right."

Separated from them for five years when her husband took them to Milwaukee, Mrs. Routt was awarded custody of her brood by a Milwaukee Juvenile court and she brought them home to St. Louis last night.

How to support them—that was her worry. But the children decided they would support her. John Jr., 14, and Darell, 10, will sell papers; Vernis, 15, will get a job; Beryl, 12, will do the cooking at home; Loren, 8, will run errands; James, 7, and Ray, 5, will make the beds and do the housework.

And under their plans Mrs. Routt won't have anything to do.

CHAS. W. HUBBELL FUNERAL SERVICE THIS AFTERNOON

Funeral services for Charles Wolcott Hubbell, former president of Henlon & Hubbell, pioneer pump dealers in Chicago, will be held at 1:30 o'clock today in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Randolph Rawle, 5340 Hyde Park boulevard. The body will be taken to Seneca Falls, N. Y., for burial.

Mr. Hubbell died Wednesday morning of heart disease. He was 77 years old. He was a member of the Union League club, the Sons of the American Revolution, and the Flossmoor Country club.

His widow, Mrs. Maude M. Hubbell; Mrs. Rawle, and a son, J. B. Murray Hubbell, survive.

Mrs. Anna W. Venn Dies in Home of Heart Illness

Mrs. Anna Weirich Venn, wife of Theodore J. Venn, a proof reader on THE TRIBUNE, died yesterday in her home at 4647 North Lincoln street. Heart disease was the cause. Surviving her are her husband, a daughter, Theodora F. Venn, and two sisters, Mary Weirich of Los Gatos, Cal., and Susan Weirich of Reedsburg, Wis. Services will be held at 1:30 tomorrow at 1458 Belmont avenue. Burial will be in Montrose cemetery.

Gone! That COLD—

When This Remedy Gets Busy!

A cold is no joke and Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine treats it as none! It goes right to the seat of the trouble, an infection within the system. Surface remedies are largely makeshift.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is speedy and effective because it is expressly a cold remedy and because it is direct and internal—and COMPLETE! It does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. That's the treatment a cold requires and anything less is taking chances. When you feel a cold coming on, get busy at once with Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. For sale by all druggists, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and resent a substitute.

NEW WILLS FILED IN PROBATE COURT

Three wills were filed yesterday with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin in the Probate court and were approved by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge O'Connell. The wills are those of:

RITES TOMORROW FOR ELLSWORTH, DU PAGE LEADER

Funeral services for Louis Ellsworth, Du Page county Circuit clerk, who died at his home in Glen Ellyn late Wednesday, will be held at 110 North Hale street, Wheaton, at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Mr. Ellsworth, who was 76 years old, was a member of a pioneer family in Du Page county. His grandfather, Louis Ellsworth, was County judge from 1840 to 1843, and his father, Milton S. Ellsworth, was County clerk from 1877 to 1896. Mr. Ellsworth himself was in public life for about thirty-five years, having served in the offices of the county clerk and Circuit clerk until his own election to the Circuit clerkship in 1916. He held this post continuously until his death.

Surviving Mr. Ellsworth are his widow, Mrs. Eva M. Ellsworth, who has been appointed Circuit clerk pro tem., and three sons, Louis Jr., Ralph and Grant Ellsworth.

THRICE KIDNAPED BOOTLEG CHIEF, JAS. WARD, DIES

James Ward, bootleg beer chief who was kidnaped for ransom three times in the last four years, died yesterday at his home, 212 West Lincoln highway, Chicago Heights. He was 47 years old.

The death of Ward was attributed principally to a blow on the head inflicted by his kidnapers, believed to have been the gang headed by Jack Klutas.

When prohibition went into effect Ward was a Joliet saloon keeper. He entered bootlegging and prospered so greatly that he became owner of a Chicago Heights brewery. With the repeal of the Volstead act he reopened the brewery, but failed to prosper and his friends reported he had been worried recently over finances. He is believed to have paid his kidnapers more than $40,000.

Surviving Ward are his wife, two daughters, and a son.

SAM'L BURNHAM, PIONEER REALTY BROKER, IS DEAD

Samuel Burnham, one of the pioneer residents of Burnham and for more than 40 years a real estate broker in the Calumet district on the southeastern edge of the city, died in his home at 7011 Parnell avenue yesterday. Mr. Burnham was 80 years old.

He was the brother of Telford Burnham after whom the town of Burnham was named. Born in Philadelphia, Samuel Burnham came to Chicago in 1887 and four years later opened offices in the Calumet district. Two years ago he retired because of failing health.

He is survived by his widow, Virginia, a son, Charles, and a daughter, Mrs. Mamie McCormick of Buchanan, Mich. The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday from 316 West 63d street and interment will be at Oakwoods cemetery.

In every neighborhood, Chicago families realize the nearness, the remarkable promptness and superiority of Hursen service in directing funerals.

They know that Hursen elegance, Hursen unmatchable equipment, and the use of Hursen Organ-Chapels, always free, cannot be matched in their own neighborhood.

They know, too, that Hursen funerals cost less!

FLOOD DEAD 42; 72 ARE MISSING AS DEBRIS IS MOVED

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Six more victims were added to a growing list of dead in the southern California flood of New Year's day. The death toll now is 42.

Official reports listed 72 other persons as missing. Fear grew that many of them might be dead. The final toll may not be known for months, as P. F. Fedderson, assistant construction engineer of the county road department, said it would take three months to remove débris and wreckage in the Montrose area. Five thousand men are clearing away débris in the flood area.

DETROIT BANK CHIEF ADMITS HIDING DEFICIT

Boasts of Strength, Then Asks U. S. Aid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—The senate committee on banking and currency, delving today into records of the Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc., disclosed "profits in the red," and apparently contradictory reports to stockholders and to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, from which the group interests sought loans aggregating about $65,000,000.

ERNEST KANZLER. [Acme Photo.]

Ernest Kanzler, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Edsel Ford, who was chairman of the board of the Guardian Detroit Union Group, for more than three hours faced Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel.

It was Kanzler who, in January, 1933, in a report to the more than 8,000 stockholders of the group, declared that the year 1932 was one of "notable improvement."

Then He Seeks U. S. Aid.

Two weeks later, according to the minutes of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, Kanzler declared that if the necessary aid could not be obtained from the RFC he could not see how the closing of the group banks could be avoided. The minutes stated that Kanzler offered securities of a face value of $6,000,000 for a loan of $20,500,000 to pilot the Union Guardian Trust company through the financial storm.

Before Kanzler was called Pecora recalled Robert O. Lord, who was president of the group. Pecora based his attack on Lord on the annual report of the group for the years 1930, 1931, and 1932, insisting that he point out any references in them to deficits of the parent organization or any of its subsidiary units.

Lord contended that the deficit of the group, which was the item in controversy, was covered in the report for the whole group organization. It was not specifically mentioned, he admitted, but could be found consolidated in the operating figures.

Fails to Show Deficit.

"Show me," said Pecora, "any figures or grouping of figures in this 1930 annual report which indicate to a reader that a deficit existed.

"There is no such statement," replied Lord, "because it was our best judgment to present them as we did. I have consulted with Haskins and Sells [accountants] and they advised us we had presented the facts properly."

Lord said there was no intention of deceiving the stockholders when, in the annual reports of 1930, 1931, and 1932, no mention was made of deficit. The reports were presented, he added, "in a fashion" to give the stockholders "the facts in which they were interested."

Later in his testimony Lord recalled that he had not consulted Haskins & Sells, but the firm of Price, Waterhouse & Co.

Makes Verbal Report.

Coming to the report for the calendar year 1932, which was to provide the day's fireworks, Lord disclosed that no printed annual report was given the stockholders. Instead, Kanzler, he said, had addressed a meeting of stockholders in January last year and made a verbal report.

In the years under scrutiny, 1929 to 1932, inclusive, the group company put $8,414,000 into the chain units and took out $9,789,000. The money, said Lord, was used to purchase and lift out undesirable assets. In the same period the group paid dividends totaling $9,293,639. The amount paid the stockholders, said Lord, was about $800,000 more than was paid the unit banks. The money paid the units was borrowed from banks in New York and Chicago, he said.

No Copies for Stockholders.

Kanzler's examination was limited to the 1932 "verbal report." Minutes of that meeting said a motion to print and supply one copy to each of the more than 8,000 stockholders was unanimously adopted. The evidence was that no copies were made.

Kanzler produced his original notes and Pecora read them into the record. These notes disclosed that Kanzler told those at the meeting that "the safety of funds which our depositors have intrusted to us is paramount to every other consideration," and that from this viewpoint "1932 was a year of notable improvement."

"The stock ownership of your corporation," Kanzler told the stockholders, "is the best evidence of the confidence the directors and officers have in the future of the group."

"And right after that meeting you proceeded to Washington to get a loan from the RFC, did you not?" Pecora asked.

Kanzler replied that he came to Washington for that purpose early last February.

Mine Shares Jump, Due to Inflation Hint

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—Rallying tendencies developed in the stock market in the late trading today following the delivery of the President's budget message with its inflationary implications. The buying centered in the gold and silver mining shares and Homestake shot up 11 points net. Such issues as Alaska Juneau, Dome, and U. S. Smelting rose $1 to more than $4 a share.

With the RFC gold price here remaining unchanged and the same holding true of the open market price in London at levels almost $2 an ounce under the American domestic quotation some traders were inclined to look for early news bearing on a "free" gold market. Virtually the whole metal group shared in the last hour price upturn.

Minus Signs Predominate.

The rest of the list looked up from the lows of the day, although minus signs predominated in the closing prices. Utility issues were conspicuously out of favor on the state proposals for various measures to dress dow.. earnings. American Telephone, Public Service, Brooklyn Union, North American, and others closed a fraction to a point or so lower. Peoples Gas of Chicago gave up nearly 2 points on the day.

Oil shares were held down by threats of a gasoline price war in the east. Standard of New Jersey, Standard of California, and others came in for moderate selling throughout the session.

The demonstration in the motors was suspended, although Chrysler managed to make the final grade with a plus sign to its credit thanks to a little flurry of last minute buying.

Leaders Nearly Steady.

United States Steel, General Motors, General Electric, and other leaders held fairly close to previous levels.

Trading was in light volume and brokers reported that the public generally was still awaiting further developments at Washington.

Latest business statistics provided basis for hope that a stronger expansion trend in business would be defined soon.

Commission houses who usually handle a portion of such business reported London inclined to nibble at American securities today. This buying was the first noted from that direction in some weeks. This demand was rather general, not centering in any particular group.

DOLLAR DROPS MORE THAN CENT FROM DAY'S PEAK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—After spurting sharply in early foreign exchange trading the dollar flopped more than a cent from the day's peak on publication of the national budget figures forecasting deficits for the current and next fiscal years and an increase in the public debt. In terms of French francs the dollar closed at 82.79 cents, off .40 of a cent on the day.

The early rise was credited to short covering by speculators who had sold the dollar short in anticipation that the President's message to congress would point to more inflation. It reached a peak of 63.91 cents before breaking. When the slump came it was slightly more in relation to non-gold currencies than in comparison with gold backed moneys.

French francs, after having fallen 7 points to 6.13, rebounded 11 points to close at 6.24, up 4 points on the day. Sterling first dropped 3¼ cents to 5.08 and then rebounded 7¾ cents to close at $5.15¾, a gain of 4½ cents net.

The RFC again left the domestic price of gold at $34.06, the rate since Dec. 18. The world price of gold at London remained unchanged at 127 shillings 6 pence. However, translated into dollars at the opening price of sterling, $5.09, the world price was $32.44, off 35 cents from yesterday. This put the indicated gold value of the dollar at 63.72 cents, approximately equal to the exchange market.

Studebaker Final Quarter Sales Best in Five Years

South Bend., Ind., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Studebaker sales in the fourth quarter of 1933 totaled 18,669 cars and trucks, according to Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker Corporation of America. "This was the best fourth quarter in five years," he said. "More than three times as many cars were sold as in the final quarter of 1932, and almost three times as many as in the third quarter of 1933. Sales for the year were 48,147 cars and trucks, compared with 47,733 in 1932."

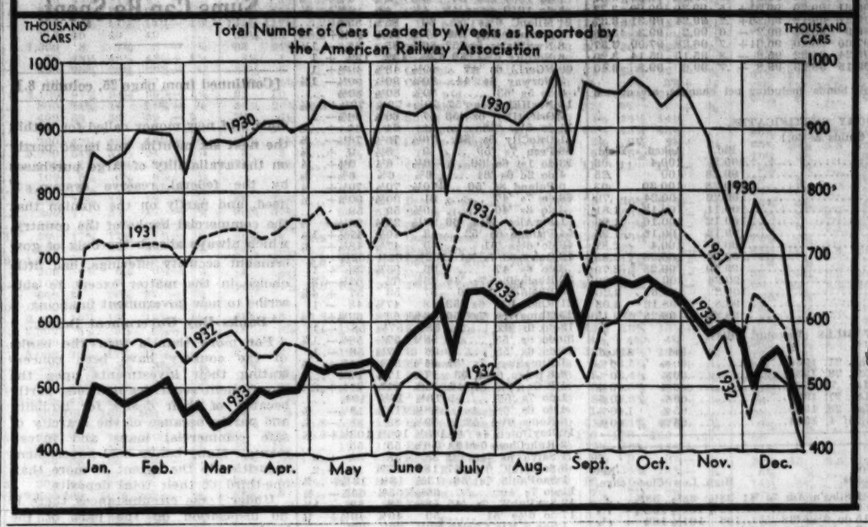
Freight Car Loadings for 4 Years Compared



SHIPPERS PLACE NEED FOR CARS ABOVE YEAR AGO

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Holding their first optimistic meeting in two years, members of the midwest shippers' advisory board yesterday officially estimated that their freight car requirements for the ensuing three months will be 5.2 per cent in excess of the number of cars actually handled in the first quarter of 1933.

This estimate was based on statistics gathered two weeks ago. However, the opinion was expressed at the close of the meeting that in view of the prevailing business optimism an estimated increase over last year of 10 per cent might be more accurate. Last year 610,400 cars were handled, so an increase of 10 per cent would mean that this year's requirements would be in the neighborhood of 671,000 cars.

Forecasts Regarded as Barometer.

The midwest shippers advisory board is composed of shippers and railroad representatives and the 400 attending yesterday's session, which was held at the Palmer house, were equally divided between the two groups. The board's forecasts, along with those of the similar organizations in the other sections of the country, are rated among the most important business indicators.

Among the increases expected will be in the coal, iron and steel, agricultural implement, automobile, cement and building material departments. Decreases were expected in shipments of fresh fruits, vegetables and grain. The action of the federal government in making loans of 45 cents a bushel on corn has impelled farmers to hold that grain in their cribs because of present low prices, thus curtailing shipments in this department.

The results of the repeal of the prohibition law were reflected in some of the estimates. Silica, which is used in making glasses for beer and liquor, showed the largest single gain with an increase of 150 per cent. It was estimated that the beer industry alone will use 8,000 cars during the coming quarter despite the large use of trucks in transporting this product.

These Listed for Increase.

Increases were predicted in the following departments: Acids and chemicals, 10 per cent; agricultural implements, 40 per cent; automobiles and trucks, 43; brick and clay products, 38; canned goods, groceries and food products, 10; cement, 10; coal and coke, 5; fertilizer and fertilizer materials, 25; glass containers, 15; iron and steel, 20; lumber, 25; machinery and machines, 20; packing house products, 10; paper and pulp, 14; poultry products, 7; lumber products, 15; sand, gravel, and crushed stone, 10, and silica, 150 per cent.

Earl J. Bryan of the Wisconsin Paper and Pulp association was elected president of the board to succeed Lawrence Farlow, secretary of the Illinois Farmers' Grain Dealers' association. The board has jurisdiction over Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, upper Michigan, and the west half of Indiana.

The Atlantic states shippers' advisory board, meeting in New York City yesterday, estimated that its requirements will be 11.5 per cent in excess of the cars handled during the first quarter of 1933.

President's Son-in-Law Sells Grain Board Seat

Curtis B. Dall, son-in-law of President Roosevelt, who joined the Chicago Board of Trade about six months ago, has posted his membership for transfer to Stephen L. Spain. The membership was originally bought from Mr. Spain.

Commodities Reverse Trend; Index Is 19% Over 1933 Low

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—Wholesale prices during the week ended Dec. 30, 1933, reversed their previous trend and from a decline in recent weeks showed an increase amounting to six-tenths of 1 per cent, the bureau of labor statistics announced today. This placed prices back at the level of the week ended Dec. 16.

The rise was due to a decided strengthening in the market prices of farm products and manufactured foods. Seven of the ten major groups of commodities covered by the bureau revealed rising prices. The increase placed the index number at 70.8 per cent of the 1926 average of 100 for the week ended Dec. 30, as compared with 70.4 for the week ended Dec. 23.

14% Above Year Ago.

The rise placed the general level slightly less than 14 per cent above the level of one year ago when the index registered 62.2. Present wholesale prices are nearly 19 per cent above the low point reached for the year during the week ended March 4 when the index was 59.6. It was slightly more than 1 per cent under the high point of 1933, reached during the week ended Nov. 19 when the index registered 71.7.

Market prices of farm products moved upward more than 2 per cent over the average for the previous week. The outstanding advance in this group was shown for the subgroup of live stock and poultry, which increased by more than 7 per cent in the aggregate. Grains and cotton also showed a strengthening, of prices. Other items showing increases were eggs, onions, potatoes, and flaxseed. Hops, for the first time in several weeks, showed a weakening in price.

Butter Reverses Trend.

The manufactured foods group showed the next largest increase by rising 1½ per cent in average prices during the week. After declining for several weeks butter prices moved sharply upward, causing the subgroup of butter, cheese, and milk to rise nearly 4 per cent. Advancing prices were also reported for fresh pork, veal, carcass beef, and lamb. Declining prices were registered for flour, macaroni, lemons, and oranges.

Rising prices for hides and skins caused the hides and leather products group to show more than ½ of 1 per cent increase.

CHICAGO POWER OUTPUT IS 13.3% ABOVE YEAR AGO

Electric output figures for the Chicago district for the week ended Dec. 30 made the best comparison with 1932 since those for the week ended Sept. 16, 1933. The improved showing was due to improvement in the light and power load and to increased demand of electric transportation companies as a result of the coldest weather so far this year.

Output totaled 101,659,000 kilowatt hours for the week ended Dec. 30, 1933. This represented a 13.3 per cent increase over output of 89,744,000 kilowatt hours for the corresponding 1932 week. For the week ended Dec. 23, 1933, output was 105,136,000 kilowatt hours, up 7 per cent from the corresponding 1932 week; for the Dec. 16 week, 105,191,000, up 3.8 per cent, and for the Dec. 9 week, 101,962,000, up 3.8 per cent.

HUTCHINS HEADS GROUP TO GUIDE MONEY, TRADE

Roosevelt Approves New Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—A new organization to study and report on what the policy of the United States should be toward such problems as international monetary standards, foreign loans and other capital movements, and tariffs and other trade barriers, in the light of changing national and world conditions, was announced today.

ROBERT M. HUTCHINS.

Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, is chairman of the group which is called the commission of inquiry on national policy in international economic relations.

The survey was proposed and the commission named by the social science research council. At the request of the council the work will be financed by the Rockefeller foundation.

Approved by Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt has approved the plan, according to Robert T. Crane, executive director of the council. Mr. Crane quoted a letter from the President with reference to the work of this and another commission, as follows:

"I approve of this plan as outlined. I believe that in making the result of their study available to the government these commissions will be able to make a distinct contribution."

Public hearings will be held in various cities, including New York, Chicago, Des Moines, Minneapolis, Denver, San Francisco, Dallas, New Orleans, and Washington, beginning about May 1. Experts and representatives of all groups interested in such problems will be asked to state their views. The commission hopes to complete its report, with recommendations as to policies, by Oct. 1.

Is Independent Group.

Mr. Crane announced that the commission would function as an independent body, responsible neither to the government nor the council, and would report to neither, "but to the people of the United States."

"The commission will not seek to do a research job or make a scholarly investigation," Mr. Hutchins said. "It is not interested in theorizing about international relations or in collecting data as a primary end, although, of course, it will have to assemble a great deal of data. What it hopes to do is twofold—to frame a practical program, recommending to the people

Member Banks Sell 70 Million Federal Bonds

(Statistics on page 26, column 8.)

New York and Chicago banks belonging to the federal reserve system in the week ended Wednesday sold 70 million dollars worth of government bonds, according to the weekly figures released yesterday by the federal reserve board.

This selling of government bonds apparently was done to offset rather heavy withdrawals of treasury funds deposited in those banks. The figures show that during the week the government withdrew 51 millions from New York member banks and 7 millions from Chicago member banks.

The purpose of these treasury withdrawals has not been disclosed, but they are believed to have been made because the treasury needed the funds to pay over the 150 millions which, under the banking act of 1933, is the treasury's contribution to the capital of the federal deposit insurance fund. This money was due to be paid into the fund on Jan. 1.

* *

At the same time, however, the figures for the 12 federal reserve banks, which must contribute an additional 140 millions to the guaranty fund, show that up to Wednesday night they had not yet been called upon to hand over their share. This operation will probably occur some time this week.

Although the member banks [commercial institutions] in New York and Chicago were heavy sellers of government bonds, the twelve reserve banks maintained their standoff policy, buying no more government bonds for their own accounts.

The pressure of selling by the member banks failed to lower quotations on government bonds during the last week, possibly because of buying by the deposit insurance fund, which, under the law, is obliged to invest its funds in government bonds.

* *

In addition to selling 66 millions of government bonds, the New York member banks sold 11 millions of other securities. On Wednesday their reserve balances of 821 millions carried with the federal reserve bank were 109 million dollars in excess of of the legal minimum, compared with excess reserves of 196 millions for Chicago member banks.

Commercial loans in New York increased six millions for the week and in Chicago 11 millions.

Brokers' loans reported by New York member banks increased 36 millions for the week to a total of 837 millions.

Circulation of federal reserve currency declined 11 million dollars.

Woolworth Sales Increase 11.7% Over December, '32

December, 1933, sales of F. W. Woolworth company compared better with its corresponding 1932 month than did any other month last year. They totaled $36,995,608, an increase of 11.7 per cent over December, 1932. Sales for November were 3.8 per cent above November, 1932. Sales for 1933 amounted to $250,512,599, compared with $249,891,640 for 1932. This represented the first yearly gain since 1929.

ROOSEVELT PLAN FOR VAST LOANS JARS MARKETS

Banks Wonder How Sums Can Be Used.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—President Roosevelt's budget message, calling for 6 billion dollars of new financing by the government in the next six months, in addition to 4 billion dollars of refinancing, and forecasting a total government debt of 31 billion 834 million dollars by June 30, 1935, staggered the financial community today.

Government securities sold off sharply, but later rallied on support from official sources; the dollar, which had been strong in the morning, sank swiftly in foreign exchange; common stocks and the general bond list turned ragged and uncertain, but the commodity markets in general construed the news of further huge contemplated government expenditures as bullish on staple prices.

Bankers Are Bewildered.

Among bankers there was bewilderment. One of the principal sources of uncertainty was the inability of most financiers to understand how the government could dispense the large amounts called for in the period specified.

There was little doubt that the government could actually raise the new money called for, but it was generally felt that the process would involve far-reaching adjustments upon the government bond market and the general banking situation. It might call for further large purchases of government securities by the federal reserve banks, many experts thought.

In this connection there was speculation upon the possibility of government recapture of the federal reserve system's "profits" on its gold holdings to help finance the contemplated outlay.

It May Be Worst Picture.

Some bankers consoled themselves with the thought that the President had put forward the blackest [from their point of view] picture of the government's financial situation that he could paint for purposes of policy and that the actual work of assembling the necessary legislation would reveal a brighter prospect.

Other bankers found comfort in the concluding passages of the message, which revealed that control over emergency expenditures had been placed in the hands of the bureau of the budget. Still others suggest that congress, confronted with so staggering a program, would recoil in the direction of economy. There was rather general surprise that the reaction of the government securities market and the foreign exchange market to the news had not been more extreme.

The belief that the government could succeed in raising the 6 billion

Protective Committee for

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND AND PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY

First and Refunding Mortgage 4% Gold Bonds, Due April 1, 1934

and

Secured 4½% Gold Bonds, Series A, Due September 1, 1952

NOTICE OF PARTIAL INTEREST PAYMENT

The United States District Court in Chicago on December 28, 1933, directed the Trustees of The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company to pay the July 1, 1933, interest on its $99,981,000 of General Mortgage 4% Gold Bonds, with six months' interest on such interest at the rate of 4% per annum, equivalent to a total of $20.40 per $1,000 Bond.

As a result of Court orders obtained through the efforts of this Committee, the Trustees for the $163,000,000 of First and Refunding Mortgage 4% Gold Bonds will receive such payment on the $38,400,000 of General Mortgage 4% Gold Bonds pledged with them. On January 23, 1934, the Mortgage Trustees will disburse therefrom (after deducting their fees and certain of their expenses) $4.65 in respect of October 1, 1933, interest on each $1,000 principal amount of First and Refunding Mortgage 4% Gold Bonds.

The Trustee for the $40,000,000 of Secured 4½% Gold Bonds will receive such partial interest payment on the $45,000,000 First and Refunding Mortgage 4% Gold Bonds pledged with it, and on January 23, 1934, will disburse therefrom (after deducting its fees and certain of its expenses) $5.06 in respect of September 1, 1933, interest on each $1,000 principal amount of Secured 4½% Gold Bonds.

On January 23, 1934, this Committee will mail checks to holders of record on said date of its Certificates of Deposit for Bonds of these two issues for the full amount received by the Committee on the Bonds represented thereby without deduction for any Committee expenses. The transfer books of the Committee will be closed against the transfer of Certificates of Deposit during the period from the close of business on January 16, 1934, until the opening of business on January 24, 1934.

In order to receive the interest payment, we are advised that holders of undeposited coupon bonds must fill out and sign a form of letter of presentation of coupons for partial payment and present their October 1, 1933, or September 1, 1933 coupons (as the case may be) to the respective Mortgage or Indenture Trustees for stamping of the amount of the payment thereon accompanied by such letter. Certificates of Deposit representing deposited bonds, however, need not be presented for notation of the payment thereon; deposits of Bonds will be received continuously irrespective of the closing of the books against transfers; and the Committee will collect, and forward to Depositors checks for, the interest payment on Bonds hereafter deposited.

A statement regarding this interest payment is being mailed to all Depositors and to all holders of non-deposited Bonds whose addresses are known to the Committee. Copies of this statement, as well as letters of transmittal for depositing bonds and copies of the Deposit Agreement, may be obtained from any Depositary or the Secretary of the Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—The market for United States government bonds, which had been steady during the morning, was severely jolted at midday when excerpts of the President's budget message appeared on the financial news tickers.

Under the impetus of heavy selling, prices on the long term Liberty loans and treasury issues quickly dropped to levels 1-32d to 18-32ds points below the previous day's final prices. The issues hardest hit were the treasury 3s, the recently offered 4¼s-3¾s, the 3¼s, and the three issues of 3½s.

Rally on Government Buying.

Then, according to specialists, support began to appear from governmental agency sources, the market rapidly recovered its equilibrium and closed off 8-32d to up 7-32ds point for the day. Of the fourteen active issues nine were down 1-32d to 8-32ds, four up 2-32ds to 7-32ds, and one, the treasury 4s, closed unchanged.

Trading interest in the government issues eclipsed all other groups. The turnover in the government issues reached $7,320,000, the heaviest since Nov. 14, and compared with total dealings in the listed bond market today of $17,390,000, which was the biggest day's business since Dec. 27.

Other Bonds Move Lower.

The movement of the government issues led the way for the corporation issues, which finished irregularly lower on the day, as did foreign bonds, on the average. Short term government issues in the over the counter market closed the day unchanged to off 8-32ds point, although at one time they were considerably lower.

Fractional declines were the rule among high grade corporate issues. Sellers had to make concessions also on second grade and speculative issues, including bonds of Norfolk & Western, Great Northern, International Telephone, New York Central, Southern Pacific, and Postal Telegraph.

German bonds relapsed under profittaking. Australians also fell back from the exertions of their recent rise.

Borden Co.

Investors' Guide: I note that Borden common is low and is well rated. Am thinking of investing in it. Will appreciate your latest report on it. — R. W. C.

Answer: Borden company is the second largest factor in the dairy products industry. It has distributing outlets in practically all major consuming centers of the United States and Canada. Fluid milk and cream are the most important products sold. The company also distributes ice cream, butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk and affiliated products.

Earnings are reported annually only. Although no figures covering 1933 are yet available, all indications point to sharply lower earnings for the year. Milk was one of the few agricultural products whose price remained fairly constant during 1930 and the early part of 1931. This encouraged farmers, especially those that had not previously produced the product, to boost production. The result was a huge oversupply.

Independent milk distributors entered the picture and began to cut prices. This gave the former stable price structure a severe jolt. During 1933 the federal government, and some state governments, through imposition of codes, attempted to establish an artificial pegged price for the product. These plans have not proved successful.

The following is a four year record of earnings:

	Sales.	Net Income.	Com.Sh.	Inc. per
1932	$212,349,000	$ 7,524,000	3,000,000	$1.71
1931	284,587,000	16,089,000	3,000,000	3.66
1930	345,422,000	20,517,000	3,000,000	4.35
1929	328,467,000	19,404,000	*3,000,000	*5.33

*On smaller number of shares.

Current position at the close of 1932 was strong. Current assets, including cash assets alone of almost $25,000,000, aggregated $50,400,000 and current liabilities were $10,673,000.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists solely of 4,396,754 shares of $25 par stock. In an attempt to adjust dividends to earnings the stock was placed on a 40 cent quarterly dividend basis in March, 1933.

The company is well established in its territories.

BROKERS FAVOR NEW SETUP FOR STOCK EXCHANGE

Say Management Needs Sweeping Changes.

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—It has become an open secret in Wall street that members of some of the leading commission houses are proposing sweeping changes in the form of organization of the stock exchange.

Renewed stirrings of this sort are heard in brokerage quarters this week, with the reassembling of congress and the resumption of hearings by the senate finance committee which is preparing to consider specific legislation to control the exchanges.

One of the chief complaints of some of the larger firms has been the fact that under the present form of organization the stock exchange is governed entirely by the floor members.

Seats in Names of Young Men.

In many stock exchange firms the actual stock exchange seats are held in the names of comparatively young men, some of whom have been advanced from positions as order clerks to do the actual mechanical work of floor trading but whose other responsibilities are few.

Another plaint heard among some of the big commission houses is that a large proportion of the members of the exchange, who hold the actual voting powers in the organization, are specialists and independent floor traders having virtually no contact with the public.

In an effort to remedy this situation the exchange recently arranged to permit some leading partners of prominent firms to sit in an advisory capacity in some of the exchange's inner councils, although these partners may not hold exchange memberships in their own names, but it appears that dissatisfaction is still rife.

Desire Full Time Direction.

Another suggestion which is being made in some prominent commission house quarters is that the president and other principal officers of the exchange should be placed on salaries and urged to give up their own private business so that they could devote their full time to managing the exchange.

In its efforts toward self-regulation the exchange has recently assumed new responsibilities in undertaking to supervise the distribution of new or additional securities by listed corporations, and in quarters urging changes of organization it is suggested that this work, if properly done, will require much attention from responsible officials of the exchange.

TELL OF LOSSES IN MANHATTAN ELECTRIC POOL

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Investors from Reading, Pa., testified in federal court today concerning their purchases of Manhattan Electrical Supply stock at the time that Richard H. Brown and Charles G. McCarthy, now on trial for alleged mail fraud, were operating a stock pool.

David E. Hauck and his son, David E. Hauck Jr., testified that together they were holding 2,300 shares of Manhattan Electrical Supply company stock May 2, 1930, and when the stock failed to open on the New York Stock exchange and within 48 hours dropped from $55.50 to $25 a share.

J. C. Mumma said he was holding 800 shares at the time and Orton W. Lindgren testified he had held 1,600 shares. Horace Dale Thomas said he was holding 6,200 shares. With Emmet R. Ring and A. W. Golden, who testified yesterday, losses testified to by witnesses totaled between $500,000 and $600,000.

WITNESS MISSING IN ATLAS TACK STOCK INQUIRY

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The state attorney general's office was informed today that Harold Hale, secretary of Philip H. Philbin Jr., Inc., regarded as an important witness in an inquiry into market activities of Atlas Tack corporation stock, is missing.

Assistant Attorney General Ambrose V. McCall said that for two weeks efforts have been made to serve Hale with a subpoena, but to date they have been without success. Edward Hindley, chief investigator of the bureau of securities, of which McCall is the head, and Lieut. James McCoy of the police department have been instructed to locate Hale.

At a public hearing last Friday testimony was given that Hale was in Providence, R. I., on business for Philbin. McCall today questioned Philbin in private.

DRASTIC CHANGES IN RAIL FINANCING FAVORED BY I. C. C.

Suggests Sinking Fund to Retire Part of Debt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—Drastic changes in existing methods of financing railroad maturities, including the establishment of sinking funds to retire a portion of outstanding obligations prior to maturity, were suggested today by the interstate commerce commission in its annual report to congress.

Noting an increase of about 22 per cent from 1919 to 1933 in the amount of railroad funded debt outstanding in the hands of the public, the commission said that unless the carriers voluntarily set up sinking funds to retire at least a part of the obligations before maturity, they might be compelled to do so as a condition to its approval of issuance of more securities.

Issues Are Refunded.

"It has been the policy of railroad companies," said the commission, "to provide for their financial requirements largely through the issue of long term bonds, which at maturity are refunded.

"While the bonds are refunded the indebtedness evidently is ordinarily regarded as perpetual and no provision is made for its ultimate liquidation.

"The result is that the funded debt of the railway companies is constantly increasing as their investment in railway properties is increased."

From 1919 to 1933 the funded debt of railroads outstanding in the hands of the public was increased from $9,773,239,469 to $11,835,623,146 and, at the close of 1932, annual interest due holders of carriers' bonds amounted to about $550,000,000, the commission said.

Income Statistics.

Average yearly net railway operating income from 1920 to 1932, inclusive, was placed at $342,955,000, or about 1.5 times annual interest charges.

"It is not practical, at present, to set up sinking funds applicable to the entire funded debt; perhaps not to a great portion of it," said the commission. "The possibilities are indicated, however, when it is realized that an accumulating sinking fund of one-half of one per cent would retire the present debt if in effect for approximately 52 years."

"The expense of refunding in the manner heretofore usually followed is considerable. More important is the danger that the maturity, if it occurs at a time when new or junior bonds are difficult or impossible to market, will cause trouble. Recent experience sufficiently illustrates this."

The commission also recommended a tightening of the transportation act to eliminate "favored" rate arrangements for shipments from one county to another over American roads.

LABOR LEADER HINTS U. S. MUST TAKE OVER ROADS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—Alexander F. Whitney, spokesman for almost 2 million railway workers, announced here today he would favor government ownership of the railroads "if such conditions as now exist in the railroad industry continue."

It was Mr. Whitney's first public utterance in favor of nationalization of the railroads.

"We propose that the government set up a federal corporation for the purpose of refinancing the railroads and taking the racket away from the banks," said Mr. Whitney, who is president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association, representing the twenty-one standard rail unions.

"The overcapitalized railroads should be put through the wringer. With this plan of federal financing, a saving of close to 300 million dollars can be made for the railroads. Under government financing, there would be a lower rate of interest and better security. Yes, this might lead to government ownership.

"If conditions as now exist in the railroad industry continue, I shall be in favor of government ownership. The railroads now owe the government 400 million dollars, part of which will never be paid. They are on the way to government ownership now.

Mr. Whitney said the railroad workers were supporting President Roosevelt, but that "the farming industry has gained little and the railroads are where they were last March."

W. T. Grant Company Sales Gain 9.5% Over Last Year

The W. T. Grant company's December sales totaled $12,451,192, an increase of 9.5 per cent over a year ago. Sales for 1933 aggregated $77,648,078, or 5.9 per cent above 1932.

HOGS SELL OFF; CATTLE, LAMBS SHOW STRENGTH

Swine Decline in Spite of Government Buying.

Price trends in live stock were mixed yesterday. The hog market declined 10 to 15 cents, while cattle were slightly stronger and lambs rebounded sharply from the lower Wednesday session.

Yesterday was the second day of the three weeks' buying program started by the government on Wednesday, but with the exception of the good action in top classes, there was not much evidence of support. The top price fell 10 cents to $3.55, while the general average for the day at $3.35 showed 10 cents loss.

In two days the federal surplus relief corporation has purchased about 10,700 hogs at Chicago weighing approximately 2,000,000 pounds and ranging in weights from 140 to 210 pounds.

Eight Packers Act for U. S.

Most of the federal buyers yesterday obtained 160 to 210 pound averages at $3.40 to $3.50, the bulk of the strongest weights at the outside figure. Eight packing houses are buying and slaughtering hogs for the government at Chicago.

Practically all of the early action in the market was confined to the weights being bought by the government, while medium and heavy kinds dragged, influenced by unfavorable reports from the wholesale pork trade yesterday. Packers obtained the bulk of the "house" hogs, weighing 220 to 300 pounds, at $3.35 and $3.40.

Leading distributing centers reported huge accumulations of pork during the last month, with stocks in cold storage houses at seven points at the opening of the year 35 per cent greater than at the opening of 1933 and 25 per cent above the average of the last four years.

Beef Cattle Run Smaller.

The tonnage of beef in yesterday's cattle run was comparatively light and quality of steers plainer than usual. Slight improvement was noted in most branches of the cattle yards, with best action in the light steers and yearlings.

Better demand for beef coupled with the first advance in hides in several weeks stimulated buying by packers at the slightly better quotations. Nothing good enough to put the top quotations to a test arrived, the best cattle in the receipts selling at $6.60 and averaging 1,088 pounds.

Packers were paying $8 for good wooled lambs again yesterday, replacing about all of what they took off during the preceding session. The sharp reaction came in face of fairly heavy receipts.

Lambs without fleece came up 25 cents in value, freshly shorn stock that brought $6 on Wednesday selling readily at $6.25 yesterday.

URGE U. S. RAISE DUTY ON SOUTH AMERICAN BEEF

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Increasing imports of canned beef from Uruguay and Argentina, where producing costs are contended to be low, have resulted in a request from the American National Live Stock association of Denver for an investigation by the tariff commission looking to an increase in the tariff on that product.

The present tariff on canned beef is 6 cents a pound and not less than 20 per cent ad valorem. Under the flexible provisions of the law that rate could be increased 50 per cent.

Imports of canned beef during 1932 totaled 24,638,000 pounds, valued at $2,127,000, while in the eleven months ending with November last year imports totaled 38,674,000 pounds, valued at $2,472,000. Of the imports during the eleven months last year those from Uruguay totaled 20,272,000 pounds, valued at $1,236,000, while imports from Argentina were 17,295,000 pounds, valued at $1,129,000. In both countries there are American controlled packing establishments.

WOOL MARKETS

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 4.—Optimism is evident on all sides in the Boston wool market despite small trading. This is apparently due to the strong statistical position of wool and to the latest price advance in Australia. Domestic wools at the moment are fully 10c a pound below parity with foreign wools. Prices are decidedly firm.

DEALERS REPORT COTTON GOODS IN BETTER POSITION

Recovers After Long Adverse Period.

Following a long period of adversity, the cotton goods industry is now in better position than it has been for a number of years, according to opinions expressed yesterday by a number of dealers.

At the moment, it was stated, prices for certain lines of cotton goods, including some of the staples, are from 10 to 25 per cent lower than they were at the peak period of last August. However, they are about even with the levels of last June, when prices were well above the low points of the preceding years.

Some of the better grades of cotton goods have not declined and, in fact, some are advancing, one dealer said.

Dealers Analyze Situation.

Here is the situation based on the composite views of several cotton goods dealers:

Late last spring prices of cotton goods began to rise along with prices of other commodities. Then came talk of the national recovery administration and codes. Immediately, the mills advanced prices. Their action was further strengthened by the processing tax.

The high point in prices was reached late in August. As prices moved toward the peak, merchants in all parts of the country began to stock their shelves with cotton goods in anticipation of further increases.

With prices up and a big demand for their wares, the mills went on a profitable basis for the first time in a number of years.

Buy Raw Cotton on Decline.

A number of the mills supplemented their profits through purchases of raw cotton as this commodity declined. The result is that they have a substantial profit in their raw cotton inventories, since raw cotton is now bringing more than 4 cents a pound more than it did at this time last year.

Last fall there was a general recession in commodity prices, including cotton goods. The result is that many merchants, particularly in smaller towns, have cotton goods on their shelves purchased at prices which are higher than those in the open market now.

This latter situation is regarded as temporary because stocks in the hands of middlemen are at a minimum. Wholesalers are getting prices for goods in large quantities for future delivery which are better than those now obtaining for smaller purchases in the open market.

CONGRESS CHIEFS PLAN TO IMPROVE FARM CREDIT ACT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Plans for congressional action on a bill to supplement the existing farm credit act were discussed today at a meeting of senate and house Democratic leaders. Officials of the farm credit administration attended the meeting and offered suggestions.

The bill, which will be introduced in both houses next week, is designed to improve methods of extending credit to farmers and to make other changes found desirable in the present act during its application of the last seven months.

The present act consolidated all farm credit agencies of the government into one authority with jurisdiction over the federal land banks, land bank commissioner, regional agricultural credit corporations, seed and crop loans, federal intermediate credit banks, production credit corporations, and banks for cooperatives.

Plan Hearings on Making Live Stock Basic Commodity

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—The house agriculture committee agreed today to start hearings immediately on the Jones bill to make live stock a basic commodity under the farm adjustment act.

SOLUTION TO PROFESSOR FORDNEY'S CURIOSITY.

The real Dr. Bellen had been seriously wounded in the left leg a few days previous. Therefore if he had been in physical condition to get about he would [even despite habit] have carried his cane in his left hand to take the weight off the injured leg. Barstow's one mistake was in carrying the cane in his right hand.

HE WOULD PRY BEHIND THE SCENES OFT SEES A COUNTERFEIT. —Dryden.
